LIGHTS, CAMERA,

Senior Courtney Dauby writes down her assignments in her agenda book.

To the students at Tell City High School, the yearbook is many different things. To some it is a book of struggles and accomplishments and to others it is an album of fun and excitement. To all of us though, it is a treasured copy of memories. A new, special memory is created every day by every student at TCHS.

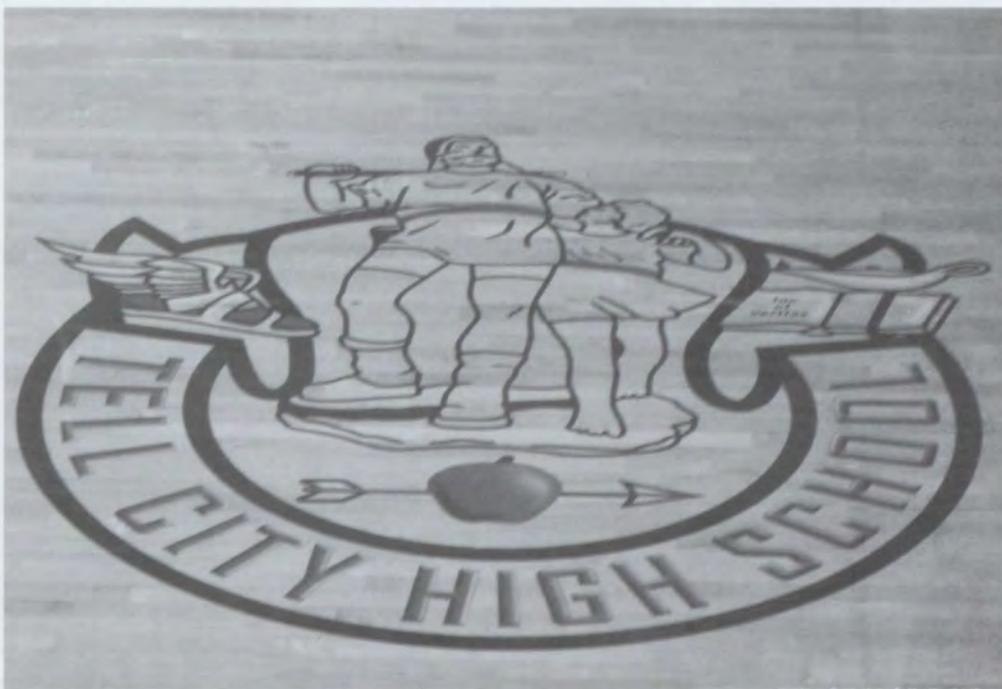

While making these memories, the students at Tell City High School have been through a year of ups and downs. From never-ending practices, to late night studying, to falling GPA's, to A's in trigonometry and chemistry, the Marksmen have pulled through. We try our best and strive for the most.

The freshmen have only just begun this chapter in their lives, while the seniors have reached the end of a four-year roller coaster. Still, though, we will continue to ride the ups and downs of life, but we will be ready. We owe that preparedness to those teachers who have boosted our confidence and never let us down. So, under the lights, and in front of the camera, the Marksmen will be ready for action in every way.

Standing tall outside Tell City High School, the flashing marquee provides the community with information about the events taking place at the school.

The crest of Tell City High School stands out for all to see on the newly refinished floor of the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena.

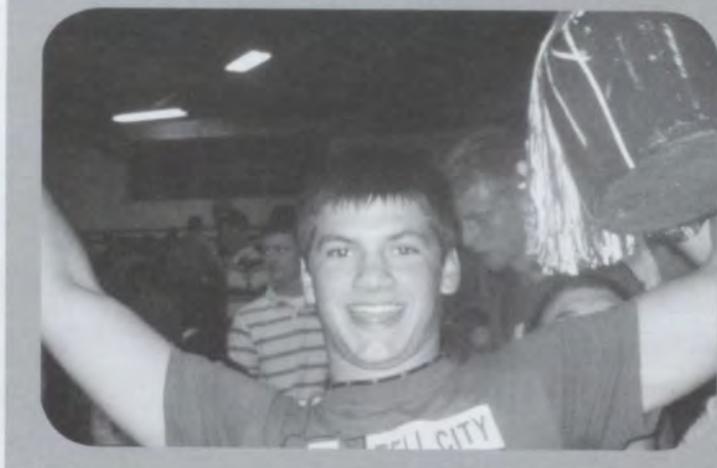

Students socialize on the senior bench before the school day begins.

CAPTURING THE MOMENT

There are many students at Tell City High School. As students, we dedicate seven hours a day to learning new material. Even though we spent a lot of time studying, we found time to take part in many various Marksmen co-curricular activities such as the Fall Sports Extravaganza, the Academic Pep Rally, picking class representatives for the Football and Basketball Homecoming, and attending the Winter Dance. As spring finally rolled around, we started looking for the perfect dress and tuxedo for Prom, and the Spring Fling was an excellent way to ease our nerves from the intense finals we had to take at the end of the year. The last activity we took part in was graduation on May 25, 2006.

The various activities at Tell City High School kept us busy and we created memories that will last forever. Whatever we decide to do after attending high school, we should always be proud of our tradition and wear our cream and crimson with prestige. When we choose the path we want to take in life, we should always be prepared for lights, cameras, and plenty of action!

After the seniors won the Spirit Jug at a pep rally, Logan Jefford holds up the jug to celebrate the win. The different classes compete to see who can win the Spirit Jug at each pep rally.

ROLL OUT THE RED CARPET

On the evening of September 22, 2006, the homecoming court was dressed like royalty as it started to rain. The court rushed off the field as the thunder crashed; homecoming was rescheduled for a later date.

On the chilly evening of October 6, at seven o'clock, the homecoming court walked out onto the field successfully. King Gregg Schipp and Queen Baylie Gelarden were crowned. This was the first year for girls to wear semi-formal dresses. The football team played Gibson Southern and faced a disappointing loss in overtime.

Proudly standing under the arch are King Gregg Schipp and Queen Baylie Gelarden. They are Tell City's 2006 Football Homecoming Court winners.

Candidates Gregg Schipp and Chelsea Horton pause below the arch as the announcer introduces them to the crowd.

Freshmen attendants Nick Bower and Ashley Zellers stand anxiously awaiting the crowning of the king and queen.

Senior candidates Nick Duncan and Cassie Litherland shake in the cold under the arch, as the announcer tells a short biography of their careers at TCHS and future plans.

Senior candidates Reece Hendershot and Tina Reed stand on the field during homecoming festivities. Chase Beckort and Elizabeth Kehl held the crowns at the event.

PARADE OF STARS

On the gloomy day of Wednesday, September 13 the Marksmen community continued a tradition by honoring the fall sports teams and clubs. Organized by the Student Council, the parade began at 7:00 p.m. by Carriage Inn and ended at Legion Field, where a pep rally was held.

The pep rally began with the playing of our National Anthem and from there, all the fall sports teams and clubs were recognized. The winner of the best float for the parade was the girls' volleyball team, with the boys' cross country team coming in second. The juniors took home the Spirit Jug.

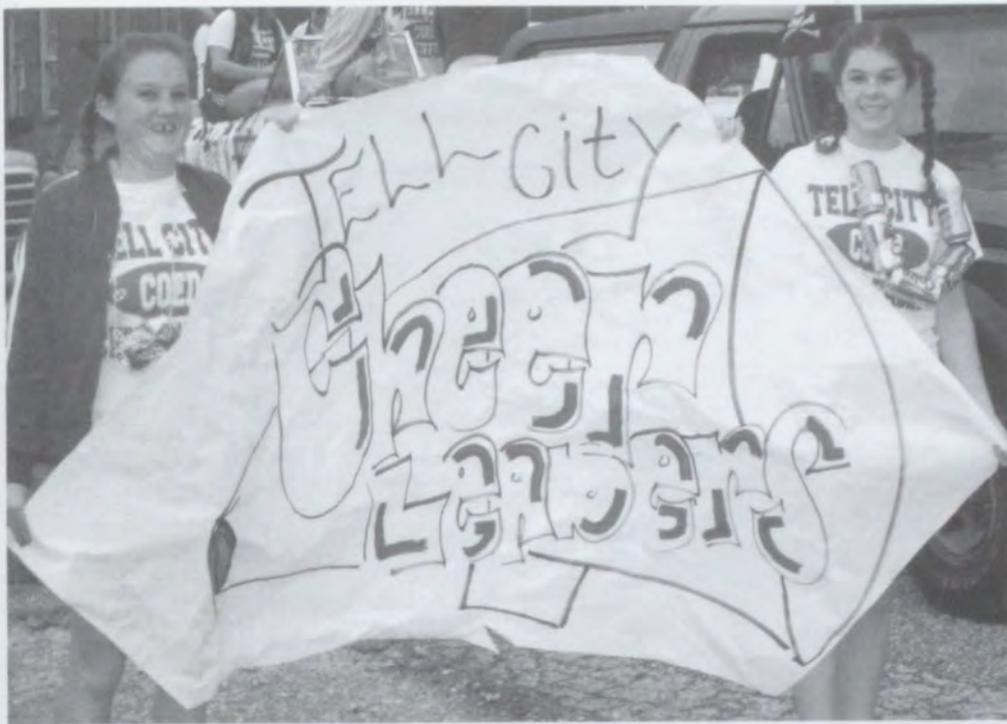

Junior Adam Ramsey supersedes his paddle for a game of table tennis. Throughout the parade, the boys' tennis team displayed their skills to the crowd.

Freshman Trish Solbrig and junior Dana Sibrel maneuver a pole to set up a volleyball net for the parade. The team dressed Hawaiian.

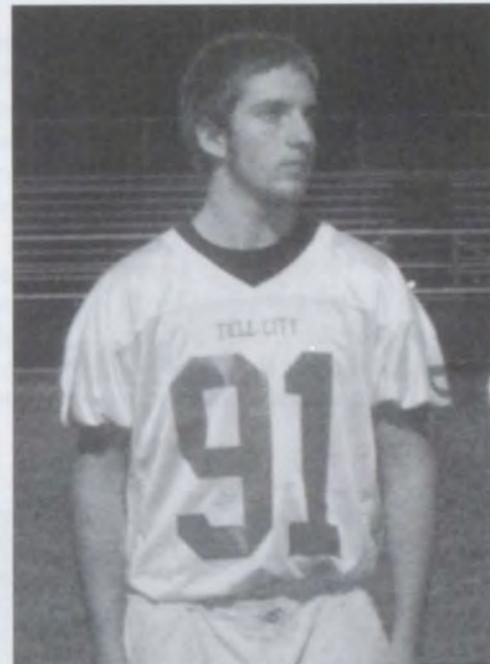

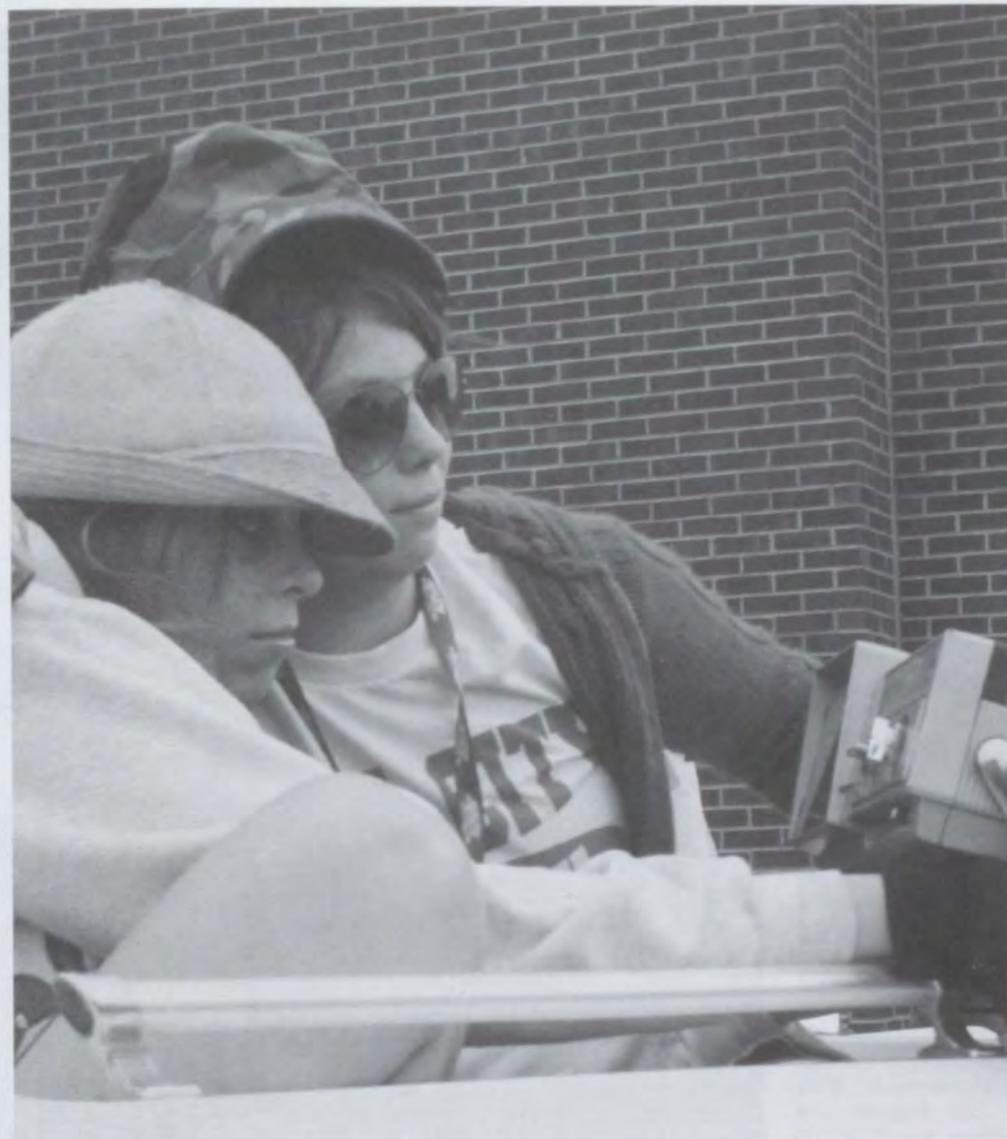

The scrolling marquee outside the front entrance of Tell City High School displays upcoming events at Tell City High School. It showed an announcement for the pep rally in hopes that the community would turn out to support the fall sports teams.

Sophomores Megan May and Demi Utley are all smiles as they hold a banner supporting the cheerleaders' float.

Before the parade begins, Mrs. Sanders stands behind the banner on the French club float. She was checking with the French Club students to see if it was straight.

Freshman Cody Nash listens to Coach Kincaid speak about all of the obstacles that the football team has faced since practice started in July.

While waiting for the parade to begin, senior cheerleaders Ashton Zuelly and Mary Lain tune in to their favorite episode of Gilligan's Island.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

Once upon a time there was a small town with a small school and an even smaller dance, but it was a dance in paradise. It was a time made for kings and queens, princesses and princes, with calm, flowing, classical music...YEAH, RIGHT! This was a dance with a bunch of teenage kids. The music was loud and the students were crazy with excitement. The floor was crawling with movement, and there was not a seat in the house that was empty.

We do need to give credit to a few special people for making this a night worth remembering: Student Council and their sponsors, Mrs. Haller and Mrs. East. The decorations were breathtaking. You would never know that the snow was not real. With the time and effort this organization put into the magical night, it is only right that they enjoyed themselves on the dance floor as well!

The photographs were made possible by Danny Bolin. With a waterfall theme for the pictures, each individual looked lovely and dreamy, only adding to the childhood memories of Cinderella, without the glass slippers of course!

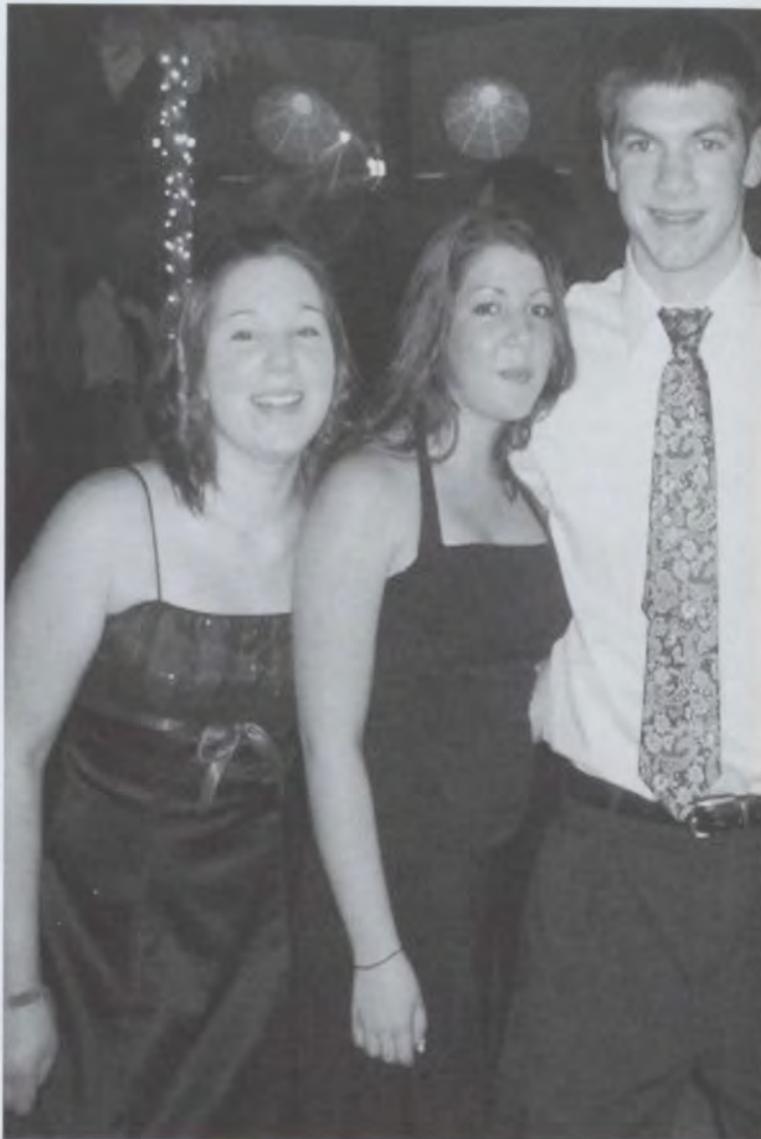

As the fairy tale goes, we all live happily ever after!

Seniors, Morgan Whitaker, Myra Dauby, Brett LeClere, and Patrick Borders really know how to make an appearance to this year's Christmas Dance. They all arrived in a stretch limousine with fun and excitement. Senior Logan Jefford seems to be the prince in this fairy tale! He posed for a quick photo with foreign exchange students Hannah Domanowski, Elisa Engels, Josy Wagner, and Leah Melberg.

“IT WAS EASY TO FIND MY DRESS. I KNEW I WANTED SOMETHING FUN AND FLIRTY, SOMETHING THAT WAS EASY TO DANCE IN.”

-ALISHA PATTON

Juniors Alisha Patton and Samantha Ballman take time out of dancing to create a memory with the camera.

Freshman Jamie Brinksneider and senior Kelsey Malone are exhausted with all the excitement, but they still had enough energy to be crazy!

Sophomore Brittany Backer is multi-tasking. She is consistent with the Christmas Dance decorations and managing her phone at the same time!

Sophomore Amber Thomas is taking time out of her daily activities to make sure that the Christmas dance is really a Dance in Paradise! She carefully tapes the lights to the floor to make the trip safer!

Junior Claire Tuggle is another student who is working hard to make the Christmas Dance perfect for everybody. She is arranging the floor decorations, to make every step magical.

THE MARKSMEN LINE OF FAME

The evening began cold and windy. Inside the Brian Taylor Sports Arena, the palms of students and parents were sweaty. The anticipated homecoming was here and the candidates and attendants were queued up in their line of fame for all to see.

Representing the freshman class were Jamie Brinksneider and Nathan Ramsey. The sophomore class chose Molly Richmer and Andy Brunner. The junior attendants were Claire Tuggle and Greg Batie. The queen candidates were Myra Dauby, Emily Harpenau, Tina Reed, and Ashton Zuely. King candidates were Nick Duncan, Logan Jefford, Jon Melberg, and Derek Peter.

With the entire student body's votes counted, juniors Marianne Krueger and Alisha Patton announced Derek Peter and Ashton Zuely as our 2007 Homecoming king and queen. Taking the crown from kindergartener Tretter Lyons and the tiara from first grader Brea Haller, Courtney Dauby crowned the king and queen.

At the end of the night, we were proud of our homecoming court. It was a great success and we thank our Student Council members for putting the evening together.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Extravagant gowns, rented tuxes, pricey transportation: pull it all together and what have you got? A Night to Remember. Prom was exactly what the theme entitled. Picture this: a grand entrance with sparkling lights, an eighteen-foot Eiffel Tower and a shimmering silver floor. The decorations set the tone for the evening.

Juniors worked hard to successfully execute a prom the seniors would always remember. Candidates for King and Queen, Prince and Princess, were placed in front of the outstanding Eiffel Tower. The crowning was highly anticipated as D.J. Chris Hawkins addressed the students. The crowd that had gathered grew silent with nerves. Finally, with enough anxiety built in the room, the 2007 Prom King and Queen were announced as Jon Melberg and Ashton Zuelly. Following their path, Prince and Princess Tyler Henning and Marianne Krueger stepped forward to accept their crowns.

The after prom theme complimented an evening in Paris, France. With a cafe, a money machine, plenty of games, and a grand assortment of food, students were set with entertainment and had no worries of going hungry. Prom finally ended that next morning at five o'clock. A last dance at high school for seniors is always the first step to a new dance in life. Good luck Class of '07. We will remember you!

Lost in the moment is junior Brooke Gunterman and her date Justin Poole. This was the first slow dance at prom.

Taking a break from all the dancing are juniors Michael DuPre and Alisha Patton with their guest Mackenzie Persohn.

Juniors Kyle Cravens and Kyle Lasher bust a move. They really knew how to get a party started.

BORN TO BE WILD

The seventh annual Spring Fling started on the morning of May 18. The first activities of the day included the senior awards and the underclassman awards, followed by the Alveys grilling lunch that included hamburgers, hotdogs, and creek fries. Then at 12:35 p.m., the student body reported down to the auditorium for the homecoming festivities.

The traditional homecoming began with the court dressed in eighties attire. The student body selected Emily Harpenau as the Spring Fling Queen, and Jared Foury as the Spring Fling King. The most wacky event of the whole homecoming was the students' pick for the winners of the staff King and Queen. Mr. Brinksneider was crowned Queen and Mr. Hayes was given a scepter to be honored as King. It was the first time in Spring Fling history that two men were chosen as royalty.

The outdoor events this year included the slip-n-slide, volleyball, corn hole, hillbilly golf, ultimate frisbee, and the new rock wall courtesy of the National Armory. Although there were plenty of activities to pick from, it was almost too cool to endure the chilly water of the slip-n-slide.

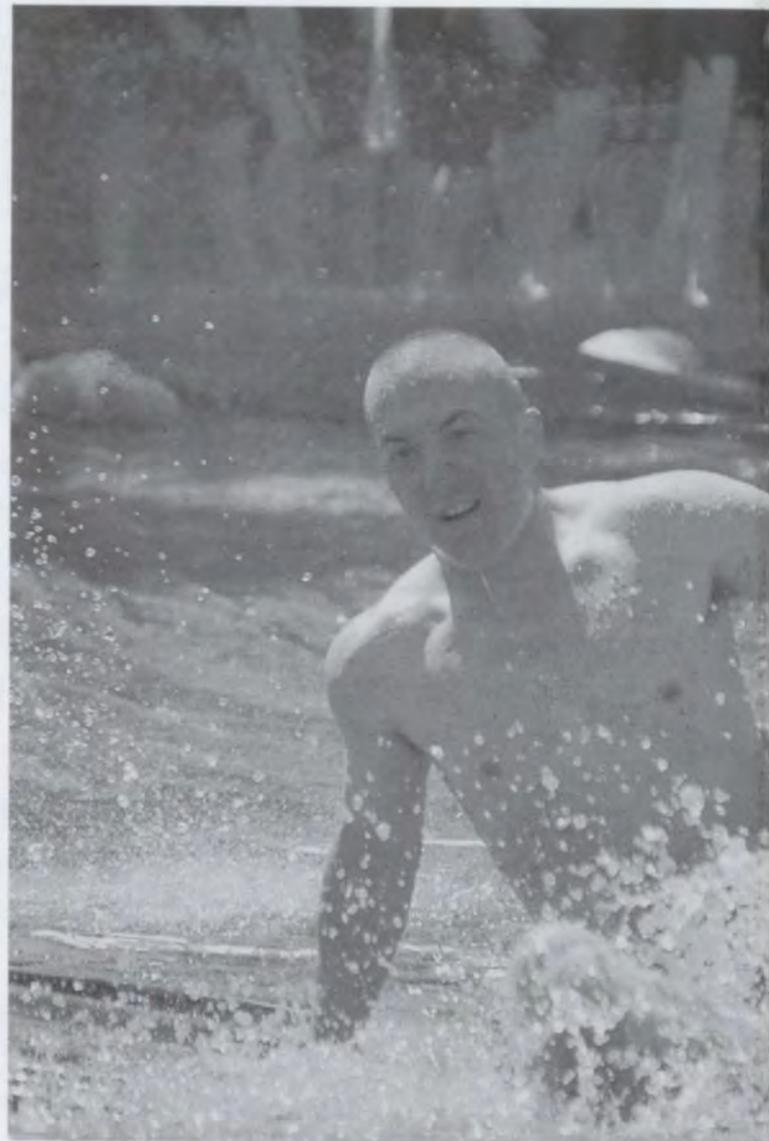

Mr. Hayes and Mr. Brinksneider were crowned the Spring Fling King and Queen. It was the first time in history to have two men win the titles.

I ENJOYED THE SLIP-N-SLIDE. IT WAS SO MUCH FUN HANGING WITH THE GUYS. "

JOSH COULTAS

Sophomore Jenelle Clausen tries to climb up the rock wall provided by the National Armory. Jenelle was one of many that made it to the top of the wall.

Senior Brian Kanneberg gets ready to serve over the volleyball during a game. Junior Josy Wagner watches on as she prepares to help her teammates win.

Mrs. Haller and Mrs. East laugh as they announce the candidates for the staff King and Queen.

Senior Josh Coultas slides down the slip-n-slide. The slip-n-slide was very popular this year.

Junior Zach Avallone smiles as he finally reaches the top of the rock wall. The rock wall was one of the new events at the Spring Fling.

Senior co-valedictorian Kris Kast gives his speech to the class of 2007. Jokingly, he said, "I would like to be the first to congratulate you, but unfortunately I am the fourth."

Seniors Seth Young, Ashton Zuelly, and Logan Jefford march to their seats while the band plays the processional at the beginning of the ceremony.

At 7:00 p.m. on Friday, May 25, the senior class of 2007 met for one final time at their commencement ceremony held at Legion Field. There was a sense of excitement in the air, accompanied by a feeling of sadness. As the seniors waited for the ceremony to begin, many of them took pictures with the friends that they have shared memories with for 12 long years. Many people were thinking, "Will I ever see these people again?"

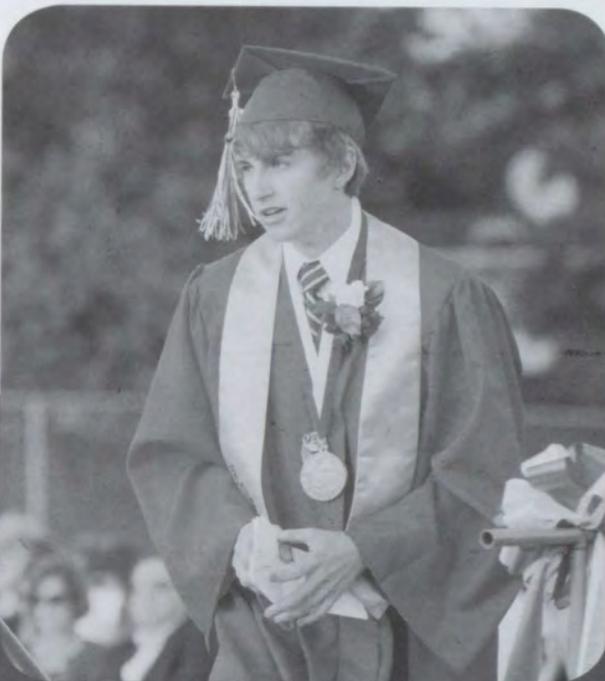

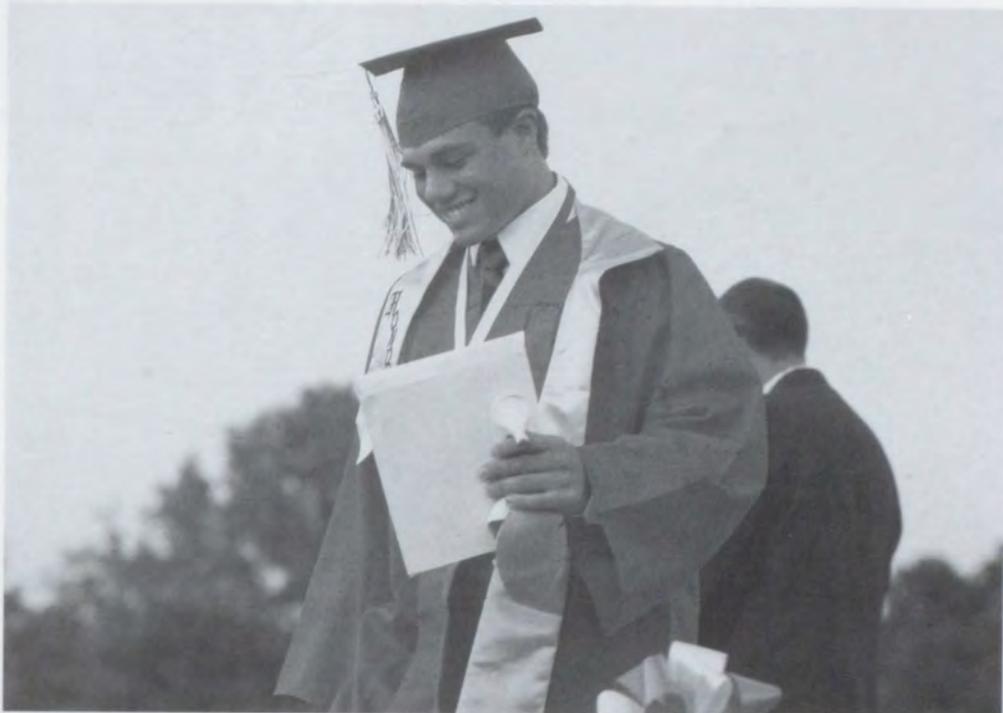

As the band began to play the processional, the seniors marched across the field to their seats, ready to receive their diplomas. Co-salutatorian Jessica Fenn gave a meaningful speech about being successful. Co-salutatorian Jared Four's heart-felt speech was written about believing in yourself. Co-valedictorian Jacob Bower gave a humorous and light-hearted speech about happiness. Co-valedictorian Kris Kast gave a moving speech about what "a simple piece of paper," meaning the diploma, symbolized.

After marching across the stage to receive their diplomas, the seniors clapped along to the school song for one last time as a class. Then, they circled up and did "Marksmen Jacks" before tossing their hats into the air with excitement. The class of 2007's story at Tell City High School is over, but they have a bright future ahead. Congratulations, seniors! We look forward to watching as your story is continued in the years to come.

Senior Brandon Link and Mr. Stewart watch as Brandon's classmates receive their diplomas. Mr. Stewart shook each of the graduates' hands as they made their way back to their seats.

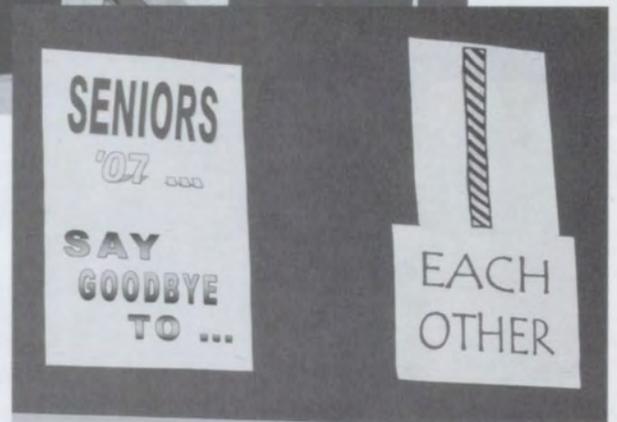

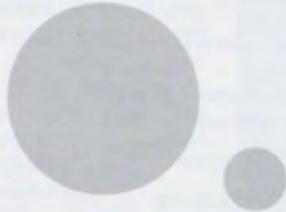

Senior Jared Foury is all smiles as he leaves the stage after receiving his diploma. Jared graduated second in his class with Academic Honors.

Senior Jacob Bower climbs the stairs onto the stage as he prepares to give his valedictory address to the class of 2007.

THAT'S A WRAP!

That's a wrap! Soon the lights and cameras will no longer be focused on one of our star teachers at Tell City High School. At the end of the 2007 school year, after 26 years of teaching at Tell City, Mrs. Brenda Rose will be retiring, and she will be enjoying spending time with her children and taking vacations.

She began teaching at Tell City in 1981. Like Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Rose said that her job has changed over the years due to the integration of technology. She said, "When I started teaching math, students did not have calculators."

Mrs. Rose has been a very dedicated teacher. She is always in her classroom early and she is always willing to help a student who is struggling in her math class. Some advice that she would offer to students is, "Strive to be the very best, whether in academics or in sports."

So as the director yells, "Cut!" Mrs. Rose will be leaving the school where she has been teaching in for 26 years. It has been a long journey filled with many memories. That's a wrap, Mrs. Rose! Thanks for being such a great teacher!

Great actresses and actors on Broadway know when the run is over; they take one last bow and leave the stage gracefully. This departure signifies an end and also a new beginning for each of them. In May 2007 Sarah Hall will be taking her final bow at Tell City High School. After 33 years of teaching, she is joining the ranks of other retired teachers. Like many Broadway plays, her teaching career has been long and rewarding.

She began teaching at Tell City in 1976 as a reading teacher at the two elementary schools, at Hoosier Heights Middle School, and at the high school. She started teaching reading full-time at the high school in the following year.

Over the years many aspects of her job have changed. She says the biggest change has been the introduction of technology in the classrooms and the increased emphasis on writing across the curriculum. Mrs. Hall says the best aspect of her teaching career was getting to know her students and seeing her students and former students contributing to the community and enjoying life. Her advice for students is, "Work harder; be all you can be instead of taking the easy way out, and remember if your horse dies, it is time to dismount!"

Based on experiences in education, Mrs. Hall also has advice for younger teachers. She suggests they get involved—in the classroom and in the school. She also says that teachers should expect a lot from students and should not accept mediocrity. She said that she would like to be remembered as a teacher who was fair and consistent and who had high expectations for all students. Things she will remember about her career will be the students, throwing frisbees in junior hallway, being Queen for the Day, and her "lunch bunch."

In her retirement Mrs. Hall is looking forward to enjoying uninterrupted days of serenity, meeting old friends to chatter and laugh with, and spending time with family.

So, with no great fanfare or name in lights, on May 25, 2007, Mrs. Hall is walking out of the classroom, down the steps, and away from the building that she has called home for so many years. It has been a great run; thanks for the memories!

DIAMONDS IN THE ROUGH

Our student body consisted of a total of 531 students. The senior class had 61 males and 54 females for a total of 115 students. The juniors had 50% males and 50% females for a total of 145. The sophomores totalled 124 with 69 males and 55 females. The freshman had 53% males and 47% females for a total of 146. The freshman had the biggest class, while the seniors had the smallest. The staff had 58 members all together.

The students at Tell City High School make up a very unique group of individuals. Although Tell City High School is just like one big community, we classify ourselves into certain groups of people like the preps, athletes, or over-achievers, but all of us truly make Tell City High School what it is. No matter what size our school is or what group of friends we are in, we all make Tell City High School a better place to be. Everyone has a part in making it what it is today with our life, cameras, and our actions!

COMING TO AMERICA

This year, three foreign exchange students have traveled to America to live and study at Tell City High School. The three girls came from cities in Germany and Belgium.

Traveling all the way from Tuebingen, Germany, Josephine Wagner came to study in America. She says that she enjoys being here and that it is lots of fun in Tell City. She plays volleyball and swims for Tell City High School. She is also a part of the French and Spanish Clubs. She chose to come to America to get to know new people and experience American life.

Hannah Domanowski, another German exchange student, traveled from Woelfersheim, Germany. She stated that she really likes living in Tell City and that there are more things to do here than in her hometown. Hannah runs track, and she is a member of the French and Drama Clubs here at Tell City High School. Hannah chose to come to America to gain new experiences and learn more about different cultures.

Wanting to learn the "real" English, not the English learned from textbooks, Elisa Engels traveled to America to study. She traveled here from Gesves, Belgium. Elisa is a member of the French and Drama Clubs and is on the dance and tennis teams. She says she "really likes living in Tell City."

She mostly likes how everyone supports the city. She also wanted to travel because she loves to travel.

All three of the girls live in small towns like Tell City. They are very happy with their choice to come study in America, and they are all excited about the school spirit at Tell City High School.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE MARKSMEN

"Tell City we're mighty proud of you!" is a line from our school song that holds true for the Tell City Marksmen. This year we are proud to say that our love and spirit for our teams has grown due to the achievements made in each and every sport. Without our coaches, players, and the support of our community, our athletics would not be such a success.

Success for the Marksmen this year meant that our teams had winning seasons and participated in sectionals. Some teams went on to regionals, semi-state and some teams even made it to state! Beating longtime rivals and ranked teams were among the highlights for the Marksmen this year.

Our teams have practiced long and hard during the morning hours, late at night, on weekends, and even over the holidays. Each player deserves our praise for continuing a strong athletic tradition at Tell City High School.

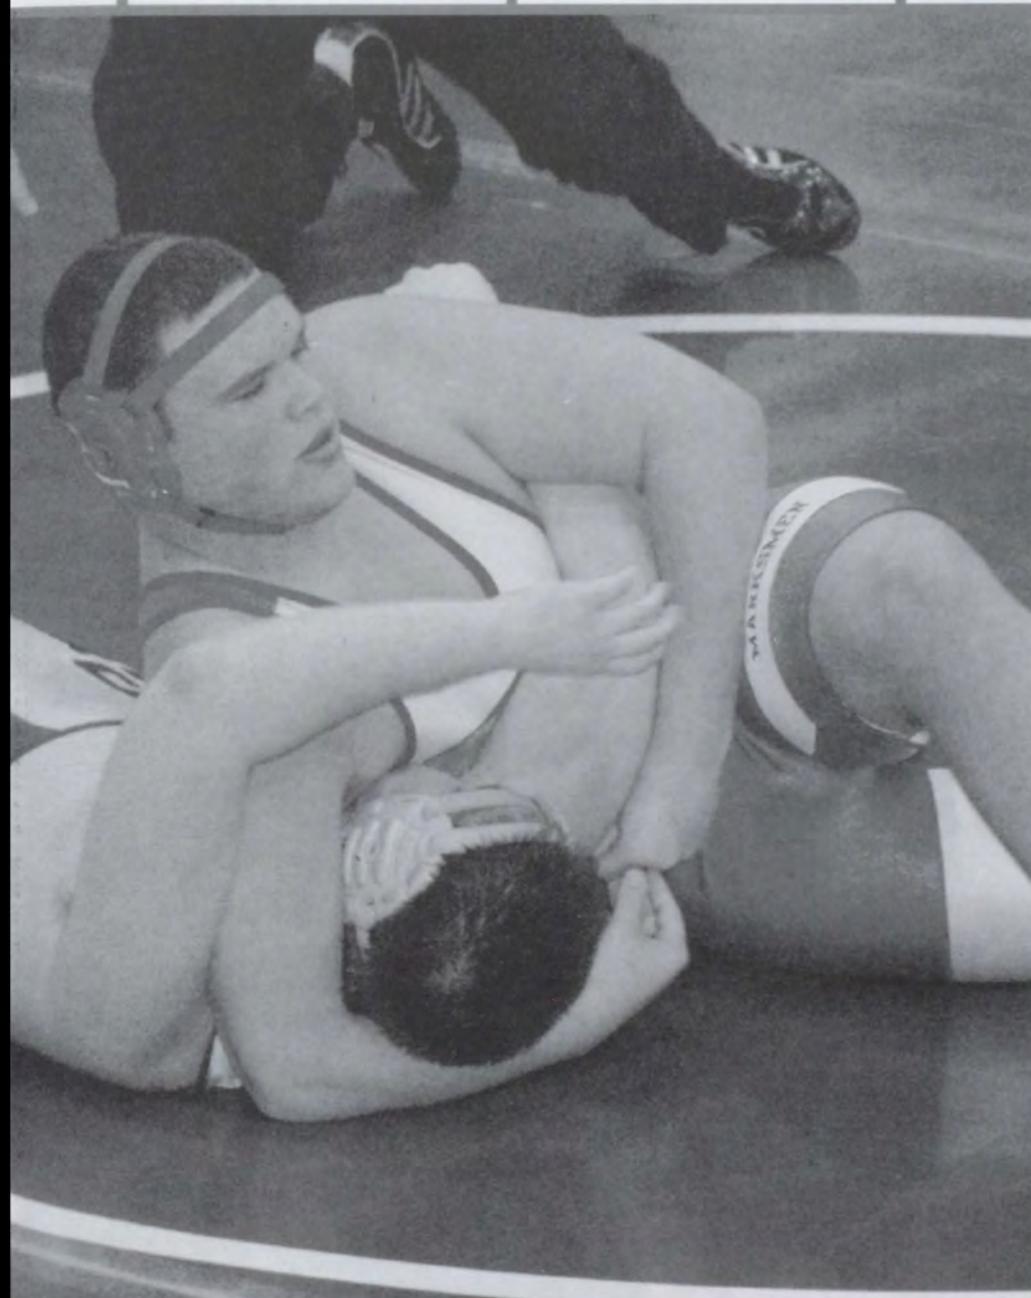

In this small town, students, teachers, parents, and members of the community rally around our school. Sports bring our peers together. No matter what problems or differences we face, we all have one thing in common: cheering our teams on with our lights, cameras, and our need for action.

Coach John Hayes shows intensity on the court with his players and the officials of the game.

Coming together before the Heritage Hills game, the Marksmen football players get themselves pumped up.

Many goals were met this year for the Tell City Marksmen football team, with the help of senior Jared Foury and junior quarterback Tyler Henning. Jared rushed 1159 yards with 191 attempts, while Tyler passed 51% for the season. For the first time in four years, the Marksmen achieved a winning season of 6-4 going into sectional play.

Achieving these goals was not an easy task. They had to overcome many obstacles along the way. One of those obstacles included the injuries of key players. Brad Richter suffered a concussion, Michael DuPre blew out his knee, and Dimitri Hemmings broke his collarbone to name a few. Despite these setbacks, the Marksmen fought their way through the season, beating teams such as South Spencer, Tecumseh, and North Posey. Senior Gregg Schipp said, "The hard work that everyone put in helped us become successful during the games."

Got Served

The Tell City High School volleyball team had a good season. This year was Coach Dalonda Hayes' first year coaching the high school volleyball team. The girls were worried about what it was having a new coach was going to be like. Everything worked out successfully. The team worked great together and formed relationships with one another. "It was a great experience, and I'm happy I got to be a part of this great year," said senior Emily Harpenau.

This season, the team tied for the most wins in Tell City High School history. The season record was 19-11. The team won first place in the Evansville Harrison and North Harrison tournaments, which were big accomplishments for the team.

The team worked on communication and concentration throughout the season and noticed players showing improvements on an individual basis as well as a team.

With the Wind

Senior Jessica Fenn and freshman Ashley Zellers pace themselves as they run in the Bedford North Lawrence meet.

The girls' cross country team opened their season on August 22 at IUSE. They placed first and from there, the girls continued to do exceptionally well, losing only 3 meets out of 13.

This year, the team won semi-state for the first time in 45 years. They went to state at Terre Haute on Friday, October 27 during fifth period class. Wishing them all the best of luck, the student body made a human tunnel and cheered them out the doors. The team placed 15th out of 20 teams at state making the 2006 team one of the best in Tell City High School history. "I would have to look at this team as the toughest, most prepared team that I have ever coached," stated Coach Beckort, who retired after the remarkable season.

The team has greatly improved within the last year. They had a lot of confidence this season, "which is very important in running," senior runner Myra Dauby commented. The girls' cross country team met many of their goals this season, including the PAC, sectional, regional, and semi-state wins.

We are all very proud of our girls this year for all of their hard work. We will never forget this year. Coach Beckort notes that the moment he will never forget "was watching the girls come down that last stretch at Bloomington thinking that we might have won semi-state." And that they did!

and the Furious

Senior Jacob Bower runs towards a first place finish during a September meet at Trinity High School. The team went on to finish 11th out of 30 teams.

The boys' cross country team had a very rewarding season. They also experienced one of the best years in Tell City history due to the fact that they placed five all-conference runners in the PAC Conference.

The boys' first invitational was held at Clarksville on August 22. They ended up finishing third, but they knew that they had a lot of work to do. As Coach Hollinden explained, "So many other schools improved in our area that our improvements were often over-shadowed by other schools' performances." The team would later go on to win at Boonville, Hancock County, Evansville Mater Dei, and the PAC Conference.

The main goal for the team was to go to state. Although they did very well in the PAC, the team fell just shy of attaining this goal. While they did not make it this year, they are confident they will next year. Senior Nick Duncan spoke for the whole team, saying, "...next year we will go to state!"

Senior Jack Tuggle and freshman Nick Bower run through the course at Hancock County. The team would later take first place at the meet.

The entire team gathers in a circle for a group huddle before the North Harrison meet. They would later take home a third place finish.

Tin Cup

Sophomore Megan Neyenhaus practices her swing. She wants to make sure she is ready for the upcoming match.

The girls' golf team finished yet another successful year. Although the team did not bring home a trophy, they did not fail in this year's amazing season. The girls proved to be competitive and determined. They did not give up and continued to show great spirit.

Coach Jim Meek noticed immense improvements in all the girls. Kara Gunn advanced in maturity and leadership. Jill Hammack had a greater focus than ever, and Amber Thomas gained in distance and control of her shots. As for Kelly Hess, Kaylyn Richard, and Megan Neyenhaus, they all went from a "zero-beginning" and earned their right to be on the course with anyone.

Coach explained that the six girls that made the team also established a foundation for the next two to three years. Expecting the team to grow, he believes the chances of their winning has also grown.

Grand

Slam

Sophomore Andy Chinn prepares to serve the tennis ball across the court to his opponent in a match of singles.

The boys' tennis team put forth a great effort, although they had many setbacks. The boys endured injuries to key players, which offset their season.

"I came into the year with high hopes, but an injury turned my season into a big disappointment," said senior boys' tennis player Brett LeClere. As one of the most valuable players on the team, this was not only a letdown to Brett, but to everyone else associated with the team. The boys' team finished the year with a record of 3-12. This was Coach Kreilein's third year coaching the boys' team and he noted that many of the players stepped up their game. "Tennis players are not born; they are made through years of hard work." He stated. The boys practiced every weekday to learn control and gain strength.

This year, the boys did not have any freshmen on their team. The boys' team may face further challenges in the coming seasons because of this. This year, the junior high made up a team of boys' tennis players for the first year ever in Tell City's history. This gives Tell City High School an opportunity to regain strength on the boys' team in seasons to come.

Love and Basketball

Junior Kara McClintic and sophomore Lauren Goffinet try their hardest to block the shot of a Hancock County player. The Lady Marksmen won 45-34. ●●●

The girls' basketball team had a fantastic year. Their record was 17-6, and they also had a 12 consecutive game winning streak. They tied the school record for most wins.

The team had set a goal at the beginning of the year to win 14 games. With many challenges such as not having enough depth, the girls overcame that to have one of the best years in school history.

With the girls' team having a strong year, they also formed a bond with how well they performed together. Senior Emily Harpenau stated, "My favorite part of basketball was just interacting with the girls every day."

The team improved in many ways as sophomore Lauren Goffinet said, "We improved our defense as a team."

It was an exciting year. Winning 12 consecutive games and tying the school record for most wins were just two of the highlights that made for an enjoyable year.

Road

Juniors Joseph Kohner, Eric Henrickson, and senior Jon Melberg flock under the net, outnumbering their Southridge opponents to grab a rebound.

The 2006-2007 season of Marksmen basketball was an exciting one. They were PSC Tourney champs, PAC Conference runners up, and sectional finalists.

This season, the Marksmen came close to winning four games by one point. Many of the game scores this season were very close. Coach John Hayes noted that one of their major weaknesses this year was the "struggle to pull through during close games late in the season." Despite these weaknesses, the Marksmen did very well this season.

The Marksmen have made many improvements this year individually and as a team. Kris Kast comments that his "free throws have improved tremendously" this year, while Jon Melberg said, "I improved my jump shot."

With a season record of 14-10, the student body along with the community praise our boys for their hard work this season.

Blue Crush

Senior diver Tina Reed pauses for a moment to take a deep breath and calm her nerves before her next big dive.

This season, the girls' swim team did very well with a winning season of eight and five. With improvements in times and attitudes, the girls swam into third place at PAC and seventh out of eighteen in the sectional.

Like all of our sports teams at Tell City High School, the girls' swim team faced many challenges. Coach Page had to say that the biggest challenge was the lack of numbers and Tina Reed being the only diver for the girls' team. When asked about the season, Tina commented by saying, "My favorite aspect of this season would have to be how much support the team gave me. Although I didn't practice with them, they were always there to support me."

When asked if the team's goals were met this season, Coach Page and his team had to answer with a "yes." Placing third in PAC and seventh in sectional were big accomplishments. Jordan Dauby couldn't have said it better when she stated, "We rebuilt all the pride that should always go into Tell City's swim team."

Competing in the 100 yard back stroke is senior Reece Hendershot. He surges ahead of his opponents. ●●●

With seven swimmers returning and six new faces, the boys' swim team achieved a season record of six and six. They placed third in the PAC and ninth of 18 teams in the sectional swim meet.

The team worked hard to achieve these accomplishments. They could be seen in the pool practicing at least nine times a week, with three morning practices thrown into the mix.

When asked what his most memorable moment was this year, Coach Mike Page said that it was senior night because, "The teams performed very well and it was a great way to say goodbye to our seniors."

When asked what his favorite aspect of swimming was senior Brandon Berger replied, "I like to practice with the team and feel the camaraderie at meets and during practice."

First Row: Corey Burriss, Nick Dauby, Trevor Nelson. Second Row: Josh Coultas, Zach Avallone, Nick Bower, Ryan Baumeister. Third Row: Issac Schaefer, Bryson May, Brent May, Reece Hendershot, Brandon Berger, Brett LeClere.

Newcomer freshman Nick Bower takes a deep breath before plunging down again while swimming the 100 yard breaststroke.

Junior Isaac Schaefer is swimming the 500 freestyle. This is his third year swimming for the Marksmen.

Lord of the Mat

Senior and state qualifier Logan Jefford shows why exactly he went to state. He stayed focused and it paid off.

When asked what his favorite aspect of wrestling is, Coach Joe Litherland replied, "In this sport you don't play favorites because each wrestler wrestles off every time he's challenged for that spot. When on the mat, it's just you and the other wrestler. The burden is yours and you can't blame someone else on the team."

The wrestling team accomplished twenty wins in two years. Logan Jefford was the only qualifier for state and this is their second year in a row beating Jasper.

A big challenge the team had was cutting and maintaining weight. Coach Litherland's challenges were just as important. He had to try to convince the team that they could compete with the bigger schools, and he had to give underclassmen the confidence that they needed to contribute to the team. The freshmen, in the end, progressed and stepped up when they were needed the most. The team never gave up and they came from behind to win several close matches.

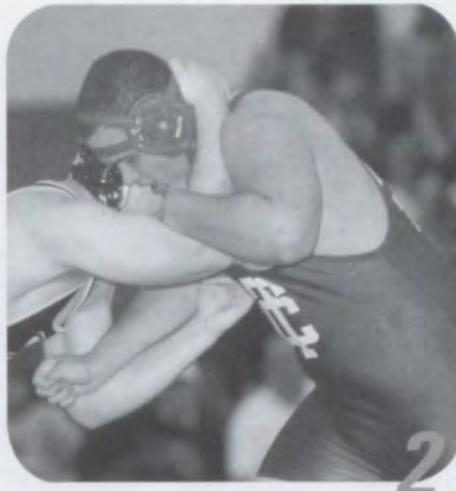

Wrestlers we are saying goodbye to this year are seniors Logan Jefford, Cody McDaniel, and Jack Tuggle. Good luck guys! As for the rest, we hope to see you next year for another great year of wrestling!

Freshman Dylan Froehlich shows us how much determination occurs in a match by not submitting to his opponent.

Match Point

Senior Sara Hess stretches high up in the air in order to reach the ball. Sara played doubles with Tina Reed this season.

The senior tennis players have shown great leadership this season. Making the change to doubles play for her last year, Sara Hess found it to be a difficult challenge. She said her best moment "was when Tina and I defeated Crawford County." This season, Crawford County was one of the team's most competitive opponents.

When asked what makes her perform well in tennis, junior Stephani Wrye answered with, "Having no distractions and setting my mind on what I want."

The girls on the team worked hard during the summer and fall to be prepared for the season. Coach Kreilein stated that they were a "great group of girls" and they have a "great incoming freshman class." With underclassman depth, the Marksmen look forward to building a strong team for the next season.

The boys' golf team started the year off slowly, but throughout the season they really improved. With all underclassmen on the team, there was a lack of senior experience to lead the way. This, however, did not hold our boys back for long. As a team, they worked well together.

The weather cooperated with the team this season. No games were cancelled due to rain, but the boys did have some complaints about the cold temperatures early in the season. They stayed strong, though, and played right through the season.

Many improvements were made this year. Junior Sean Risse stated that his "best improvement this year has been putting." Coach Meek noted that Jordan Alvey, Jake Roland, and Tyler Jennings made significant progress from the beginning of the season. He also stated, "This is the best putting average team I've had in my four years of coaching."

The team tied for sixth place in the PAC Conference. Ian Reed gained applause when he was selected by area coaches for All Conference.

After a long season, the boys' golf team did well. Our boys have gained experience and sportsmanship this season. We hope that the boys come back next year, strengthening the team and breaking record after record.

60 Seconds

Throwing in a shot put competition is junior Dana Sibrel. She has noticed her strength improving this season.

Following a successful year of track was going to be exceptionally difficult for the girls this year, but with determination and pride they pulled off another astounding year.

The hardest days to face in practice and meets were the cold, rainy, and windy days. Small numbers for this year's team did not help, but without a doubt the Marksmen proved themselves. Preparations for the team started in mid-February. The team had to be determined in order to keep up with intense conditioning. Some exercises included lifting weights, doing drills, running, and jumping. Doing this showed immense improvements in the girls.

Making sectionals, the team was faced with the challenge of postponement because of rain, but that still did not stop them from stepping forward and going to regional.

Coach Katie Chinn noted that the most improved girl on the team was junior Dana Sibrel. She won the discus competition with a personal record 110' 4" throw at sectional, and she came in second in shot put. Coach Chinn also recognized great parental support, something the team needed a lot of in order to keep up confidence with such a small team.

A great year of track is ended in a sad goodbye to this season and to the last year of Mr. Beckort coaching the team.

"MY FAVORITE ASPECT OF TRACK IS THAT IT IS A COMBINATION OF A TEAM SPORT AND AN INDIVIDUAL SPORT. YOU SORT OF DEPEND ON THE TEAM, BUT AT THE SAME TIME, YOU, YOURSELF, HAVE TO DO WELL."

Senior Quintin Stewart jumps over the bar. Quintin went on to tie the school record with his jump of 6 feet, 5 inches.

The Tell City High School boys' track team had a huge success this season. One of the main successes that Coach Hollinden stated was that they had the deepest and most talented team in years.

Although they had a lot of success, they also had to overcome weaknesses. Coach Hollinden said, "Our biggest weakness was finding time to focus on the jumping events." The team also endured injuries to some of the top seniors in the sprints. They were lucky enough to have the young guys pick up the slack.

Senior Quintin Stewart truly enjoyed his last season in track. He said, "I love to jump, and there is nothing better than clearing high heights and winning."

The team had a great year. They overcame many struggles, and they endured minor injuries to some of their top seniors. They realized what their top goal was, and they worked together to achieve it.

Due to the rain and the cold, the Tell City Lady Marksmen softball team got off to a pretty slow start, with three of their first five games having to be rescheduled. However, they overcame this bump in the road, with their first win at home against Perry Central.

The girls continued to win in the Lady Hornet Classic where they placed second out of seven teams.

With a strong PAC, the Lady Marksmen competed with teams such as North Posey, Gibson Southern, and Heritage Hills. This season the Marksmen were more defensively sound than they were in years past, with great senior leadership and a veteran infield. Senior Alicia Doogs tied the school record for most pitching wins in the season along with hitting a record-breaking four home runs for the season. The team finished with a record of 11-9 going into sectional play.

Eric Henrickson puts all of his attention into the game as he pitches the ball. Eric is a junior at Tell City High School.

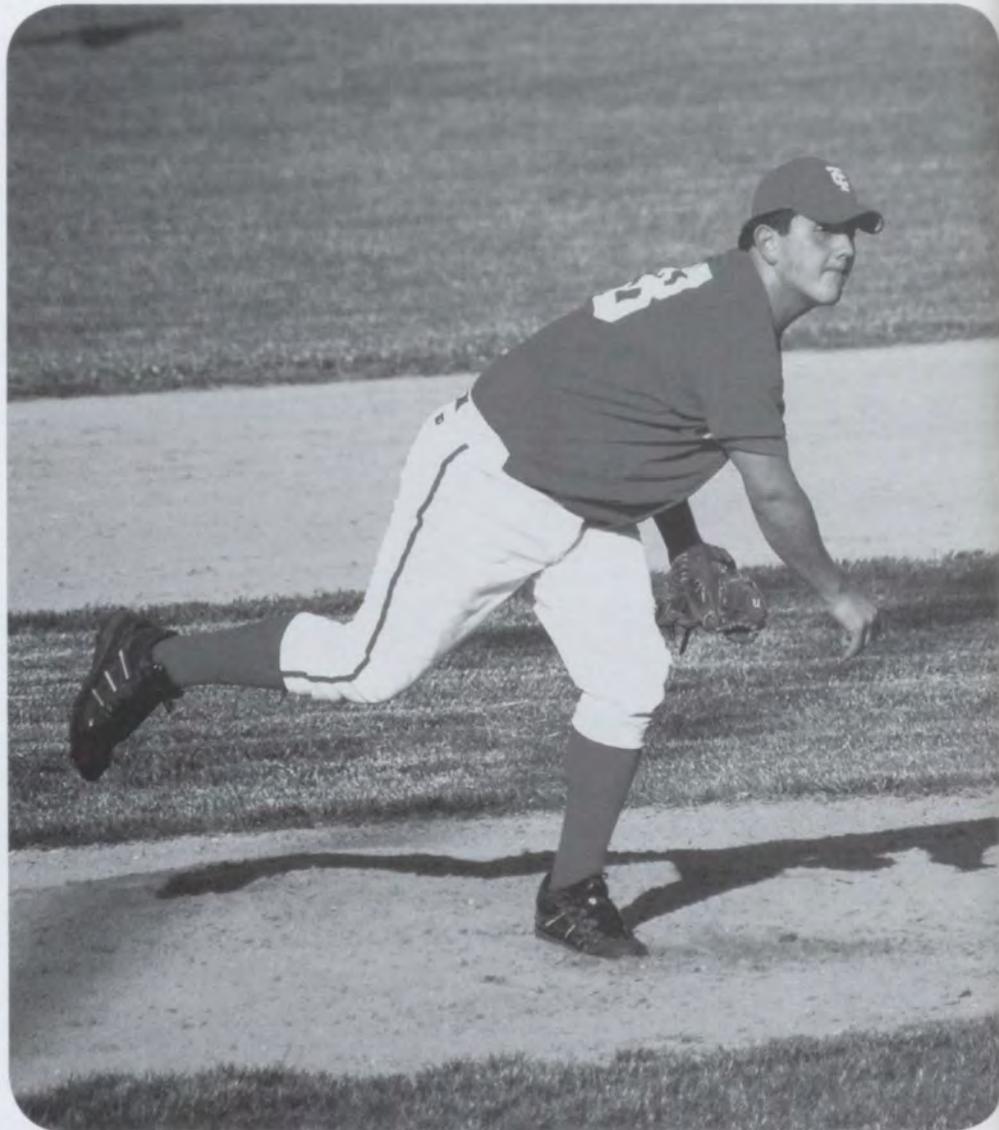

The Tell City High School baseball team had a good season. The team improved throughout the season with their hitting, defense, and their pitching. They also worked well as a team, putting forth a lot of effort at every game and practice.

The team stayed focused and were ready to play well at all their games. There was a lot of encouragement towards one another to get better and play to their fullest ability.

Coach Rhodes said, "The team encouraged each other to become better. This really helped the team this year."

Pat Little stated that his most memorable moment this season was when "freshman Mike Maddle hit a home run against all-conference pitcher Blake Monar."

With a .500 season, the Tell City baseball team has faced difficult teams. They played teams from bigger schools, which proved to be a challenge.

At the beginning of the year, the Marksmen cheerleaders did a lot to prepare for their season. They began with conditioning twice a week for two hours. They did activities like Tae Bo and they lifted weights. When the season started, they switched to one practice a week and started on their routine for competitions.

The cheerleaders competed in the state competition. They finished in second place. The cheerleaders set a goal for themselves at state, and according to senior Staci Upmeyer they accomplished their goal. She said, "Greenfield Central is who we wanted to beat and we did!"

Coach Amber Greulich said that "the cheerleaders really pulled together to learn their routines this year." She also said that "the seniors did a good job of leading the squad, but they also knew when to take a step back and just learn. I will miss the seniors and I wish them well with the next step in their lives, and I look forward to what the next class brings."

The Marksmen cheerleading squad had an overall successful season, as usual. They worked extremely hard and they did an amazing job of supporting their classmates who participated in extracurricular activities. We hope to see continued success from our cheerleaders in the coming years.

Junior Benji Koelling concentrates on the crowd while he plays the quads. This was the drumline's first performance of the winter season. ●●●

This year's winter drumline never expected less than 100%. That's what got them to the 2007 state finals competition. They practiced many hours during the week and on the weekends. They worked exceptionally hard to exceed their limits and to improve their younger group this year. In this year's show titled "Controlled," only seven of the twenty-three members were actually drummers. The remaining members transferred from other instruments. They received eleventh place out of sixteen schools in the state finals competition at Ben Davis High School.

The Tell City High School pep band plays pep music during basketball games and pep sessions. They play "The Star Spangled Banner" and the school song at the beginning of every home varsity game.

of Music

After what seemed hours of waiting, the Warren Central announcer was ready to reveal the awards. Disappointment fell on the Marching Marksmen's faces when North Posey was called as the third band to go to state. There were three good bands left, the other two being Paoli, state champs from 2005 and Forest Park, the band who had been scoring high in previous weeks. Their hearts soared when the announcer called out Tell City's name to be the 4th band to be invited to the State Finals Competition.

The State Finalist Competition was held on October 21, 2006 in Indianapolis at the RCA Dome. The Tell City Marching Marksmen performed their show "Hemispheres, Music of the World" at 6:07 pm. They ended up finishing 7th out of the 10 bands at State. That means they were 7th out of 145 bands in Class D in the state of Indiana.

Through the season the Marching Marksmen also attended invitationals. The first one was Heritage Hills. They received 3rd place. At Paoli, they received 2nd place, best percussion, and best general effect. At South Spencer, they also received 3rd place and best percussion. At the ISSMA District Competition they received a gold rating, which led them to Regionals.

The Marching Marksmen had a very successful season. They accomplished their goal of making it to state. They are hoping to continue their excellence during concert band season.

MAGNIFYING OUR EXCELLENCE

There were a wide variety of courses available to the students of Tell City High School this year. There were "hands on" classes such as Auto Mechanics and Health Occupations, "electives" such as art and band, and "required" courses such as U.S. Government and Biology I.

Each class that students chose to take depended on which diploma they wished to receive. The standard diploma was given to students who earned the minimum graduation requirement of 47 credits. 32% of the students in the senior class chose to try for the Core 40 diploma. This diploma maximizes opportunities for graduates and still allows them to participate in electives of their choice. The Academic Honors diploma is the most rigorous of all of the diplomas. When trying to earn this diploma, students are required to take a foreign language for three years, and acquire a minimum of 47 credits.

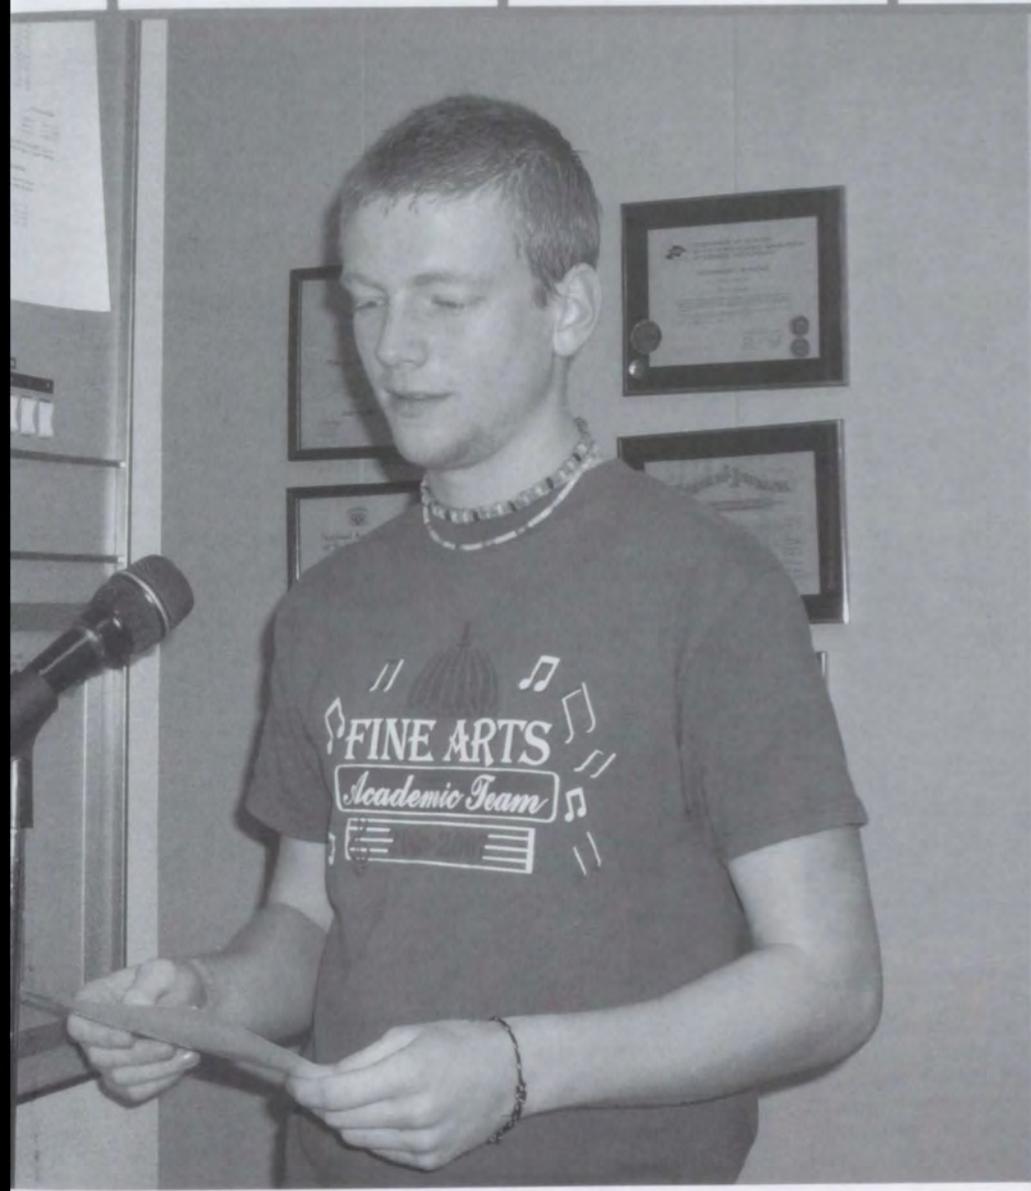

After four years of high school, when all of the hard work is complete, you can see the Light at the end of the tunnel, the Cameras as you walk across the stage to receive your diploma, and you gear up for the Action of the future to come.

Junior Logan McManaway works on shaping a transcription for Mr. Sommers 1st, 2nd, and 3rd period Heating and Air class.

PAY IT FORWARD

The Renaissance class meets every day during fourth period. There are 22 students in the class. Renaissance does a lot around the school. Some examples include: organizing the Academic Pep Rally, providing academic patches for letterman jackets, Red, White, and Silver Cards, providing Donut Wednesday, and giving the Raise the Lid Award. They also recognize Students of the Month and Stretch Award Winners.

Mrs. Kehl stated, "The Renaissance class has helped the school. First, it gives a group of students each year instruction and experience in taking on leadership roles. Also, the class runs most of the Renaissance Reward programs, which recognize our students for their accomplishments and encourage them to do even more. The Renaissance class impacts our school's academics, attendance, citizenship, and school spirit. The overall educational environment of the school is better because of Renaissance." To be in Renaissance, students must keep at least a 2.5 GPA, 95% attendance with limitations on the number of unexpected absences.

Junior Renaissance members Katie Wheatley and Mallory Dauby help get ready for a garage sale held in the Bryan Taylor Arena. The sale began at 7:00 a.m.

Tyler Henning, Isaac Schaefer, Josephine Wagner, Marianne Kruger, and Dana Sibrel enjoy eating pizza during their lunch. They all had perfect attendance for the first semester.

Senior Renaissance member Jacob Bower hands junior Jeremy Buckendahl a birthday card. Starting this year, Renaissance handed out birthday cards to all students on their birthdays.

Mrs. East is dressed up as a Kentucky Derby jockey. She took orders for the Celebrity Dinner.

Sophomore Renaissance class member Britney Hendershot and Junior Whitney Heck smooth a tablecloth for a pizza party for students that had perfect attendance for the first semester. This is the first year that the two girls were in the Renaissance program.

Junior Evan Marcum is looking ecstatic to be getting a birthday card. His birthday was on Saturday, March 18.

Junior Renaissance class members Jay Ziegelgruber and Adam Ramsey are dressed up as pirates for the Celebrity Dinner. They entertained the guests while they were being served.

Senior Renaissance class member Kris Kast carries a large tray of salads from the cafeteria into the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena for the Celebrity Dinner.

Academic Teams

"IF THE SENIORS ARE WILLING TO WORK, THE OTHERS ARE TOO. HOW THEY DO IS PRETTY MUCH HOW WELL THE TEAM WILL DO. THIS YEAR AT STATE FINALS, BY THE 23RD QUESTION, I KNEW WE WERE TIED FOR FIRST AT LEAST. BY THE 24TH, I KNEW WE WERE GOING TO WIN. WE GOT THE 25TH RIGHT JUST FOR SHOW. THIS WAS AN OUTSTANDING ACCOMPLISHMENT FOR OUR TEAM TO BE FIRST IN THE STATE. OUR STUDENTS RECOGNIZED THE CHALLENGE AND MET IT."

CLUBBING IN HOLLYWOOD

Do you want to be noticed? Do you want to be part of something? Are you the kind of person who enjoys having fun? Here at Tell City High School, there are many clubs to join. From serious to hard working or drama to comedy, there is a club for everyone.

If you are not in a club, you should consider it. Our clubs will allow you to meet new people, make new friends, help out the school and community, and have lots of fun. The clubs here at TCHS are a good way to keep our students active and involved. They unite our students as one and allow them to show their individual talents.

Come along and have fun with the Pep Club, SADD, French Club, Spanish Club, Advocates Club, Key Club, Renaissance, Student Council, HOSA, Drama Club, Outdoorsman Club, National Honor Society, CSA, Student Steering Committee, VICA, BPA. So bring on the Lights, Camera, and the Action and let's go clubbing!

Writing down the names of the Spanish Club members who are taking part in the Spanish v. French swim meet is historian and Sophomore Tory Coyle.

**//

IT'S NICE TO BE

DIFFERENCE IN OUR COMMUNITY."

-SENIOR KEY
CLUB SECRETARY
CHELSEA HORTON

During a Key Club meeting secretary Chelsea Horton discusses the progress being made on the mural at our local Tell City Sonic. Members donated their time and talent to showcase school spirit at the local restaurant.

Junior Marianne Krueger passes out the ballots for the 2007 Spring Fling candidates.

Senior Stephanie Groves uses InDesign to create the boys' cross country page of the yearbook. All of the pages of the yearbook were created using pre-made layouts on InDesign.

Lights, Camera, Action!

The yearbook staff consisted of ten members each semester, two of which were veteran members. This was the second year using the program InDesign CS2. All pictures were taken digitally and placed on page layouts that had been created on computer. This is a great improvement from the technique of handcropping pictures used in previous years.

The yearbook class has become much more efficient and organized in the past two years. This year was also the first year that the yearbook had an official editor. Kelsey Coyle took this position. She was in charge of proofreading pages, assisting her peers, and getting pages shipped off to the plant.

The 2007 Sagittarius yearbook, Lights, Camera, Action, was produced under the advisement of Ms. Wooldridge and Mrs. Aubrey. Kelsey Coyle was the editor. The book was published by Herff-Jones Publishing Company, 2800 Selma Highway, Montgomery, Alabama 36108. Page layouts were computer generated using

Adobe InDesign CS2. Mark Hisle served as the sales representative. The cover was designed by the class members at a workshop in September. Class members were Kelsey Coyle, Stephanie Harth, Amy Schroeder, Stephanie Groves, Olivia Kleeman, Robyn Applegate, Heather Badger, Dayme Terry, Brittany Conner, Kat Smiley, and Brooke Gunterman. The yearbook was sold for $45.00 with the opportunity for a $5.00 coupon. It contains 149 pages.

The yearbook staff extends a special thanks to Larry Goffinet from The Perry County News for sharing pictures for our sports section. We would also like to thank Danny Bolin, senior Ashton Zuelly, and other employees from Danny Bolin Photography for helping us out with many photos for the yearbook. Last but not least, we would like to thank all of the TCHS parents who shared their photos that they took at extracurricular events. Your help made the production of the 2007 Sagittarius yearbook, Lights Camera, Action, possible.
