CAUGHT RED HANDED

Together, at Tell City High School, we manage to become whole. We test each other and meet the challenge. Having a strong bond between each and every student, teacher, and staff member we stand as one. Our pride pulls us through during our hardships and inconveniences, we are the Marksmen.

Holding true to the theme, we have asked to be caught in our academic and athletic achievements. When at times we have to cope because we struggle, you will still fail to find us hiding because we are not ashamed or discouraged. We are strong and loyal, and we will survive.

The 2008 yearbook we present is not just another book representing our school. It is a mystery waiting to be discovered, a diamond in the rough, if you will. With clues in pictures and captions, our stories will come together to solve buried mysteries. Portraying moments with photography the yearbook staff does their best to be sneaky and hidden, so they are able to obtain the most realistic memories available. Capturing scenes from school dances, sports, and academics makes it possible to relive emotions felt throughout the year. The students here at Tell City High School have been under investigation, and due to devious conditions they have all been CAUGHT RED HANDED!

Stopping at their lockers in between classes are seniors Jason Sprinkle and Katie Wheatley. Senior hall is located near the auditorium and library.

Showing Marksmen pride, seniors support the school by decorating a used car. All classes participated in a competition for the Fall Extravaganza.

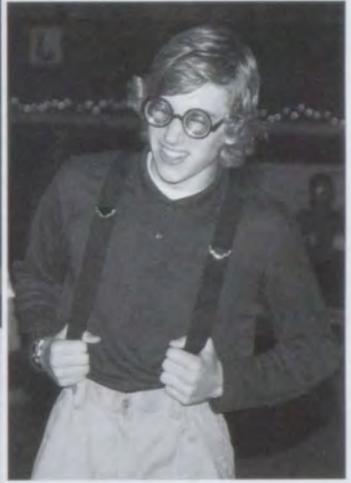

Students at Tell City High School voted on a new teacher to do something unexpected at the Fall Extravaganza. It was no competition for Mr. Weyer.

Making a vow to graduate high school by placing a wet, painted hand on a sheet is senior Logan McManaway. Renaissance wanted seniors to keep in mind their goal for this year.

Acting nerdy isn't difficult for sophomore Nick Bower. He made the job look too easy at the Academic Pep Rally where the theme was Nerd Invasion.

Encouraging the Tell City football team, seniors painted themselves in red and white paint with specific football player's numbers to represent each player on the team. A lot of spirit was produced this year during football and many other athletics.

Standing at the side lines, Marksmen cheerleaders wait patiently to show the pride they have for the teams at Tell City High School.

Academic Ambush

At top, junior Anita Van Munster is concentrating on her Pre-Calculus homework. At middle, working on her Renaissance project is senior Marianne Krueger. At bottom, senior Alisha Patton is flipping her pancakes in foods.

When you think of high school, you think of the games you watched or the parties you attended. Most of the time you do not think about the academic aspect of high school. In actuality when everything is said and done, high school is what really prepares you for the real world. You acquire the skills you need through the classes you take whether it is an elective like foods or a required class like speech.

Almost 18% of the senior class are striving for the Academic Honors Diploma. Nearly 35% are going for the Core 40 Diploma. The remaining seniors are receiving a General Diploma. No matter what path they choose to take, they will be CAUGHT RED-HANDED doing their best.

Sophomore Patrick Hagedorn is receiving an award at the Academic Pep Rally from senior Natalie Cole. The medal was for being on Student Council.

International Spies

"I enjoy learning how to speak new words and phrases the most. Whenever I learn a new word I try to use it in different sentences."

Mariah Alvey

She Said

He Said

"My favorite thing to do in Spanish class is to translate and to speak it."

Michael Maddle

When asked about the competitions between the French and Spanish clubs, "They are a lot of fun. I really enjoy playing in the soccer game each year. The two clubs are very competitive."

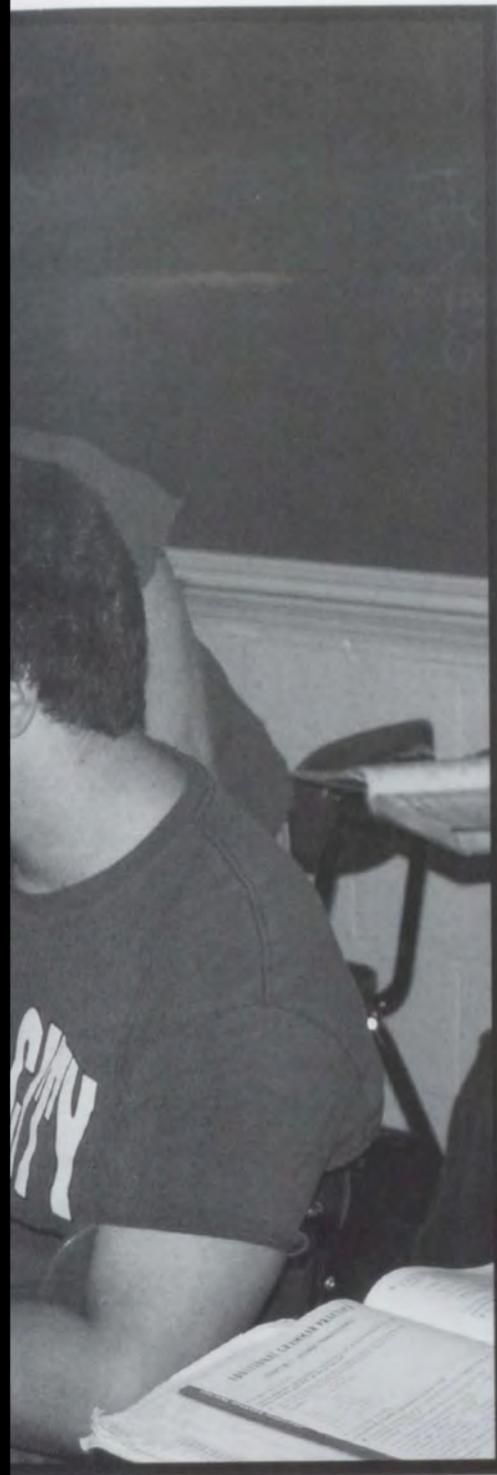

Lauren Goffinet

Working on her assignment in Spanish I is freshman Cassidy Barnhill.

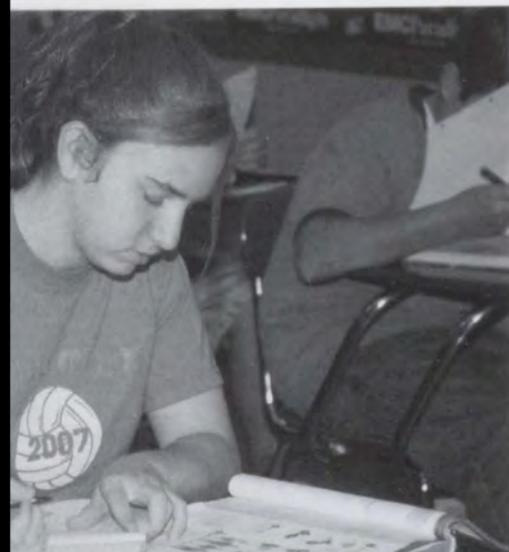

Mrs. Sanders helps freshman Andrew Utley with his assignment. He is in Mrs. Sanders 2nd period French I class.

"Quote Me"

"It is challenging and is graded only on tests and quizzes much like most college courses," says senior Aaron Malone when asked if pre-calculus prepares him for college.

Major Aishe, sophomore, stated, "I really like biology so if possible I want to be a type of Biologist, or maybe a biology teacher."

When questioned if he was interested in a career pertaining to math, junior Neal Goffinet answered, "I'm planning on pursuing a career in chemistry which is very math oriented."

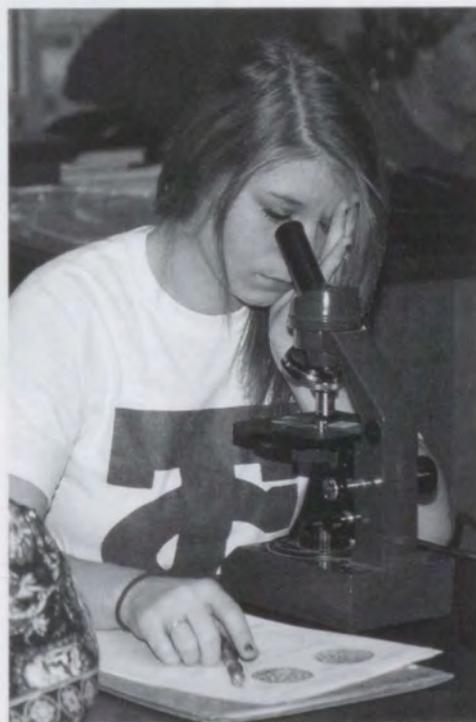

Nick Bower, sophomore, is trying to light the Bunsen Burner. This was the first experiment of the year that the Bunsen Burner was used.

Junior Lauren Goffinet is recording her observations of the lab. The chemistry classes were observing chemical and physical reactions.

Jennifer Tate, sophomore, is taking notes as Mr. Lyons is teaching. This is Mr. Lyons' 2nd period geometry class.

Cracking the Code

Freshman Zach Wilson uses the computer to complete a worksheet in Mr. Hitz's second period English class.

Seniors Brandon Leibering and Alex Daugherty listen intently to Mr. Lacy in their 2nd period U.S. Government class.

When asked what inspired him to come back to Tell City High School to teach, Mr. Hitz had this to say, "As a teacher here at Tell City in the late 90's, I enjoyed the community, the school and its tradition." Mr. Hitz wanted to get back to teaching kids, helping them realize that there are bright futures in this world. He wants his students to believe that each person's goal is attainable when they put their mind to it. Mr. Hitz teaches English here at Tell City High School. He believes that English is all encompassing as it travels and moves through many dimensions. When asked why he chose to teach English, he stated, "I love to teach English as I can incorporate all disciplines from art, science, geography, math, social studies, and physical education into my subject."

Mrs. Kehl listens in on class discussion over the Revolutionary War in her U.S. History class. Mrs. Kehl also teaches World History and A.P. U.S. History.

Agents in Training

Bekah Shinault, sophomore, shoots for a basket during her PE class. She is being assisted by senior Cody Braun.

A Thousand Words

"Quote Me"

Dimitri Hemmings

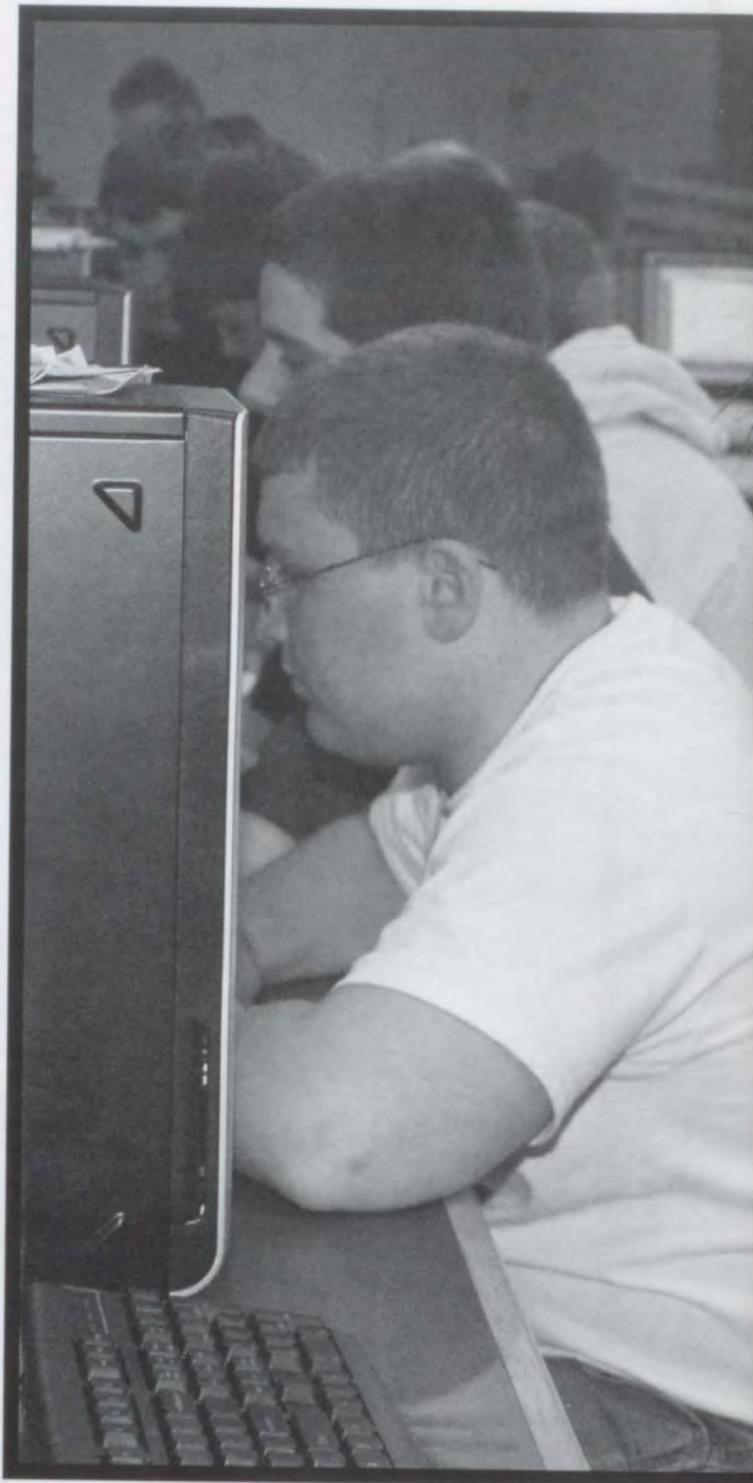

"I would like a career that involves art, like cartoon drawing," said senior Dimitri Hemmings about pursuing a career in the arts.

Mrs. Goodrich

When asked if art had always been a part of her life Mrs. Goodrich said, "Ever since I was old enough to hold a crayon!"

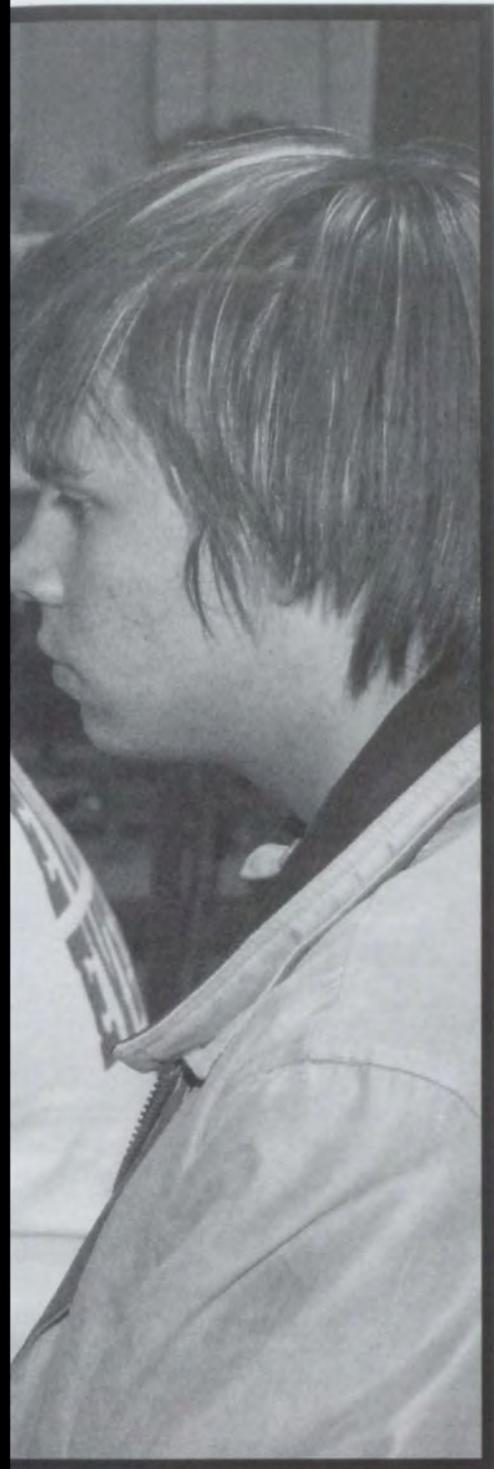

Kyle Jarboe

When asked why he decided to take art senior Kyle Jarboe said, "I took this class to further advance my skills in the art field."

Working hard on their art projects are seniors Dalton Sweeney and Chase Dupont. Chase seems to have a lot of talent in art.

Staring in satisfaction at her drawing of a panda is junior Britney Hendershot. You can tell she worked very hard on that picture.

Lending her expertise is Mrs. Goodrich as she is checking over a student's sketch book. Mrs. Goodrich is always willing to help any of her students.

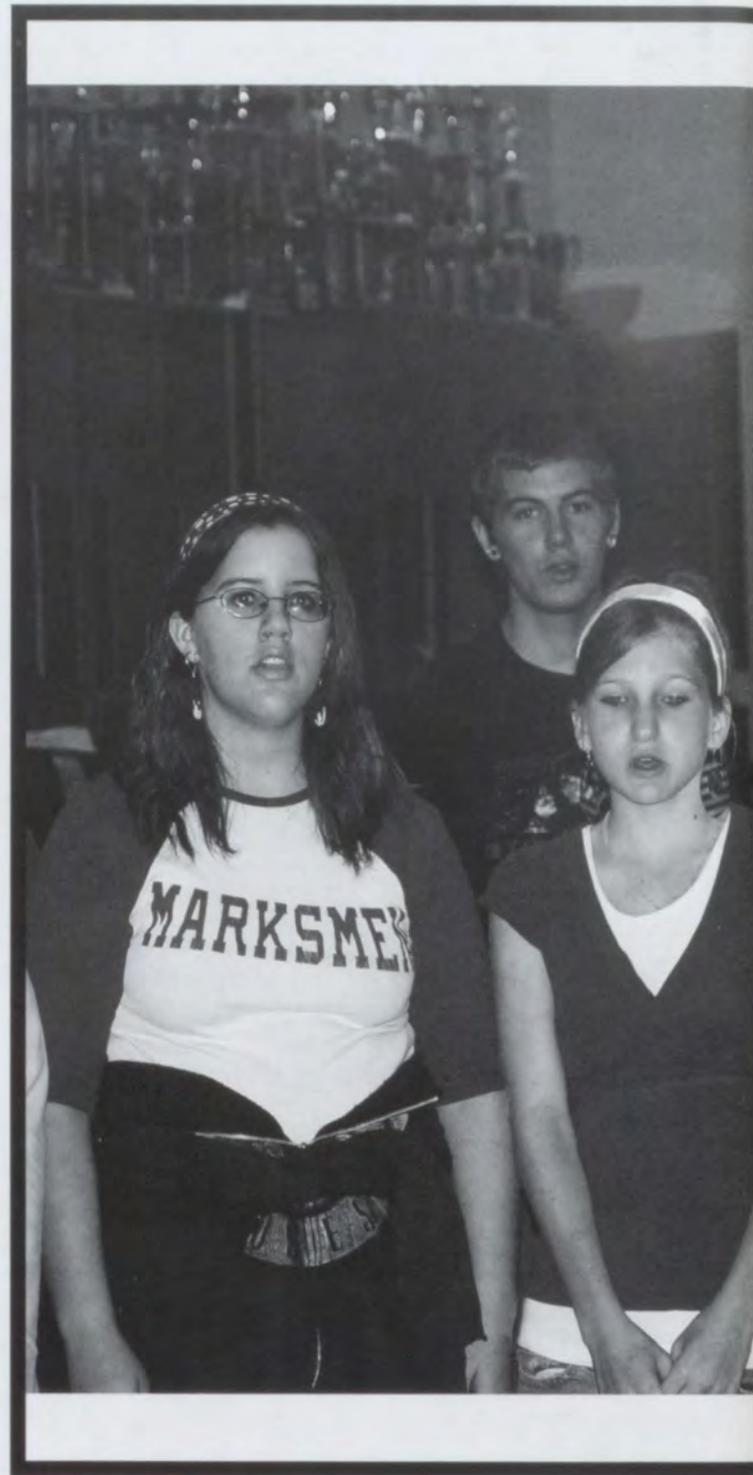

Hidden Notes

"We all agree that Mr. Reasoner is an inspiration to us to do our best and work hard to achieve our goals."

Guitar & Chorus class

In the back row in his first year of chorus is sophomore Danny Greathouse, and in the front row singing are freshmen Nakaa Kieser, Jacqueline Bolin, and Kareasa Schaad.

Risky Business

When senior Casi Hay was asked what her most memorable moment was in Mr. Hayes' class, she responded with, "My most memorable moment so far has been Katie Clemens' brownies."

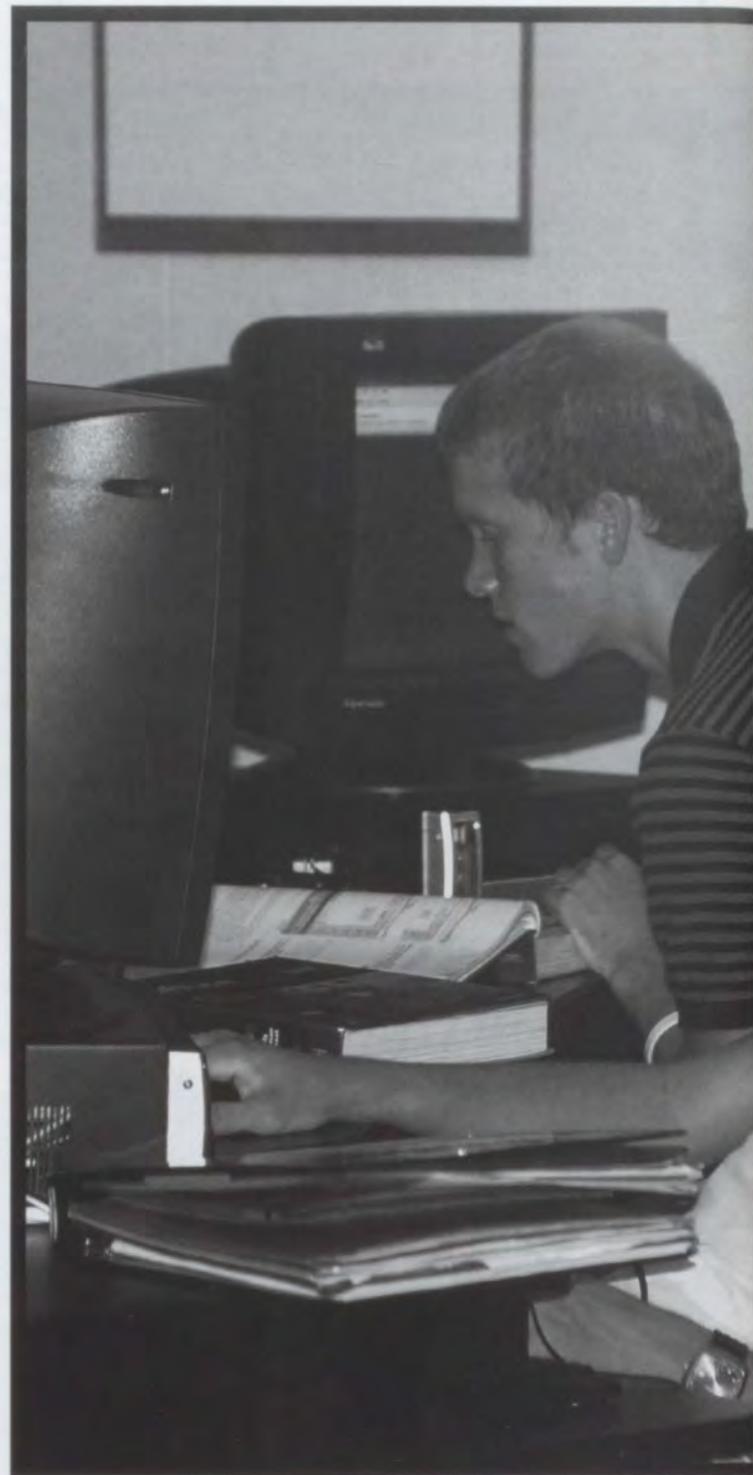

She Said

He Said

When junior Drew Fortwendel was asked what he thinks of his class with Mr. Hayes he replied, "I think Mr. Hayes' class is the bomb because every now and then we get free days."

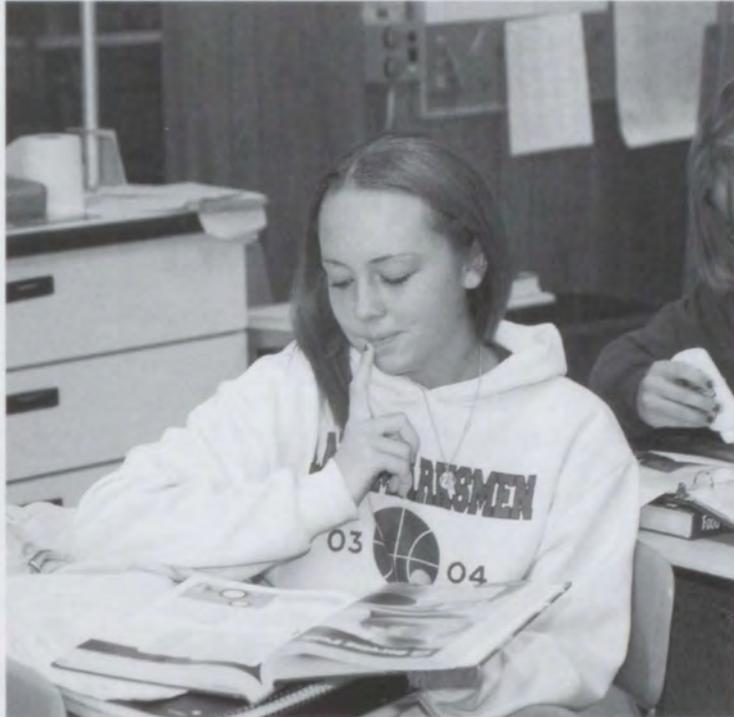

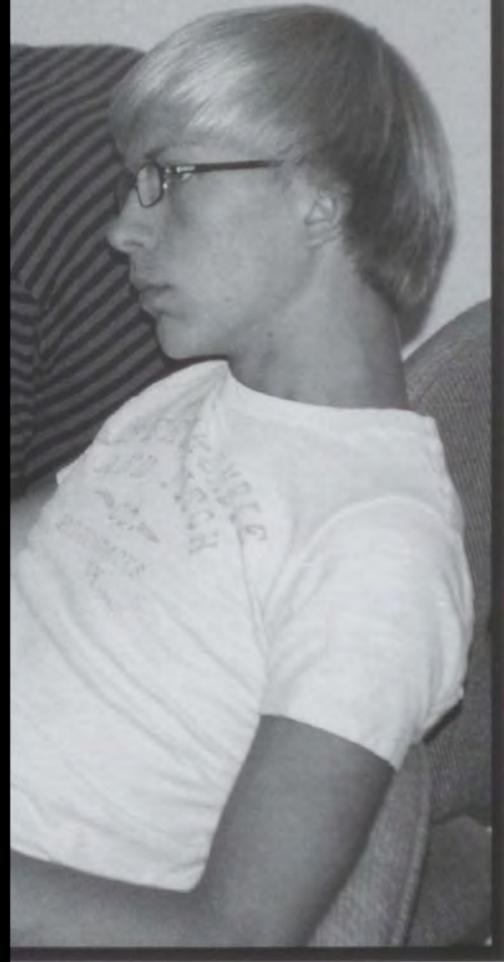

"I really like taking foods because I wanted to learn how to actually cook food that did not come from a box."

Alisha Patton

Preparing to eat some homemade pancakes that were made during a class orientation on how to properly make pancakes are seniors Alisha Patton and Brittney Harlen.

Working on a project in Mrs. Krieg's second period business class are seniors Bryson May and Jason Sprinkle.

Thinking hard before she answers a question in Mrs. Glenn's second period consumer science class is senior Stephanie Wrye.

Cracking a smile at one of Mrs. Glenn's jokes in her second period consumer science class is senior Kira Lutgring.

Vocational:
Heating & Air - Building Trades
Building a Mystery

"Quote Me"

Kyle Lasher, senior

"My favorite part of heating and air is getting to learn about things I never knew about in this field of work."

Steven Irwin, junior

When asked if there was good teamwork while working on the project, Steven replied, "Everyone works well together and we all get along."

Isaac Schaefer, senior

Isaac Schaefer was asked why he decided to take building trades. He responded, "Because I want to be a construction worker."

Leveling out the ground is junior Nathan Bolin. Driving the bob cat is the class's favorite activity. It is the first thing any of the students want to do.

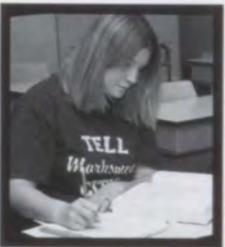

Making sparks fly is senior Kyle Cravens. Kyle could not wait to show his expertise in the heating and air vocational class.

Painting the side of the building trades house is junior Victor Schutzius. He shows his commitment by taking his time to make it just right.

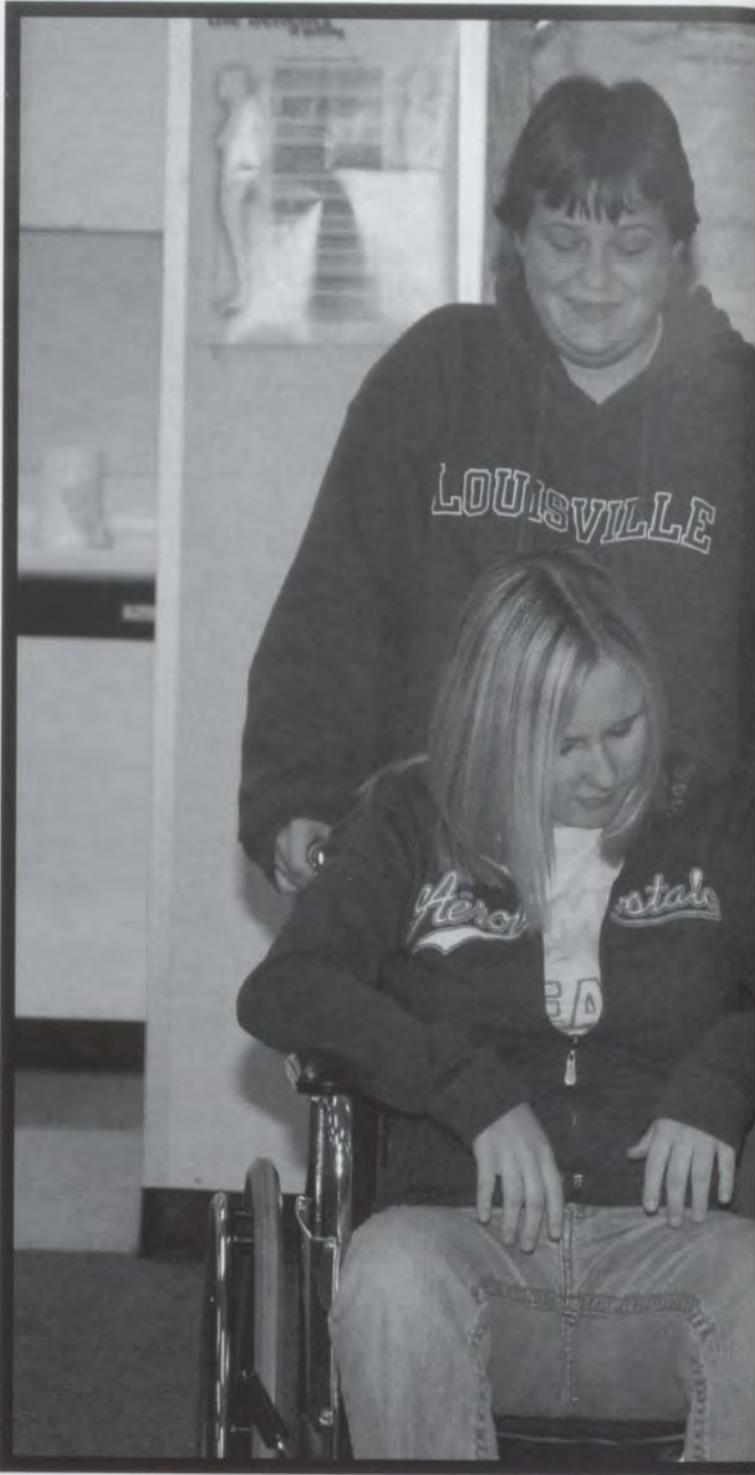

Vocational:
 H.O.S.A. - Auto Mechanics
Building a Mystery

profile Jay Kleeman

Being the only guy in an all girls nursing class is senior Jay Kleeman. Not many guys have committed to being a part of H.O.S.A. since it has started. Jay was asked what he liked about being the only guy in the class, he responded, "It's exciting! I like being the minority in the class-it's a challenge. Plus, I'm surrounded by the ladies, who wouldn't love it."

"What inspired me the most was seeing how much good I could do for all the ill people." Beyonka replied when asked what inspired her to take H.O.S.A.

Beyonka Galloway

Staying close by in case of needed help is junior Ethan Shinault. Perry Central students also attend Tell City High School for the vocational classes that are available.

H.O.S.A requires cooperative role play for students to get as much from the class as they can. It helps them learn how to react and what to do in situations that may come up in their future. Senior Kari Dauby had to act as if she had a disability while junior Beyonka Galloway was assisting her.

Helping junior Linda Koonce, Mr. Goffinet tries to explain the answer to the question she had. The Auto-Mechanics class has book work as well as hands on activities.

An important task to any nurse when they have a patient is weighing them first. Senior Brooke Gunterman demonstrates how it works with junior Beyonka Galloway.

Getting What We Deserve

The Renaissance Leadership Class meets every day during fourth period. There are 24 students in the class. Renaissance does their best to make Tell City High School a better place for students, staff, and the community. The class gives a voice to the students on what should be happening in our school.

Renaissance organizes many activities around the school for the students and staff members. The class sponsors Red, White, and Silver cards, Donut Wednesday, organizes the Academic Pep Rally every year, and gives the Raise the Lid Award. The class also recognizes the Stretch Award Winners and Students of the Month.

When asked why she decided to teach the Renaissance class, Mrs. Kehl stated, "We decided it was a necessary addition for the success of our overall Renaissance program. The class gives students a chance to really make a difference in the school."

"Renaissance has taught me essential leadership skills."

Joey Woznicki

Renaissance class members senior Sean Risse and juniors Kourtney Kast and Lindsey Noble work on their joint committee project, Subtracting J. Subtracting J prepares junior high students for high school.

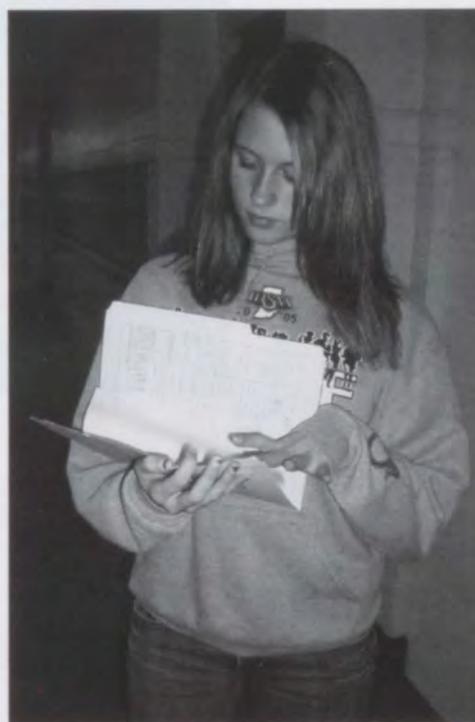

Sophomore Nick Bower and junior Neal Goffinet are reviewing their work on the Century Club Banner. The banner contains names of various businesses that have supported the Renaissance program.

Junior class members, Kari Gladish and Brittney Backer look through old Tell City High School scrapbooks for the junior hall cabinets. Selected members of the class decorated the cabinets. The theme for the cabinets this year was decades.

Getting What We Deserve

ATTACK OF THE NERDS!

On October 12, 2007 the traditional academic pep rally was held. As students were walking to the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena you could hear the band playing popular song, "Woman", sung by Evan Marcum. It just would not be nerdy if they had not played any Jimmy Buffet song by Mr. Whitaker. Mr. Lacy and Mr. Sommers did a terrific job getting the students pepped up, (I'm sure their outfits helped). Most pep rallies are held for sports, but not this one. No, at the academic pep rally students are recognized for their hard work in and out of the classroom.

Many students received recognition for meeting their reading goals and high test scores on the PSAT and SAT. Some of the other recognitions were the students in the National Guard, boy/girl scouts, and the individual band achievements. When the students were asked what they thought of this year's theme juniors Ashley Edwards & Trevor Nelson replied saying, "it was different, but it was fun to do."

The students really enjoyed the skits this year. One of the most loved skits was Mr. Lyon's dance routine, while others were amazed by the audio visual used for the opening act. This year's pep rally was interviewed by Fox7 News, so this really is a good program that the school will continue and the students love it.

Above we see juniors Lacey McManaway & Britney Hendershot sitting with anticipation for the academic pep rally to begin.

Being true to the song with no false advertisement, Alfred (Mr. Lyons) moves and groves to White and Nerdy. Also with his outrageous dance he tries brightening the crowd with his light saber.

Above we see senior Dimitri Hemmings, standing out in the crowd in his original Nerds candy outfit.

2007-2008 school year included 138 seniors, 117 juniors, 136 sophomores, and 141 freshman. This year the freshman had more students than the other grades.

Our students are always there for each team and they are always at the games. When there are dress up games and days everybody gets involved. Each team cheers for another team and helps support them.

Everybody that is on a team knows that teammates are very close to each other as they are with them everyday of the week feeling like brothers and sisters.

Seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshman, and staff get ready for your mug shot, because you just got ...Caught Red Handed!!

Mysterious Events

TCHS has your average everyday sports, but not your average spirit. This year's sporting event turnouts have been amazing. As the years go by students have become more and more enthusiastic about their school. Seeing the look not only on the students' faces, but also the coaches after a win is priceless.

While our teams may not always win every game, dampening the Marksmen spirit simply does not happen. A defeat seems to cause a chain reaction. Players and coaches practice more, then go into the next game or match with the attitude that victory is the most important ending.

So what if we are not the best? We have what counts the most. The support of friends, family, teachers, and coaches. To put it simply, we support our school, our community, and the people involved.

Dylan Kleemann blocks out a single leg take down during his first match against Boonville.

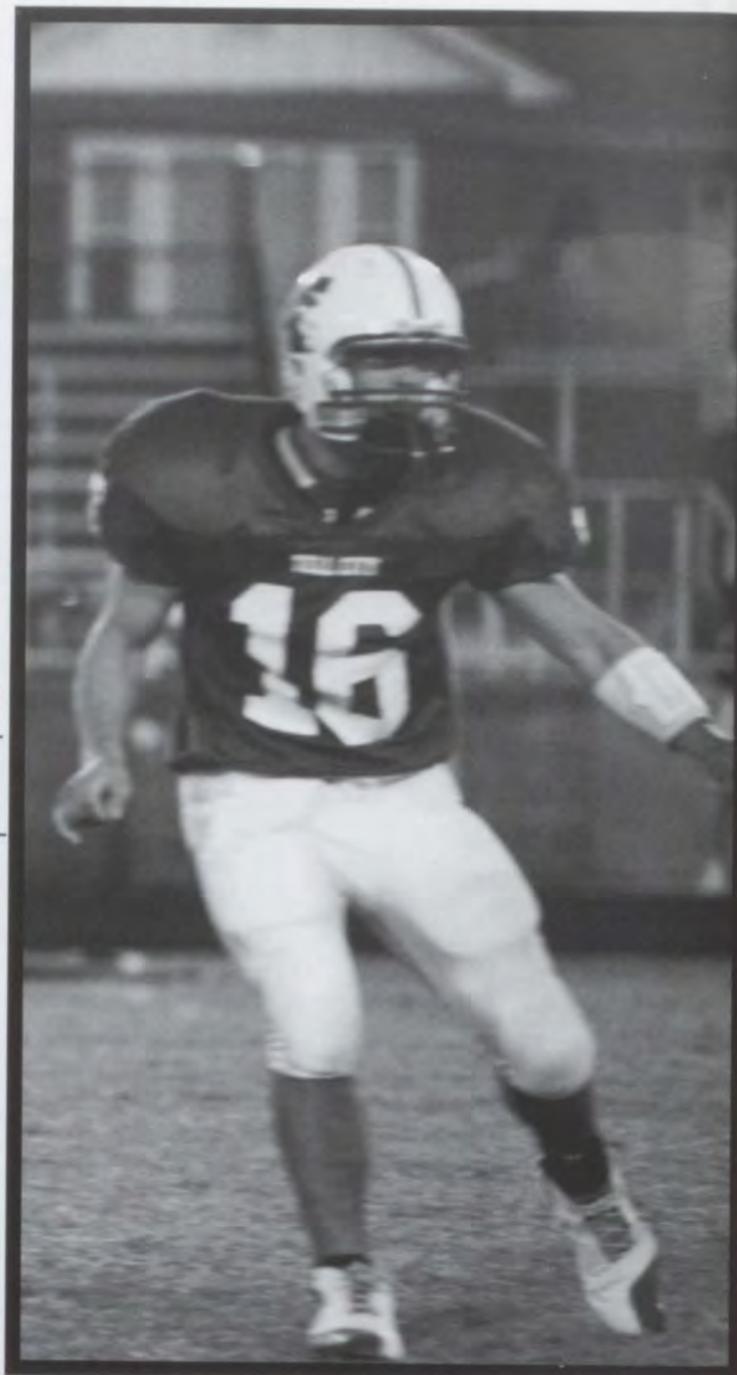

The Marksmen had a commendable season this year ending with a record of 6-5. The best game was their first round of sectional against Sullivan. The Marksmen defeated Sullivan 60-22. Quarterback, Tyler Henning said his most memorable moment was that game this year. The Marksmen had their fair share of up and downs with illnesses and injuries. Coach Don Hitz was asked if he thought the players worked well together. He said, "Absolutely, our team mantra was 'together' these kids showed up on Saturday's together, ate meals together, spent weekends together, and played together." The Marksmen really showed they were close to each other. When a game was lost, they all felt the pain together. When they won, they rejoiced together. The Marksmen demonstrated teamwork and commitment produced the desired results of a successful team. Coach Don Hitz was also asked if he thought that the team put forth the most effort they could, and he said, "In football every game is a fight. Our players came out to win. Ballroom dancing is a contact sport, in football it is a collision sport. Our players showed that." The football team really worked hard every game. They wore their hearts on their sleeves, and took win or defeat together. The Marksmen really did have a great season not just on the field but off the field as well.

Making a Run For It

Tyler Henning, senior, listens as Coach Elliot tells him a new play. Tyler always plays his hardest at every game.

OPERATION ROYALTY

On Friday, September 28th football homecoming royalty were crowned at Legion Field. The Marksmen posted a great win against the North Posey Vikings. Before the game Tell City had their annual football homecoming court presentation. Holding the King's crown was Jackson Ramsey, and holding the Queen's crown was Grace Kreilein. Freshman candidates were J.D. Bryant and Sarah Drake; sophomores were Cody Nash and Amber Schaad, and juniors were represented by Tyler Albin and Emily Dauby. After the announcement of the underclassmen candidates, the main event of the night was ready to take place. It was time for the presentation of the Senior class of '08 candidates. After the announcement of the senior candidates, the crowning was about to happen. After a moment of anticipation our king, Tyler Henning, was announced and then a moment later our queen, Marianne Krueger, was named. Other senior candidates were Alisha Patton and Alex Daugherty; Katie Wheatley and Brandon Leiberling; and Cody Pfeifer and Kara McClintic.

The Lady Marksmen volleyball team had a spectacular season this year. This season the team broke the school record for the most wins finishing 25-8. All of the players worked very well together. "I felt that our team chemistry was one of our strengths. They all got along and played very well together. When you have the great senior leadership and the discipline that we had, you can't go wrong," said Coach Hayes. Another big accomplishment the team made was winning all three of the tournaments in which they competed. When asked what makes her perform well, senior Dana Sibrel replied, "A big crowd makes me perform well. Also knowing that the crowd is there to cheer and support us. The crowd was great at sectional." In addition to all of the accomplishments that the team made as a whole, many individual accomplishments were made as well. Kara McClintic and Dana Sibrel made the All-PAC team this year and Stephani Wrye received honorable mention. Kara also broke the school record for the most digs. In her second year of coaching, Coach Dalonda Hayes helped the girls reach their potential. "Coach Hayes always pumps us up, even if we're down. She cares a lot about the team and works us to our potential," said senior Kara McClintic.

The boys cross country team had a great season this year. Coach Chris Hollinden said, " Our season was a success overall. Although we fell short of our team's major goal of reaching the state finals, we managed two impressive feats in the process. First, we set our school's record for the most wins in a season with 165. We also set our school's record for the lowest composite time at Sectional with a Top 5 average of 17:05."

Although they set two school records, they did have to deal with some obstacles. The team had some runners suffer from injuries and they also struggled to find a single person for the fifth spot. They had five different athletes competing for the fifth spot all season. Coach Hollinden commented, " The seniors did a fine job of getting everybody on the same page."

The number one runner this year was Alex Fenn, junior, who qualified for the state meet by placing eighth at Semi-state with a time of 16:07.7. He was the only one to advance to state this year. He finished 53rd in the state.

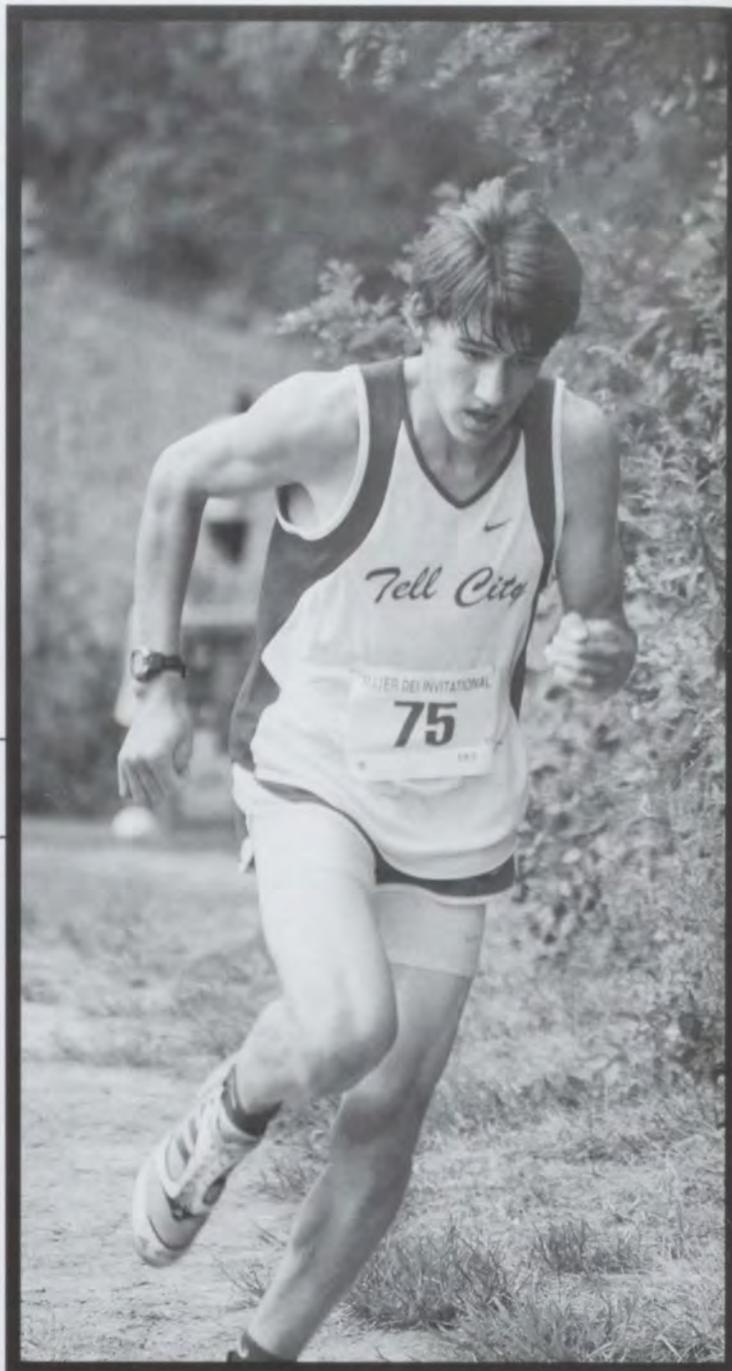

Senior Jason Sprinkle said, "As a team we did not make it to state this year but we still had a really great season." Though the team this year was hoping to go to state, they finished their season with a school record of 165-32.

A decent year for Tell City High School's Girls Cross Country team as they pulled off a season record of 75-51. When asked a few questions about the sport here is how coach Katie Chinn responded.

When asked "Do you think that the team put forth their best effort?" She responded with "Yes, it was awesome to see the older girls helping out the freshmen so much. We had six freshmen on this year's team, add to them Natalie Cole running for the first time, and over half of our team had never raced a high school cross country meet before."

"Do you feel that your runners worked well together?" Coach Chinn replied "They worked extremely well together. Cross Country is a sport where if you don't work well together you will not accomplish anything. our seniors did an awesome job of showing the young girls how things work."

Coach Chinn also noted that "This was the first year for the Lincoln Trail meet to be ran again. It was a meet that used to be a huge part of Southern Indiana cross country and we are hoping to bring it back."

The girls golf team had a very tough season. The weather was unbearably hot. Coach Jim Meek stated, "The heat made serious practice almost impossible." The girls were also involved in many other conflicting activities that caused practice to be even more complicated. The team had no seniors and only three returning players. There were a total of five people on the team, and everyone worked well together. The Lady Marksmen may not have won one golf match, but the girls had tons of fun together.

The Lady Marksmen had three team members participate in the PAC and Sectional. A team has to have four people to qualify as a team. Individually, the girls did extremely well. The Lady Marksmen did not have anyone on the team place, but all the girls who participated really enjoyed themselves.

Throughout the whole season everyone improved. Amber Thomas, Kelly Hess, and Megan Neyenhaus all returned and improved their averages from last year. C.J. Fentress and Britney Hendershot lowered their scores from the beginning to the end of the season. Megan Neyenhaus received Most Improved Player for the season, and Amber Thomas received the Low Average award and the Going Low award for the season.

The boys' tennis team had a better season this year. They had a winning record after posting no wins last season due to injuries and rain out matches. Finishing the season with a 6-5 record, the Marksmen went 4-4 in the PAC. "The players were well prepared, even though we had a low number of returning players," stated Coach Kreilein. This helped the Marksmen build their teamwork and leadership abilities. Three freshmen experienced varsity play this year. The team pulled through and put forth their best effort. "I believe our team meshed well together," said senior Sean Risse. Due to great senior leadership the team members have developed a love and respect for the game, according to Coach Kreilein. As the season progressed, the players began to develop more knowledge on the courts. Coach Kreilein always pushed for the best but was never disappointed with his team's best efforts.

HAVOC IN THE STREETS

On the night of Wednesday, September 12th the traditional Fall Sports Extravaganza occurred. The parade started at 7 o'clock at Carriage Inn and concluded at Legion Field where the Pep Rally was held. First, the band played the National Anthem as the Honor Guard presented our flags. There were four people in our senior class that have joined the army during their high school days that were members of the honor guard. Then, Mr. Hayes introduced all of the fall sports teams and their coaches. When the coaches finished introducing their teams, Mr. Hayes announced who won the best float in the parade...Do you remember who won? The Girls Volleyball Team won the best float! The best yard decoration was announced next. Fourth place- freshman; Third place- juniors; Second place- seniors; and First place- sophomores. The Senior class was very disappointed that they did not get first. Later on in the evening the cheerleaders had two new members, Mr. Sommer and Mr. Weyer. They had to dress out in uniform for the rest of the night and help cheer. They were the two teachers that the entire school picked to do something silly at the pep rally. However, it looked like they had cheered before!

Various

The most memorable event at the Pep Rally from senior, Sean Risse was "our coaches could not make it so I had to introduce my team and it was a little nerve-wracking."

Viewpoints

The Boys Cross Country Team was recognized at the Pep Rally. The boys also had a float in the parade, and they received second place.

Our basketball team had a tremendous season this year. They went in with their minds set to be victorious. You could definitely say that they accomplished that, especially since they ended with a record of 16-7 which was the best record since the 1978-1979 season. The team also conquered winning the PSC Holiday Classic.

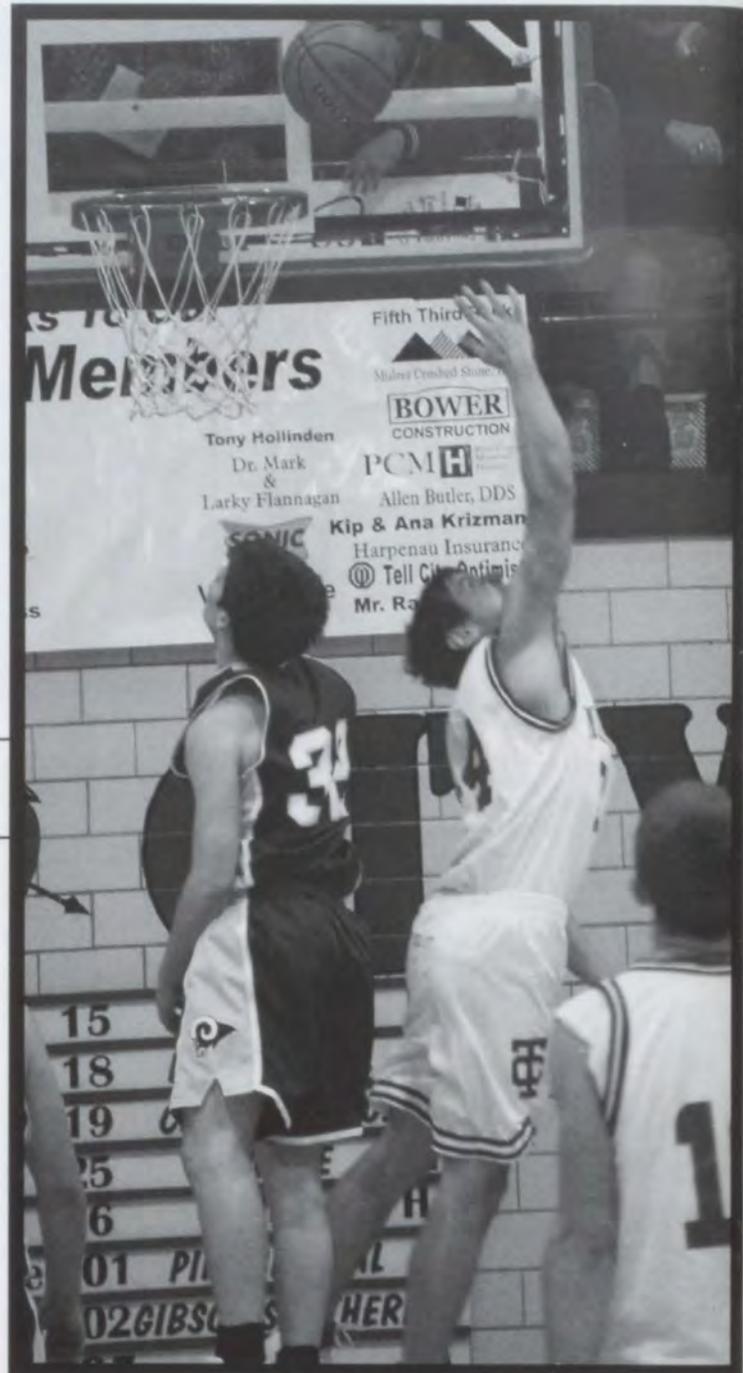

The team played well together and showed their real passion for the sport on the court. One possible reason for their amazing teamwork could be their group of seniors. Head Coach John Hayes said, "We have a great group of seniors who were leaders on and off the court. They showed that having senior leadership can make all the difference." Senior Ryan Zuelly was asked what he enjoyed most about basketball. He replied, "Playing in Bryan Taylor Sports Arena in front of our crazy fans and playing with my friends are all things I will miss." One person that helped our team out this year who was not a senior was junior Andy Chinn. We asked Andy what his most memorable moment was and he said, "Beating Perry Central." That game was one win where the boys felt domination. There is nothing better than beating your rival. All in all our boys had a strong season in their fans' eyes and next year they plan on doing it all over again.

Foul Play

Getting in the zone is senior Eric Hendrickson. Eric is about to go for a steal for the Marksmen. Eric was noted for his excellent job on defense.

COURT DATE

On Saturday, January 26 2008, Tell City High School held its annual basketball homecoming ceremony in the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena. The ceremony was held between the junior varsity and varsity games against Paoli.

Sophomore student council members, Patrick Hagedorn and Mariah Nix announced the underclassmen attendants along with the king and queen candidates.

The freshmen attendants were Katie Elder and Jarrod Clayton. Kyli Smithson and Tyler Jennings represented the sophomore class. Junior attendants were Kari Gladish and Jamal Noland. The queen candidates were Natalie Cole, Katie Wheatley, Alisha Patton, and Casi Hay. King candidates were Eric Henrickson, Dimitri Hemmings, Kyle Jarboe, and Tommy McCallister.

The gym was filled with excitement and anticipation as the crowd waited to find out who would be crowned our 2008 Homecoming king and queen. Voting by secret ballot, the student body chose Dimitri Hemmings as their king and Casi Hay as their queen. After taking the crown and tiara from William Tell Elementary students, first grader Spencer Fest and second grader Rachel Malone, Student Council President Marianne Krueger crowned the king and Dimitri crowned the queen, presenting her with a dozen roses.

Natalie Cole and Eric Henrickson were chosen to represent the senior class as king and queen candidates.

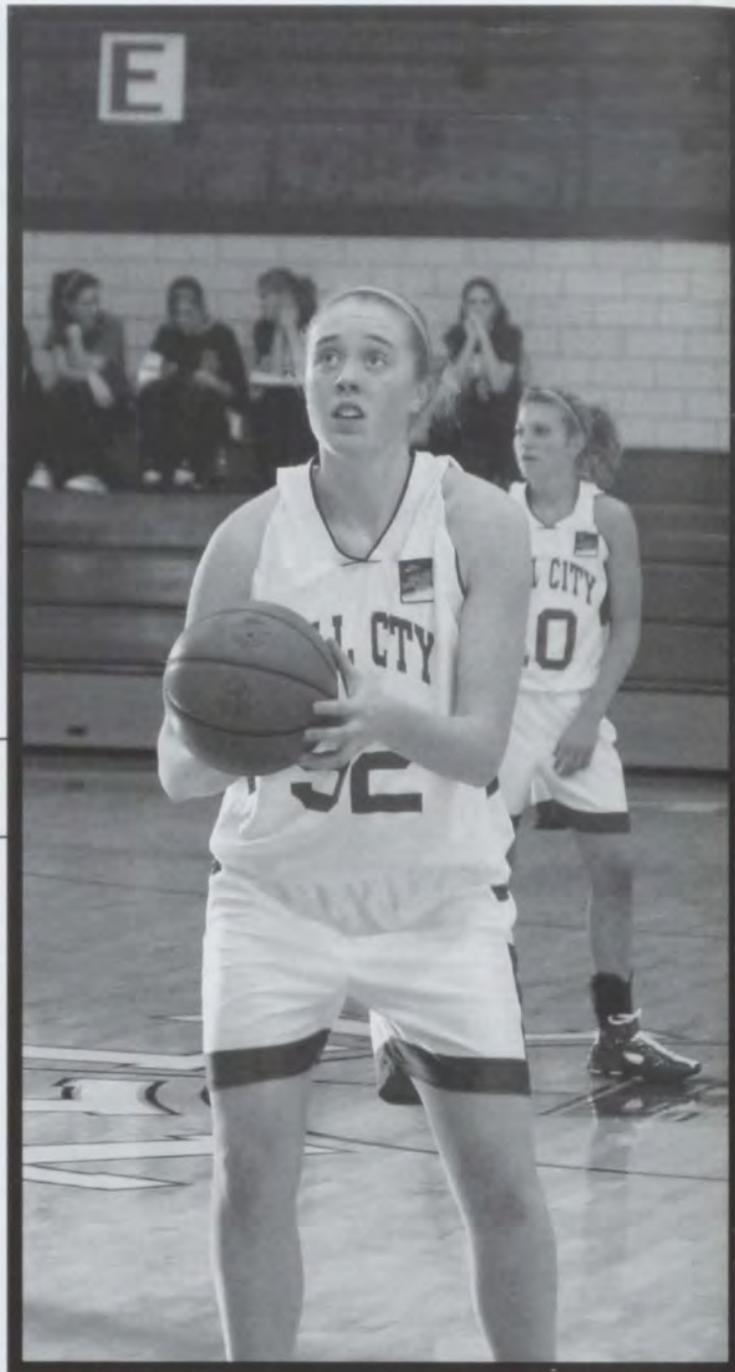

The Lady Marksmen had a record setting season of 17-8. Senior Dana Sibrel said, "Some challenges were when Kara sat out with her broken hand and Lacey tore her ACL." Coach Lyons said, "We played together as a team." The hard work put in by the coaches helped the team succeed. Senior Kara McClintic said, "Coach Lyons has always pushed me harder than I thought I could go, which made me a better player." Together the Lady Marksmen achieved their goal of winning sectional. Senior Marianne Krueger said, "I think when my team works together for a common goal, we work our hardest. The crowd is definitely a morale booster." Winning sectional was one major accomplishment this year. They finished second in the PAC conference with junior Lauren Goffinet and senior Kara McClintic making all conference. Dana Sibrel made honorable mention. They lost in the regional against Austin.

The smell of chlorine every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning was an inevitable fact of life for the boys swim team. The boys team put in a lot of hard work this year. They placed fourth in conference and fifth at sectional this year.

The boys only had one individual conference winner this year. Zach Avallone won PAC in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 23.77. Zach's most memorable moment was of course winning the PAC.

"It takes real skill to be good at swimming," commented freshmen Greg Clayton. With mechanics, endurance, focus, determination, and tolerance for pain, these boys were willing to put up with all of it for the love of the sport.

When asked how he felt about the boys' season, Coach Mike Page said that he was "very proud. We had very little depth and experience heading into the season. Through hard work and preparation the boys improved tremendously throughout the season."

The boys finished their season with a record of 7-6. The Marksmen will be saying goodbye to Bryson May, Isaac Schaefer, and Zach Avallone.

Even though wrestling is considered a team sport, players can only win by their individual acts. When a wrestler steps on the mat, it is just him and his opponent. Knowing he has the support of the crowd and his teammates is what helps him gain the extra drive to want to win.

Due to injuries and dismissals of other players the freshmen had to step up. Coach Joe Litherland had this to say about all the unpredictable obstacles, "Despite all the adjustments they worked really well together." Dylan Froehlich said that his favorite thing about wrestling was, "I like the fact that it is more of a one on one sport."

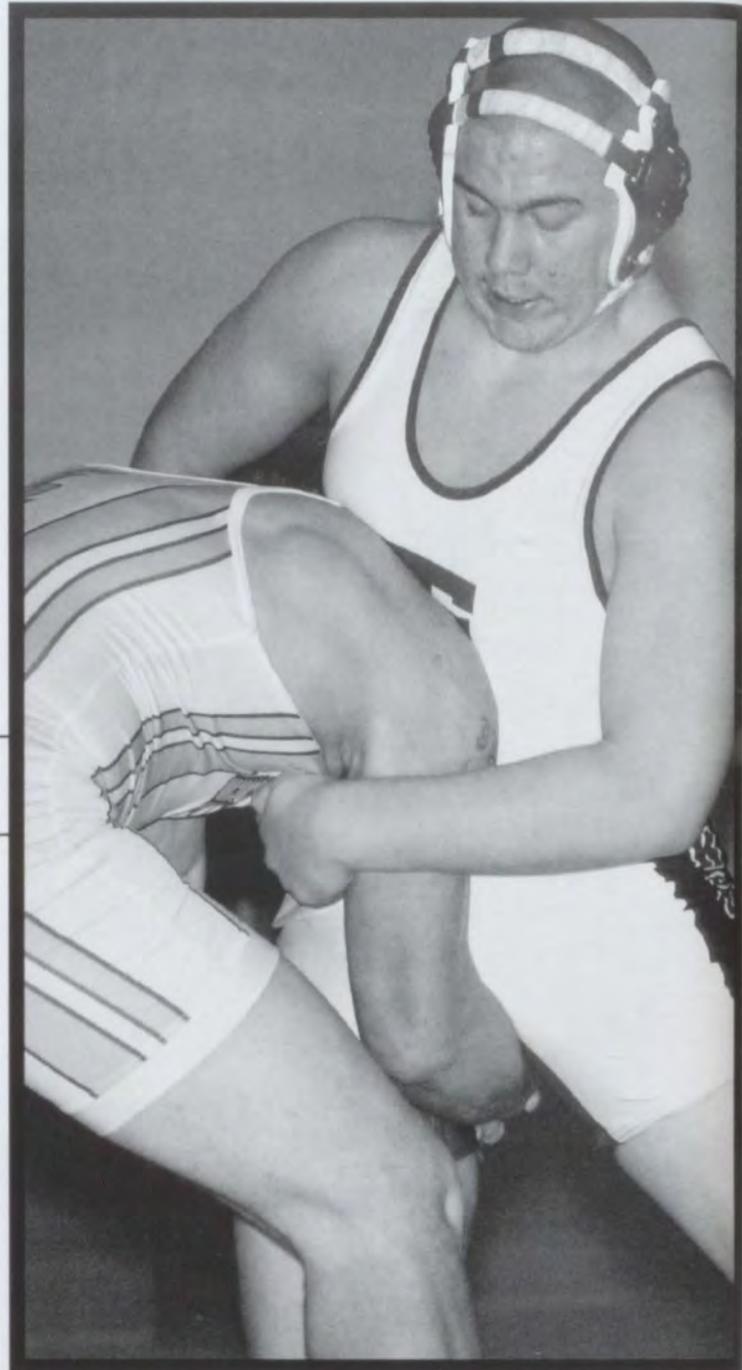

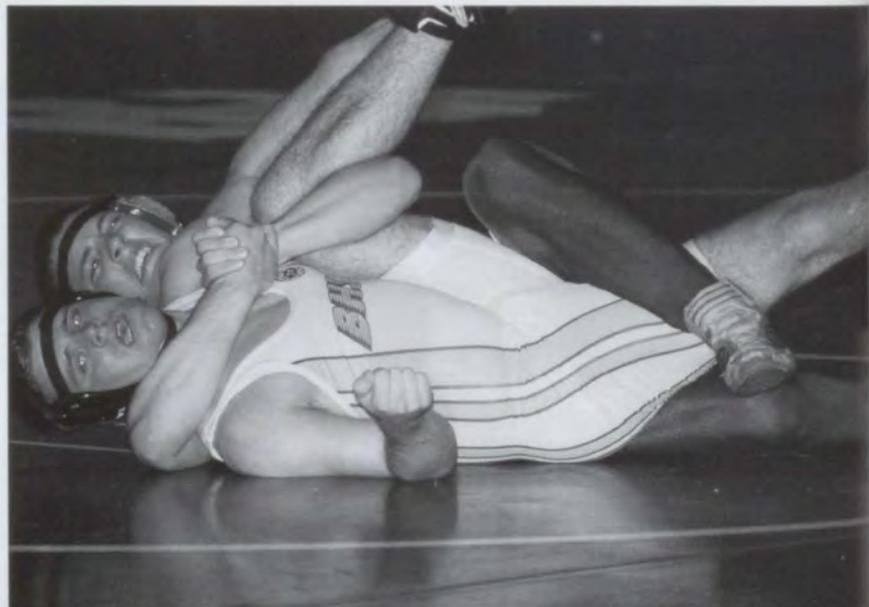

This year we are saying goodbye to four senior wrestlers. They are Greg Batie, Skylar Freeman, Keith Patrick, and Joey Woznicki.

"How you practice is how you wrestle." This quote is a very famous motto the wrestlers heard from Coach Joe Litherland each and everyday.

The rainy weather served as a huge obstacle for the golf team. It was difficult for the team to find time to practice outside. The course was often too wet for practice. Despite the bad weather, the team had a good season. When asked what his goals for the season were Coach Jim Meek stated, "I would like to see us win over half of our matches and achieve a team low score of 165 at some point during the year."

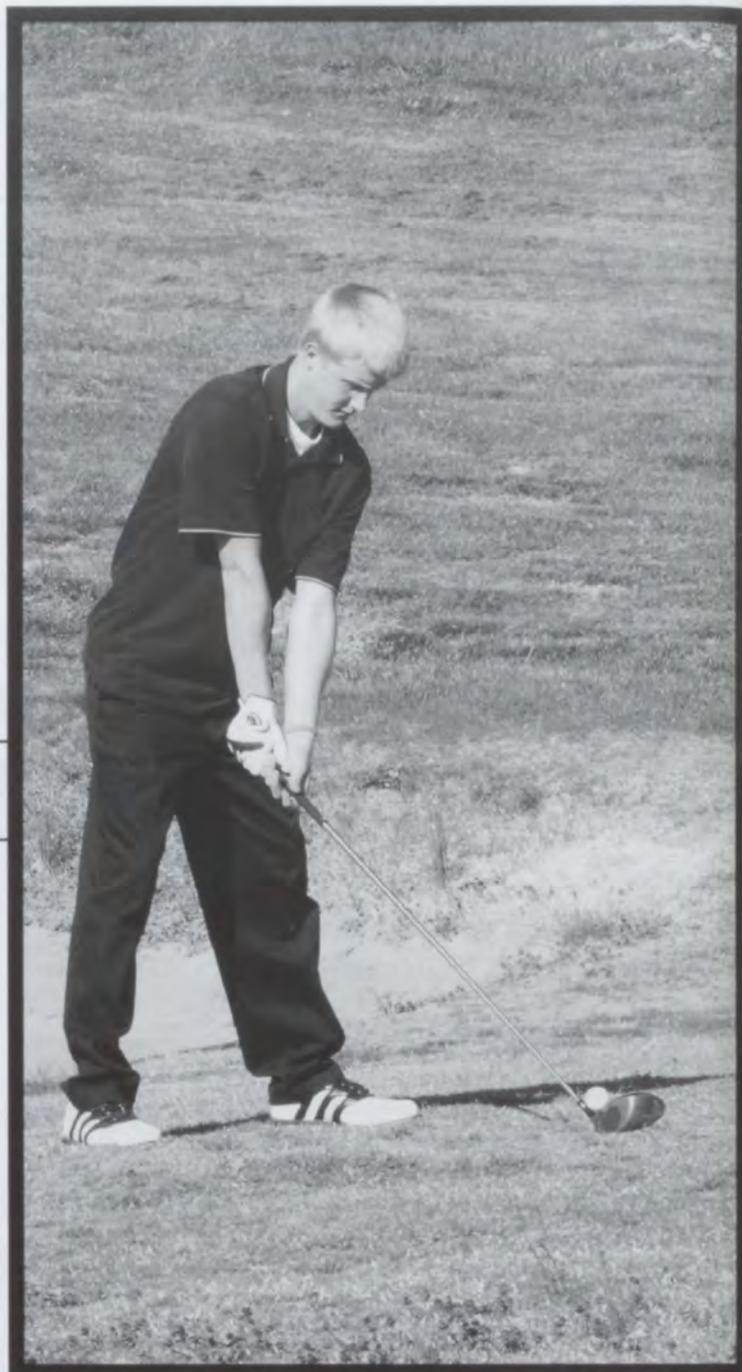

Returning to the boys golf team were top scorers Ian Reed, Corey Young, and Victor Schutzius. Senior Ian Reed was the number 1 golfer for the Marksmen. Preparing to swing the club is sophomore Hunter Dauby.

Freshman Logan Bolin is reading his line for the putt.

Starting off the season with a new coach, the Lady Marksmen were anxious to see what this year held for them. Alisha Patton, senior, said, "I expect that it will be a hard season for us in the beginning, but it will end great." Many of the players expect the team to do well as a whole. The team prepared for their season by running stairs at Bryan Taylor and other conditioning drills. Some of the girls took lessons through the summer and fall and others played during the winter.

The Lady Marksmen have many strengths to help them fight for a great season. "Our strength is that we get along great and we support each other and will help anyone who needs it," stated senior Stephani Wrye. Senior Jennifer McDaniel says that "our strength as a team is our serves." The team's goal this year is to beat Castle in sectional and win PAC.

Coach Weyer was a four-year varsity starter for the Rangers boys' tennis team. Coaching this sport should be a breeze for him. When asked what it's like to be a new coach, Weyer replied, "It's exciting, new, fun, but also a great learning experience."

Get What's Coming to You

Senior Stephani Wrye warms up before her match against Boonville. Stephani played No.3 singles on varsity.

The Tell City High School boys' track team performed numerous pre-season workouts. Their main focus was on the conference and sectional meets which took place in mid-May. Coach Hollinden said, "This year's team has been led by a strong senior class that has shown the younger athletes a great work ethic." The boys track team had 38 boys.

Senior Kyle Kessinger placed first in the 100 100-meter dash in 11.12 seconds at conference. He also placed first in the 400 with a time of 51.22 at conference. Senior Zach Avallone broke the 300 intermediate hurdles school record with a time of 40.85 at conference.

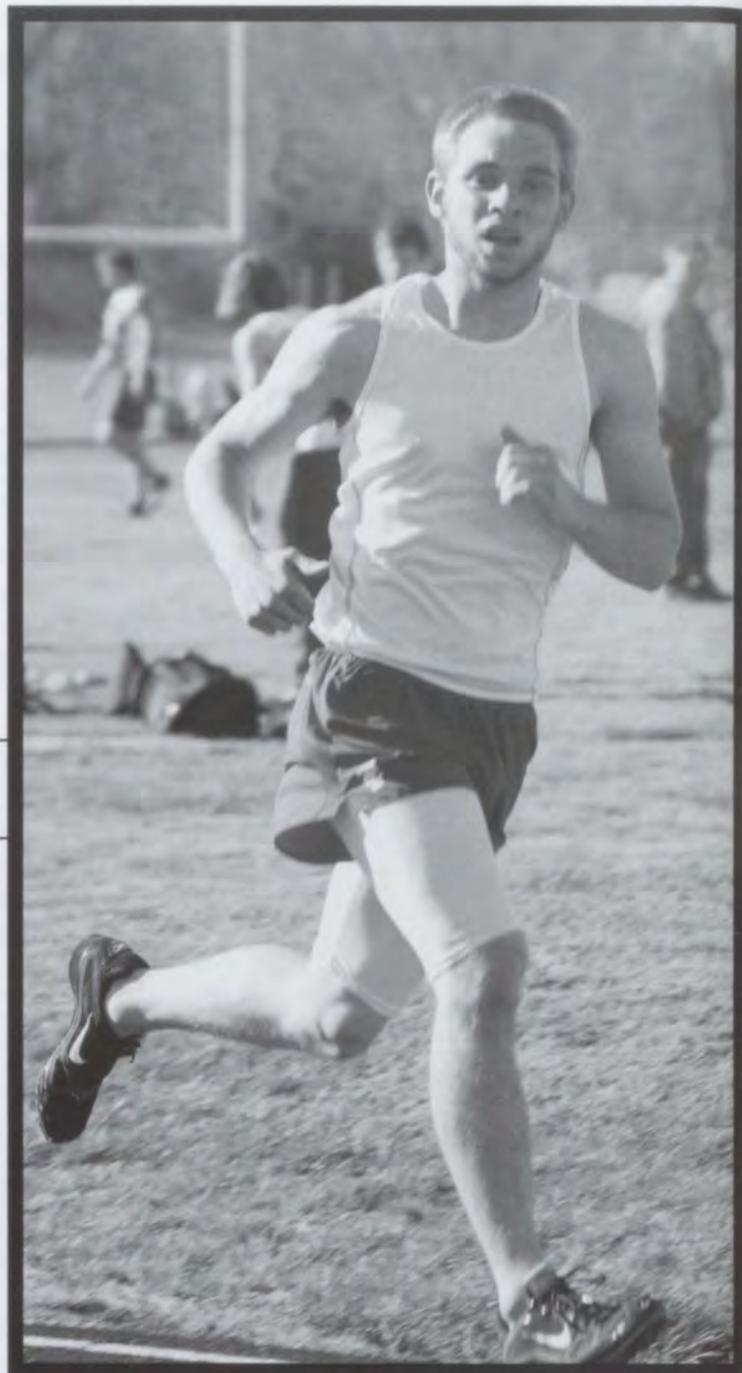

When asked how the coach has made a difference in their performance, senior, Daniel Scott replied, "Our coaches put forth the effort every day to make us perform to the best of our ability." What Daniel likes the most about track is how it is an individual sport but all the events depend on each other to win.

Catch Me If You Can

Sophomore Nathan Ramsey attempts to pass his opponents in the Tell City Invitational meet.

The girls had a rough time starting out this year due to the bad weather. With only sixteen girls on the team it was easy for them to work well together. Even with this small of a team we can still anticipate great things from all the girls.

According to their coach Katie Chinn, she believes that they will be the strongest in the throws and distance events. Luckily Tell City's top three throwers are back. They included senior Dana Sirel, junior Katie Kalin, and junior Julie Davis. Last year Julie qualified for the regional by placing fourth in the shot put at sectional.

When asked what Dana expected from this season her reply was, "We have a small team, but I think we can do some great things." The girls finished fourth in the eight-team PAC last year.

Coach Chinn believes that her team as no disadvantages, and to expect a good season.

Running From The Law

Freshman Sidney Strobel running the distance.

To the right is senior Katie Bryant flying past and over the hurdles in front of her.

Sophomore Elizabeth Kohnert is making her tracks in the long jump.

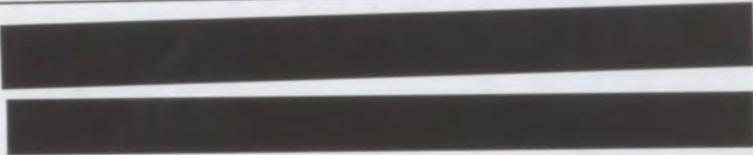

The Tell City baseball team is set to win this year. With their veteran players and strong up-the-middle defense, the Marksmen baseball team is sure to do great things this season.

Players like Ryan Zuelly, Eric Henrickson, Tommy McCallister, and Cody Pfeifer all agreed that their main goals for this season are to win conference, sectional, and have a winning record. Coach DeSpain feels that if they get a good draw and get into the bye bracket then they would have a very good chance of winning the sectional. Ryan Zuelly and Cody Pfeifer agree that this season will be one of the best seasons for Tell City in a long time because of the veterans that are playing this year.

Eric Henrickson and Tommy McCallister both agree that Coach DeSpain has helped them learn the mechanics of the game. By learning the mechanics, it has helped them play better and be more confident in their abilities to play.

The coach and the team believe that this season will be a hard fought one, but a season that everyone can be proud of.

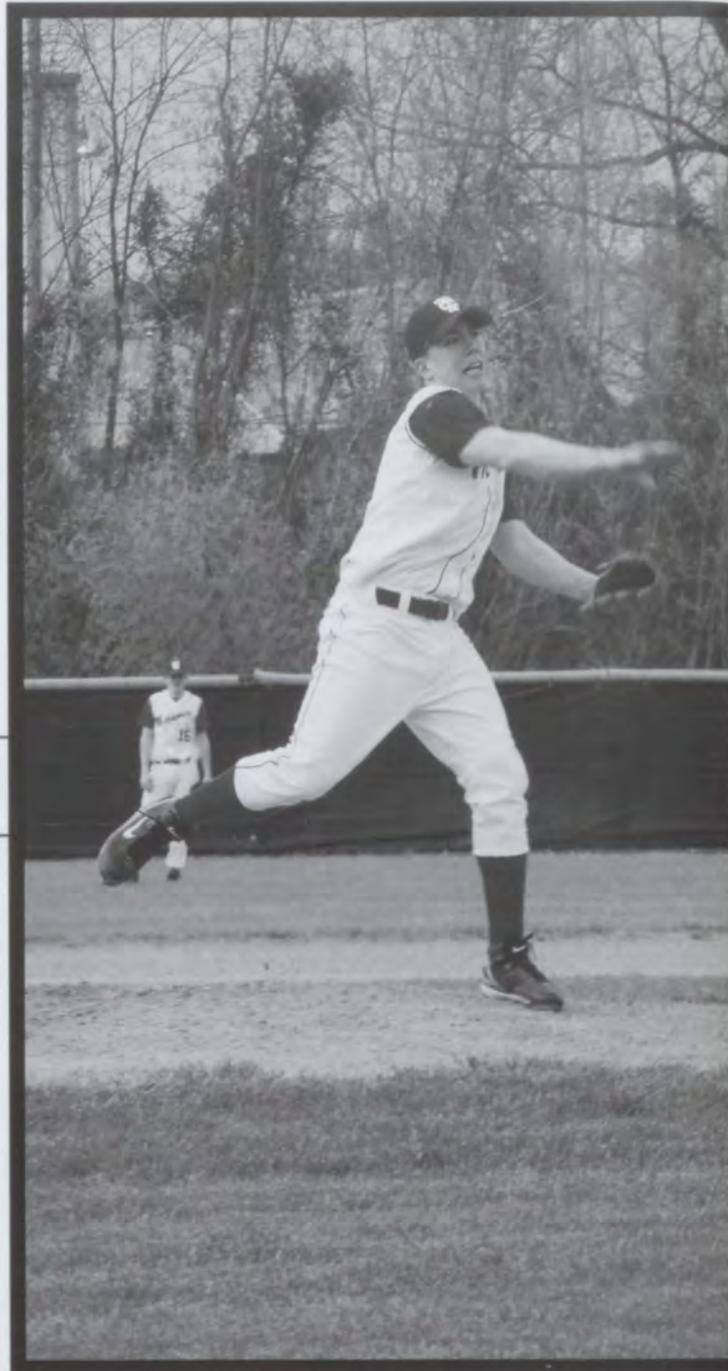

Hit and Run

Concentrating on the incoming pitch is senior Evan Rothgerber who is one of the veterans playing on the team this season.

Preparing to catch a fastball from senior Cody Pfeifer is junior Jason Hackbarth.

Senior Cody Pfeifer, pitcher, fires in a ball to strike out the opposing player.

Senior Ryan Zuelly is getting ready for the throw-down to second so that he can tag the runner for an out.

Watching a pop fly soar high into the air is first baseman senior Eric Henrickson.

Tell City's girls' softball team returned five starters from last year's 12-12 team. Three of the starters returning were playing different positions than last year, though they were positions they played extensively last summer. The new varsity coach, Dusty Beard, who was previously an assistant for the Lady Marksmen, expected pitching and defense to be among the team's strengths. Mark Rothgerber, the new JV coach, said one of his strengths as a coach was "the ability to teach." This strength definitely benefited the team.

Starting infield was Kara McClintic at third, Lauren Goffinet at shortstop, Leslie Poole at second, Amber Thomas at first, Kyli Smithson at catcher, and Josalyn Ress pitching. Kara McClintic was one of only two seniors on the team. Lauren Goffinet started at catcher last year and Amber Thomas started in center field.

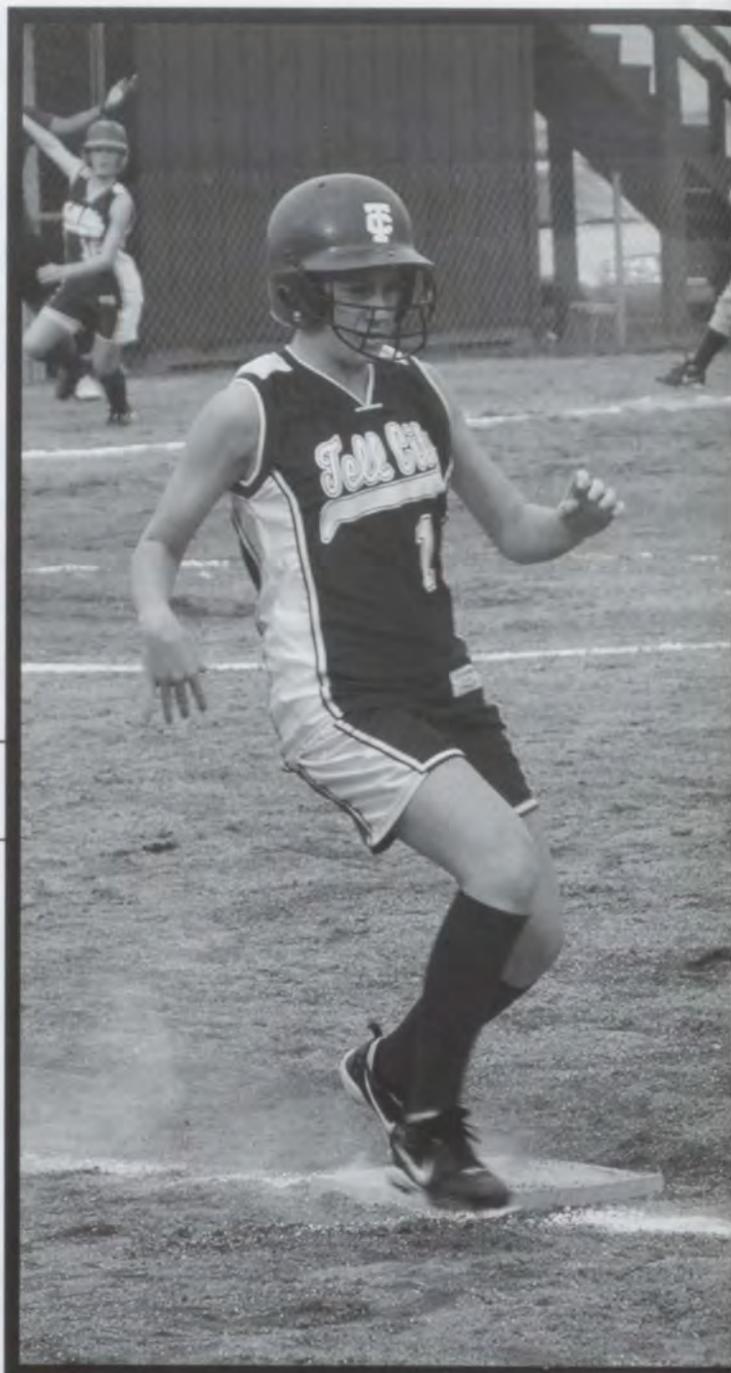

The Marksmen once again faced a strong schedule, and their conference, the PAC, has gotten even stronger with the addition of Forest Park. When asked what her goals for the season were, freshman Josalyn Ress said, "My goals for this season are to have a winning record." Senior Kara McClintic said that she "expects us to progressively get better every day, which will lead to a winning season."

Stealing Bases

Junior Amber Thomas stretches to catch the ball on first base.

Senior Kara McClintic follows through with her swing after making contact with the ball.

Caught In The Act

Above: Stunting during a varsity boys line-up is the entire cheerleading squad. The squad worked well together on this pyramid and it went up smooth.

Right: Focusing while doing a chant is junior Lacey McManaway. This year was Lacey's first year to be a flyer.

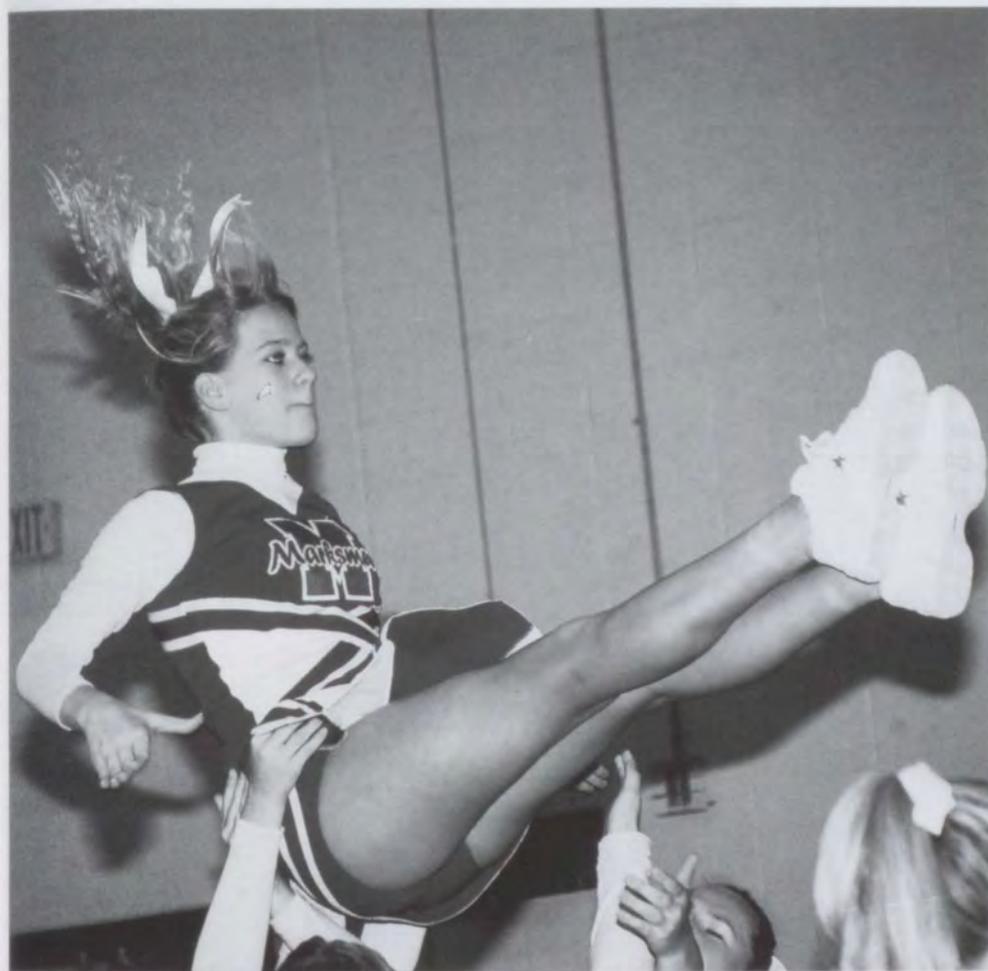

Staying together during the school song are sophomores Courtney Cain and Chelsea Hemmings. Courtney and Chelsea have both accomplished getting back handsprings this year.

Standing there with her hands on hips and a smile on her lips is senior Emily Biggs. Emily was the only senior on the squad this year.

Doing a chant is junior Julie Davis. Julie is one of the newest additions to the cheerleading squad this year.

Yelling loud during a victory chant at a JV football game are freshman, Vivian Clarke and Sydney Grass.

Performing a cradle is junior Amity Henderson. This will be Amity's fifth year cheering.

Celebrating a good play at the football game is junior Demi Utley. It was Demi's first year to be on the varsity squad.

Clapping to the school song is junior Meghan May. Meghan is always yelling loud and willing to do her part for the squad.

Clapping and using her voice during a chant is freshman Jacqueline Bolin. Jacqueline has worked her hardest and will keep showing her Marksmen pride in the years to come.

After months of practicing and getting ready to perform their show, CONTROLLED, the marching band was ready to show off all their hard work. At the ISSMA District Competition they received a gold rating which led them to Regionals. The ISSMA Regionals competition was held on October 13, 2007. The Tell City Marching Marskmen performed at 12:37 p.m. While waiting patiently for awards, everybody was excited for their show this year as they thought that they would have a great chance of getting in the top 5 for state. Mr. Reasoner selected their show idea from their winter drumline show.

When it was time for the awards everybody was quiet and still. First the announcer went through all of the bands and gave them a gold or silver rating which Tell City received a gold. Then the announcer went back thru the bands and called the top 5 bands that were going on to the State Finals Competition. When Tell City was not called some of the members were crying, especially the seniors that were graduating this year.

The pep band performs at every home boys varsity basketball games. They get the team fired up! During half time they play most of their songs for the audience while the teams are in the huddle. All of the members get into their music and dance when they play.

Stealing The Show

Senior Melissa Dauby and freshman Emily James are playing the school song and the Star Spangled Banner during pregame at one of the football games.

Junior Lacey Padgett is twirling her flag while at a competition. She is excited to finally show all of the hard work she has been practicing for months.

Another year has come and gone. Seniors are leaving Tell City High School and a new class of freshmen will soon be joining us in the fall. Memories have been made that will last a lifetime.

Students at Tell City High School spent seven hours of their day studying and taking pride in their school work. However, TCHS is not all work and no play. Students found time to take part in the Winter Dance, Prom, and Spring Fling. The final activity we celebrated as a school was graduation which was held on May 23, 2008.

No matter what seniors decide to do after graduation, they will always be remembered as a "Mighty Marksman."

Seniors Alisha Patton and Kyle Jarboe participate in one of the homecoming games during a pep session.

BREAKING DOWN THE LAW

Viva Las Vegas! This year's Christmas Dance was held on December 8, 2007 in the auxiliary gym. The Student Council decided to steer away from a Christmas theme and go with a Vegas theme. The week leading up to the dance was extremely hectic for the Student Council. All the decorations had to be assembled. Dice, cards, centerpieces, and signs had to be made from scratch to get ready for the big night. A song list was put together for the D.J., Chris Hawkins, to play at the dance.

Entering the dance was amazing. A red carpet lead your way onto the dance floor. People were gathered in groups with their friends snapping pictures. Everywhere you looked cameras were flashing. All the girls had beautiful dresses that everyone talked about. The dance was a great event to mingle with all your different friends. It was sad to see the night end.

The following morning the Student Council had to wake up early to clean-up the gym at 9 o'clock. The break-down took a lot less time than the decorating. Instead of a whole week, it only took about two hours. The Student Council worked really hard to make the Christmas Dance a night to remember.

Breaking it down are senior Keith Patrick, freshman Ryan Henrickson, and senior Eric Henrickson.

Juniors Corey Young and Emily Dauby are enjoying a slow song together. Emily and Corey are one of the cutest couples in the junior class.

Juniors Monica Perryman, Brianna Powers, and Ashley Edwards are having tons of fun. They were dancing the whole night.

Reviewing the night's pictures are sophomore Travis Jones and freshman Sidney Strobel. The night was filled with picture taking.

When asked what the most memorable part of the dance was, sophomore Travis Jones replied, "Hanging out with my friends."

Various

"I thought that the theme was really cool. I really liked all the fake money and poker chips sitting everywhere." -Junior Ashley Edwards

Viewpoints

When asked if she liked the set up of the gym, junior Monica Perryman answered, "The sitting area was dimly lit and very relaxing."

Freshman Lauren Coyle is in mid-jump during the Cha-Cha Slide. Everybody joined in on this song.

UNDERCOVER

GATHERING

This years theme was Enchanted Estate and wouldn't have been possible without the help of our students, teachers, and parents.

When you entered through the gates the first thing you noticed was the castle in the distance and the canopy up above. People started arriving at eight o'clock sharp. Most of the ladies began their day primping themselves for the big night ahead of them. Girls getting their hair and nails done, applying their make-up, and slipping into their dress. As for the guys they had their hands full too with having to pick out the right flowers, finding a matching tuxedo, and making the reservations.

But everyone knows that this night couldn't just happen all by its self. When asked what obstacles they had to overcome junior Jill Cassidy had this to say, "We had a lot of problems getting all of our decorations in, mainly the gate."

Even though prom might have ended the night wasn't over yet with the following of after prom. This was probably the most successful after prom so far at Tell City High School. Every senior and junior walked away with something. We hope everyone who attended had a great time.

Junior Jill Cassidy and senior Katie Clemens laughing and enjoying the night.

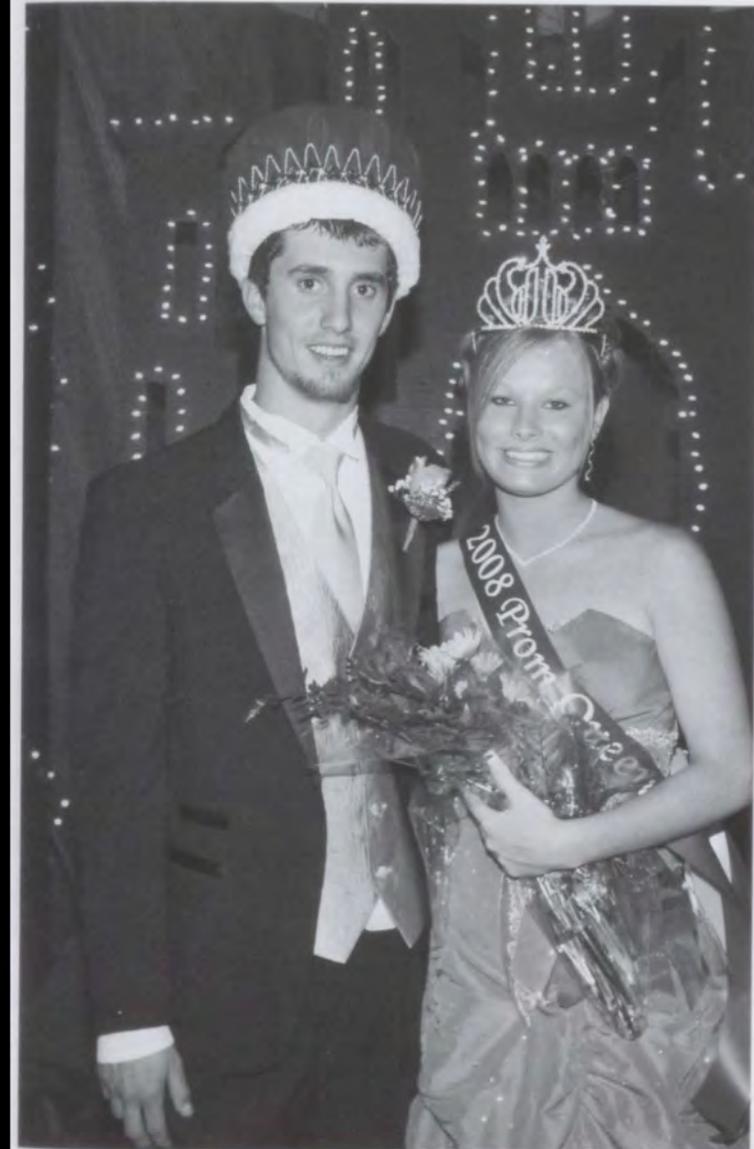

Sophomores Patrick Hagedorn, Corey Burris, and Trent Wheatley checking something out.

Sophomore Jamie Brink-sneader, and juniors Kourt-ney Kast and Linsey Noble doing Michael Jackson's famous Thriller.

Making a pose for their royal portrait are seniors Cody Pfeifer and Kara McClintic.

Juniors Corey Young and Emily Dauby were announced the Prince and Princess of the evening.

SEASON FOR TREASON

Spring Fling is an event whose purpose is a little break from class and just some fun and relaxation. Everyone has their favorite part whether it is the getting out of class, the grilled food, or the slip and slide. The Spring Fling begins with lunch grilled by the Alveys. Then everyone goes to sixth period for attendance, then off to Spring Fling. There were several activities available to students like cardboard boat races, slip and slide, or pieing their teachers in the face. The teachers who earned a pie in the face were Mr. Dave Alvey, Mr. Hall, and Mr. Hayes. One of the biggest hits at Spring Fling is the slip and slide. Everyone lines up to get their chance to zoom down the slide. Many words could describe Spring Fling from exciting to memorable.

All of the fun does not happen without someone behind it. Student Council is the group that provides this fun filled day as they broke up into different committees to work on each aspect of Spring Fling. Whether you are slipping and sliding or trying to make it across the pool in a cardboard boat, we all can agree the we love Spring Fling.

Senior Joey Woznicki is struggling to keep his boat from capsizing.

Sophomores Marissa Butler and Lauren Coyle are having fun going down the slip and slide with friends.

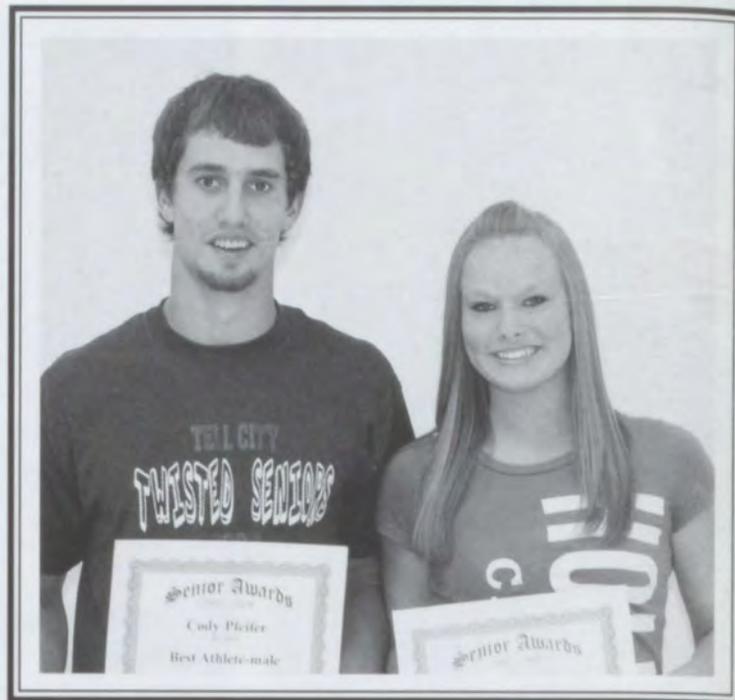

Mr. Hall is enjoying a delicious chocolate pie that was given to him by junior Samantha Wood.

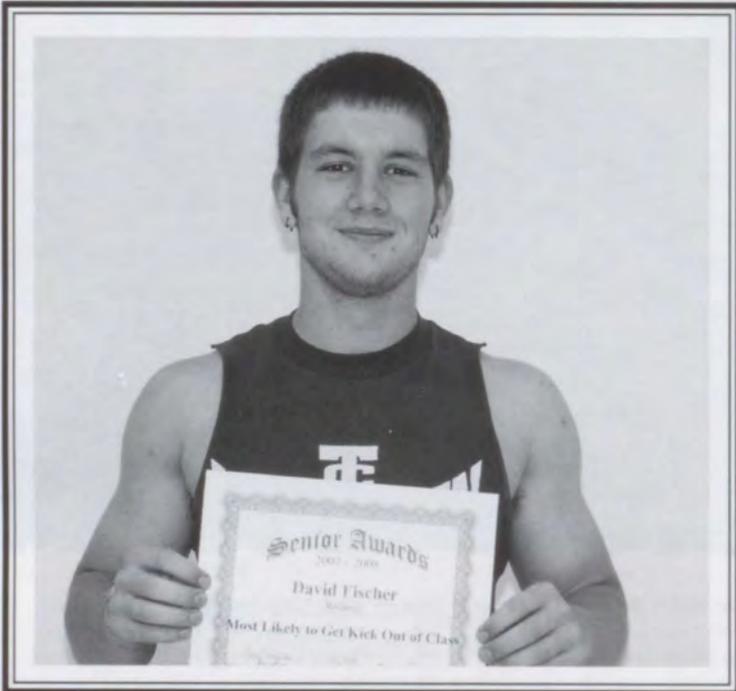

Freshman Trent Benningfield and sophomore A.J. Flynn are battling it out in the final race of boat races. A.J.'s team was the overall winner of the races.

Mission Accomplished

On Friday, May 23 at 7:00 p.m. parents, teachers, and guests took their seats in the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena to recognize the graduating class of 2008. Excitement and fear from the students made its way to the crowd, who already felt anticipation. Awaiting the commencement ceremony, seniors gathered in the cafeteria to have a yellow rose pinned to their gowns. It was a time to reminisce with one another of memories made in the past 12 years and a time to make new memories captured by cameras and smiles. The thought of moving on, taking a step in a new direction and realizing how dramatic life would change consumed the minds of many seniors.

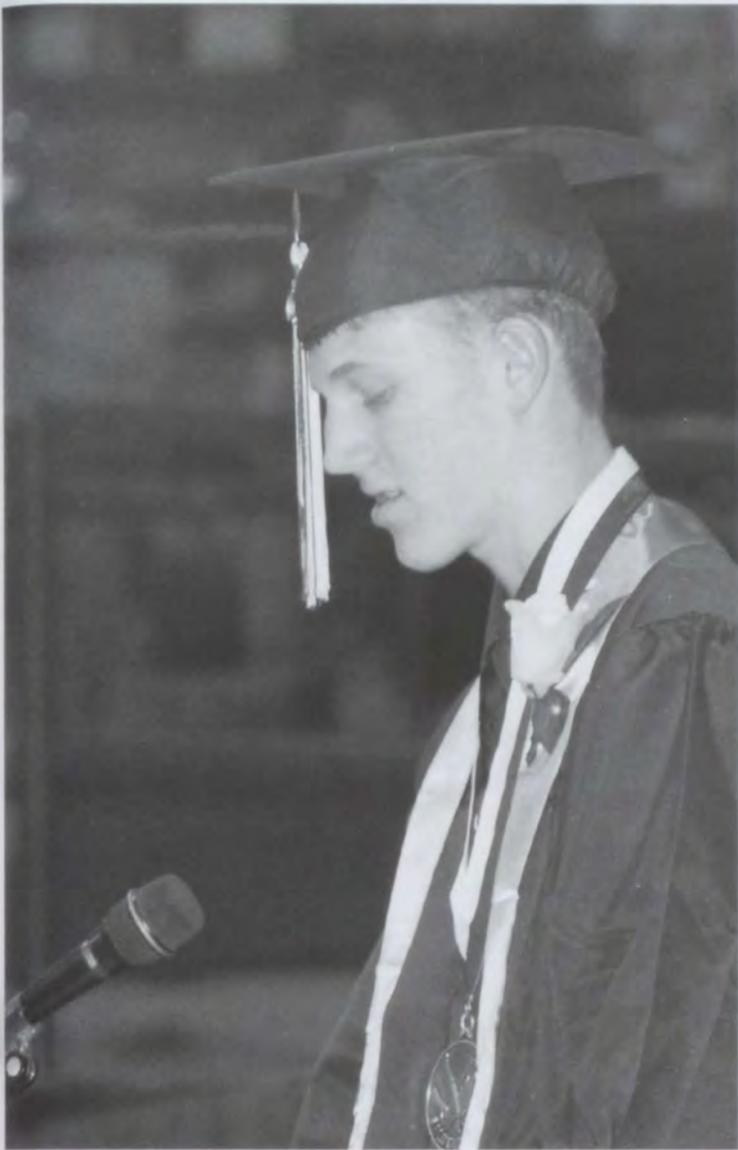

Welcoming all that attended, class President, Joey Woznicki spoke of times not forgotten and times not yet seen. Alisha Patton opened graduation with a moving speech of her own. Honor Grad, Marianne Krueger wanted to advise her classmates of many points, finding love and compassion and moving on to be yourself were only a couple. The next to speak were Salutatorian Joseph Kohnert and Valedictorian Alicia Drake wishing people the best.

After seniors received their diplomas, the highlight of the night, Kara McClintic led the class of 2008 to a new beginning by leading her fellow classmates in the turning of the tassel. Afterwards a circle was formed of friends, classmates, and memories unbroken and in the middle stood the class officers who would guide the seniors one last time with the tossing of their caps, but not before "MARKSMEN LEAVING THE HOUSE, OH YEAH!" Congratulations Class of 2008, case closed!

Sara Conner and Brittany Conner pose for a picture during the commencement ceremony as they wait patiently for their diplomas.

Joseph Kohnert is giving his salutatorian speech to the graduating class of 2008. He wanted seniors to know that they should take what they have and improve on it.

Katie Bryant and Chelsea Bryant are preparing to make their way to their seats.

Marianne Krueger is giving her Honor Graduate speech to all that attended the ceremony.

Megan Freeman is receiving her diploma from superintendent Ron Etienne.

 What I wish to do is greater than anything that you could ever buy. I wish that all of you find love. Once you do, everything will fall into place."

 Class of '08

“The yearbook staff would like to show appreciation to those extra people for making the production of the yearbook more unique!”

YOU'RE BUSTED!

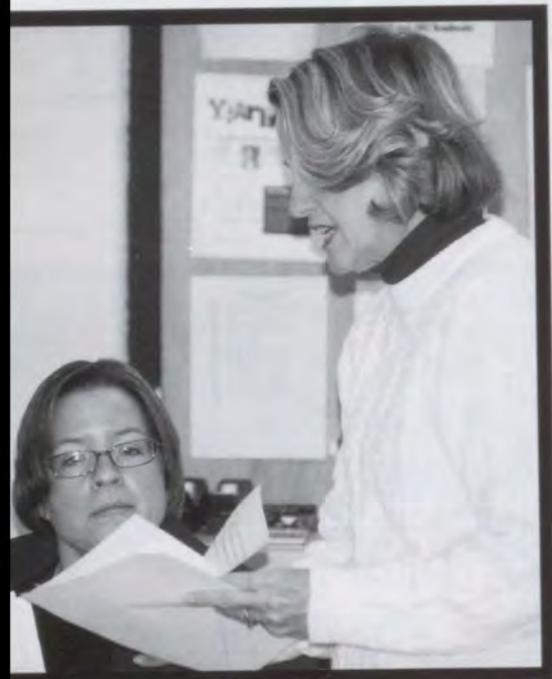

The 2008 yearbook staff worked well together and they were always ready to help others when it was needed. The class consisted of nine members: sophomore, Kyli Smithson, juniors, Amber Thomas, Kari Gladish, Jessica Wagner, Brianna Powers, Monica Perryman, and Lacey McManaway, and seniors, Coy Smith and Brittany Conner. All staff members were required to take pictures, write captions and copy, and sale advertisements.

For having eight new staff members and one new sponsor, the making of the yearbook went smoothly. The creation of the yearbook was under the advisement of Mrs. Noble (Wooldridge) and Mrs. Alvey. This is Mrs. Noble's third year of experience while this is Mrs. Alvey's first year. It is the third year that InDesign CS2 has been used in making the spreads for the yearbook. Pictures were taken by a new camera, the Nikon D40. The purchase of this camera was possible by a grant from SINE and the partnership with Larry Goffinet of the Perry County News.

The book was published by Herff-Jones Publishing Company, 2525 Midpoint Drive, Edwardsville, KS 66111. Mark Hisle and Angela St. Clair were the yearbook sale representatives. Four staff members attended the workshop for designing the yearbook cover. Yearbooks sold for forty dollars with the choice of a seven dollar name plate. Every day after the one day sale they sold for forty-five dollars.

The yearbook staff would like to show appreciation for those extra people making the production of the yearbook more unique. These thanks go to Larry Goffinet, Danny Bolin and Scot Sandage for team photos. An extended thanks needs to go to Danny Bolin for all student mug shots and the cooperation of everybody involved in the publication of the 2008 Sagittarius yearbook, Caught Red Handed.

Yearbook sponsors Mrs. Noble and Mrs. Alvey communicate about an important yearbook document. Mrs. Alvey took the place of Mrs. Aubrey due to maternity leave.

Looking at her neighbor's computer to help with a spread is junior Jessica Wagner. This is Jessica's first year producing the yearbook along with seven other class mates.

Making and reviewing a list for the one day sale is senior Coy Smith. He is the only guy on the staff.

Working on identifying team photos are juniors Brianna Powers and Monica Perryman. Like all other members, these two girls are consistent with their work.

On August of 1975, Mrs. Ginger Krieg began her career teaching P. E. in grades 1-8 at Newman, St. Paul, and Franklin schools. Ever since then she has been a valued staff member and beloved teacher.

Mrs. Krieg recalls when she first started teaching advanced typing. It was taught on electric typewriters, and on manuals the first year she was at the high school. She first taught one advanced typing class, three periods of typing, and one period of shorthand. The school day was over at 2:55 p.m.

Some advice Mrs. Krieg would like to share with students is that while you are encouraged to focus on math, science, and English you should always remember that keyboarding skills are a growing necessity in the work world.

Mrs. Krieg would like all her former students to think of her when they are using their computer or keyboarding skills on a job or in college, and feel as if they actually learned a skill in high school that will help them through life.

Mrs. Krieg will continue to do new things and experience new things, but she will never forget the time served within the walls of Tell City High School.

Time Served

Posing with other teachers in her first year at the high school is Mrs. Krieg in the bottom row in the middle.

This year, three foreign exchange students traveled to America to live and study at Tell City High School.

Anita van Munster came from Wolfenbuttel, Germany. She stated that several people from the U.S. are more proud to be American than German people are of being German. Anita is on the swim and track teams at Tell City. She also told us that in Germany they have different classes every day and here we have the same ones.

Traveling from Germany also is Kathrin Kassen. She is on the basketball, volleyball, tennis, and track teams. One thing she said was here in the U.S. it was difficult to go to school until 3 because in Germany they get out much earlier. She included that she will miss her host family and her friends when she leaves.

Our third foreign exchange student is Laura Kierdorf from Germany. When we asked her how was it living with a different family, she replied, "I enjoyed staying with somebody new and now here in Tell City I have sisters and back home I am the only child." She was on the basketball team.

All three of them said they would like to take our school spirit back to Germany.

In Memory of Steve Whitaker

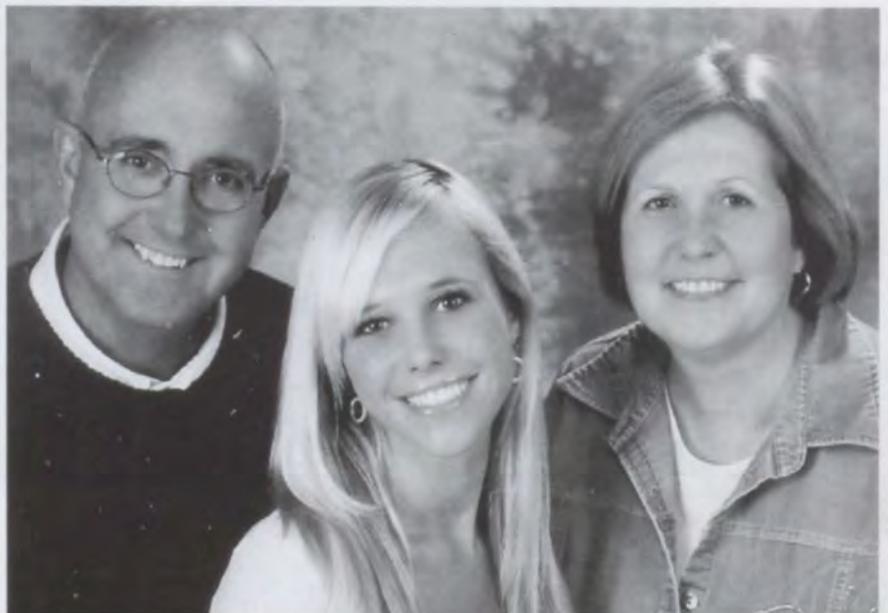

It is difficult to think of Steve Whitaker without thinking about Jimmy Buffet, guitars, football, and macroeconomics. Steve joined the faculty of Tell City High School in 1975 as a Distributive Education teacher. He met and married his wife Stephanie in 1978. One of Steve's best memories was the birth of his daughter Morgan. Steve retired from full-time teaching and coaching in the spring of 2003. He came back in the fall of 2003 to continue teaching his favorite class, macroeconomics for college credit. Steve really enjoyed the class as the students worked hard to achieve a good grade. They strived to win his $50 reward for top Economics student. When we asked different teachers what they remembered most about Mr. Whitaker, John Lyons replied, "Steve always had a smile and could befriend anyone." Senior Sarah Roccia commented, "Mr. Whitaker was an excellent teacher because he truly loved what he did and put that love into his teaching." We hope Mr. Whitaker you are enjoying your "Cheeseburger in Paradise." We miss you.
