"A State of Change" And Hope For The Future

In the eternal words of William Shakespeare, "Holy Saint Francis, what a change is here." The Tell City-Troy Township School Corporation has been through numerous changes during the 1992-93 school year. Some of these changes seemed to threaten the very cornerstone of our local educational system. On Thursday, August 27, 1992 Superintendent, Murray Pride announced his resignation; one day later, TCHS Principal, Mike Overmyer announced his resignation, leaving two administrative holes in the system. Both resignations were effective September 30, 1992. Citizens for Better Education rose out of this catastrophic week. However, as the dawn always comes, the end of November and early December brought Mr. Marion Chapman as Superintendent and Mr. Dan Freed as Principal.

The Classroom Teacher's Association has also had numerous meetings with the school board over the 1991-92, 1992-93 and the 1993-94 contract negotiations this year. Teachers picketed in opposition to numerous board decisions. At press time none of these contracts were settled.

However, even during all of these administrative problems the teachers continued to perform their jobs excellently. This year also experienced the addition of four new teachers: Mrs. Brenda Black, Miss Jo Ann Deich, Miss Amanda Wagner and Mr. Tracy Runyon.

Even though things were changing, teachers and students continued their quest for education and excellence.

The TCHS Marksmen football and wrestling teams also had quests for excellence this year. Head Coach Mike Spencer and his varsity team had a twelve game consecutive winning streak which had never happened in the history of TCHS. The Marksmen won The Big Eight Conference, the Sectional and the Regional. However, the Westfield Shamrocks defeated the Marksmen at home 7-0 in the Semi-State competition.

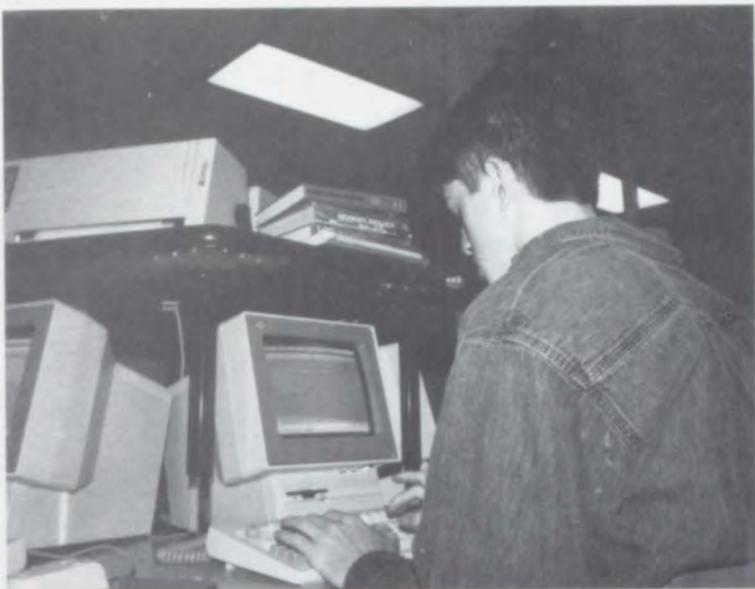

The Marksmen wrestlers won the first Big Eight Championship title in the history of Tell City High School in January.

The English department joined many high schools across the nation this year when an IBM computer writing lab was added to the school. Twenty-eight IBM computers with 386 processors were purchased. The lab has allowed all of the English teachers to integrate computers and more writing into their individual curriculums. The school corporation trained the English teachers during four in-service days.

Many things have changed in the Tell City-Troy School Corporation and in the world. The year 1992-93 indeed has been a State of Change. However, all things considered, the changes will help lead us into a stronger and more productive future.

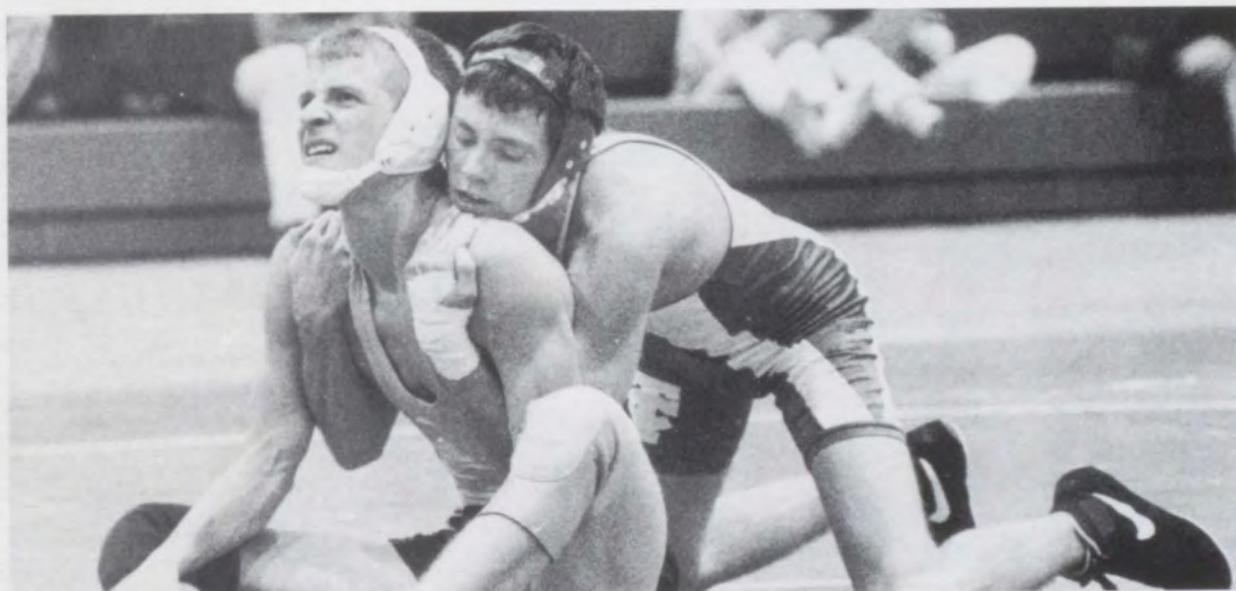

The fall of 1992 brought teachers picketing in opposition to numerous board decisions.

STUDENT LIFE

Three students experience Canada for 5 days

Trip brings cultural awareness

The summer of 1992 brought excitement to three French students and their teacher. Mrs. Dowlut took Laura Mahaney, Tamara Schulze, and Karrie Goffinet on a five day tour of Canada. The students traveled to Montreal and Quebec City where they toured the Notre-Dame Basilica, which is the largest building in North America seating up to 7,000 people. They also visited the 83 meters high Montmorency Falls which is approximately 30 meters higher than Niagara Falls. They feasted one evening at The Festin du Gouverneur. The Festin du Gouverneur is on an underground island and guests must take an underwater subway to get there. It is set in the 18th century and guests pretend that the governor invited them to eat with him. A man from Quebec dresses up in 18th century clothes and pretends to be the governor. The governor sits at the head of an 18th century wooden, long table with benches. Since forks did not exist in the 18th century, guests are not given any utensils other than a knife. In fact guests often find that their hands work just as well as their knives.

The food is served by waiters and waitresses in 18th century clothing and while guests eat, singers and actors put on a comedy.

When asked about the French trip Mrs. Dowlut replied, "C'etait magnifique!" (It was magnificent!) Karrie said, "I enjoyed the experience of the different culture and I loved the French food." Tamara said, "I had a great time and enjoyed hearing the sounds of real French." Laura commented that, "I liked the different sites and someday would like to go back to Canada."

The junior class showed that they had school spirit. They won the hall decorating contest with their design.

Spirit & Pep Days

Tell City High School has a lot of school spirit. It especially shows when there are pep sessions and spirit weeks.

During spirit week there were days when students dressed like hippies, hillbillies and twins. There was also a toga day in the fall. Many of the students participated in the various dress up days. Some of the events at the pep sessions were the tug of war and the pie throwing contest. It got a little messy sometimes, but it was fun.

Senior, defensive end, Ben Cullen, shows his spirit as he waves the Tell City flag.

Twin Day was a memorable occasion for Jaime Hartz, Sara Wathen, Michelle Collins and Tia Ferraro.

Fall Homecoming

Jamie Quick named 1992 Queen Jeremy Pappano named King

The week of September 21-25 created a feeling of anxiety throughout the school with the upcoming football game against Washington and the annual Homecoming that was to be held during half-time of the game. The school participated in a spirit week to show their school spirit. Each day was designated as a different dress up day. On Friday, September 25, a pep session was held to wish all the football players and the Homecoming king and queen nominees good luck.

The four guys and four girls nominated were called onto the gymnasium floor and were presented balloons by Chantell Bolin. They were: Candy Sorrell and her escort Jeremy Temple, Jamie Quick and her escort Jeremy Pappano, Kelly Toothman and her escort Lee Chestnut, and Andi Paulin and her escort Jeremy Lindsey. The underclassmen nominated one girl from each class to be their Homecoming class attendant and each girl chose an escort. The junior class chose Sonia Brinksneider and she chose Chris Hendershot as her escort. The sophomore class chose Jennifer Kennemore and she chose Gary Howland as her escort. The freshman chose Valarie Daum and she chose Rick Summers as her escort.

When September 25 finally rolled around everyone was ready to hear the outcome of both the football game and the Homecoming election. Then the time came for the court to take their places on the field. Each had her fingers crossed and hoped that her name would be called, however, each one knew that only one could win. The results were called and the school had chosen Jeremy Pappano and Jamie Quick as their 1992 Football Homecoming king and queen. However, the candidates were not the only ones in the spotlight that night.

The Tell City Marksmen played the Washington Hatchets and shut them down 41-3. The football team showed all the fans just how good Tell City could be.

"Shake It Up Santa"

No one would stop for Santa on December 18, 1992. Maybe, it just was not his night or maybe people did not realize what the trouble was — no Rudolph's nose had not burned out, nor had Dancer gotten a flat antler. The truth was, that Santa's truck had run out of gas in Buehler's Buy Low parking lot. What was Santa doing in a 1983 GMC Sierra? Santa, was in reality, senior, Matt Finley who had been talked into playing Santa for the Christmas Dance, "Shake It Up Santa." Matt ended up walking to the high school in his Santa suit from Buehler's parking lot because people would only wave as they passed.

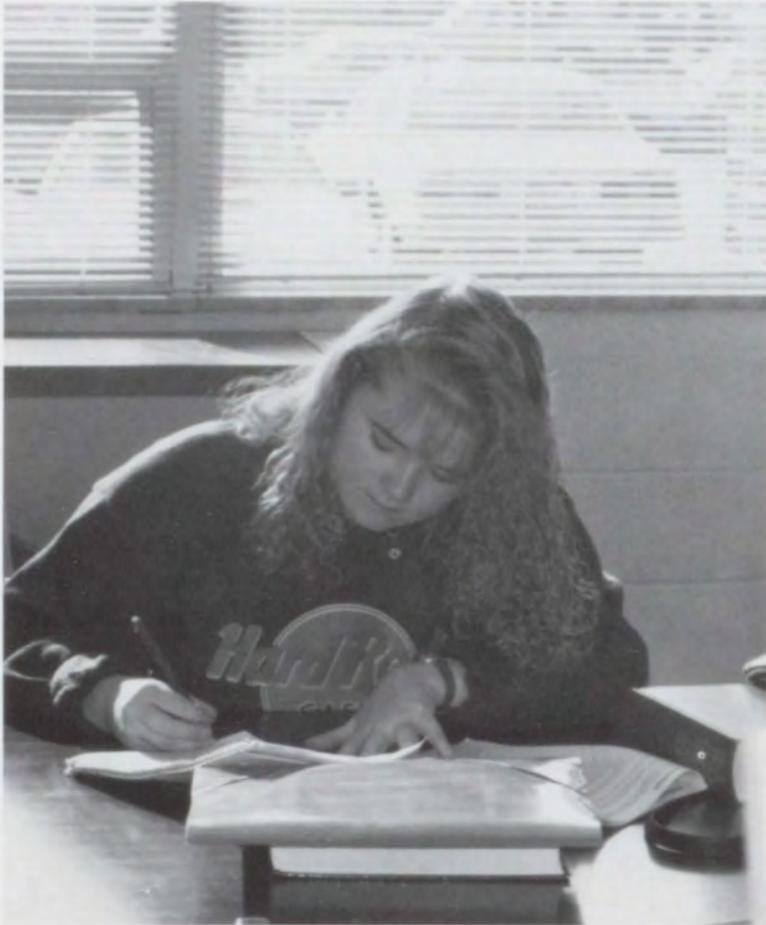

Many students really enjoyed dancing to the song, "Shout." One student who got into the spirit was Amy Hawkins.

Ben Cullen and Kelly Toothman crowned Basketball Homecoming King and Queen

Excitement filled the air at the announcing of the basketball homecoming king and queen on January 29, 1993 in the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena. Kelly Toothman was crowned homecoming queen and Ben Cullen was crowned king between games when Tell City played Jasper. Queen candidates were Chantell Bolin, Andi Paulin, Candy Sorrell and Kelly Toothman.

King candidates were Lee Chestnut, Ben Cullen, Jeremy Lindsey and Chris Spencer. The junior class attendants were Jennifer Stout and Amos Masterson, the sophomore class attendants were Missy Pund and Davin Harpe and the freshmen class attendants were Elizabeth Carney and Ryan Oberhausen. The king and queen were picked by secret ballot by the student body during homeroom.

A night to be remembered forever in the hearts of many -- Prom '93

April 23, 1993. Royal blue, pink, and silver decorations completed this year's prom setting. The walls of the National Guard Armory were covered in royal blue paper with stars scattered out on it. The dance floor was decorated with multi colored metallic streamers and the music was pumped out by the DJ, Kevin Feldpaush. The theme song chosen by the junior class was "I'll Always Love You," by Whitney Houston. Groups and couples lined up from 5:00 to 12:30 to have their pictures taken by Emerson's. As the night dwindled the excitement mounted to find out who the student body chose as the 1993 prom king and queen from the four girls and guys chosen as royalty. After the announcement that Matt Mowery was chosen as King and Sherida Parker was chosen as Queen, the DJ conducted the garter ceremony. All the guys lined up on their knees and the girls lined up across the floor from them and on the count of three the girls approached the guys, placed their foot on their dates' knees and the guys removed their garter. They then placed the garter around their arm and the girls placed their dates' bow tie around their neck. The rest of the night groups gathered on the dance floor to dance to music ranging from "Hip Hop Hooray" by Naughty By Nature, to "YMCA" by The Village People. Where that song came from no one knows but everyone did have a good time dancing to it!

Hard Rock T.C.H.S.

Hard Rock was the theme for this year's After Prom. The After Prom was put together by some of the junior and senior parents and some members of the Tell City High School staff. It began at 12:30, immediately following the prom, and ended at 3:30. Everything available at the after prom was free. There was food for everyone which included ice cream, donuts, pizza, hamburgers, snacks and cokes. There were trike races for those who fantasize about being a race car driver, caricatures for those who thought they had no faults, casino games just like the ones in Vegas, line dancing and the Texas-Two Step for those wanting to perfect their dancing skills. There was also a most wanted bulletin board posted. If you could bring one of the pictured criminals to jail you would receive tickets for prizes. For that person to get out of jail they had to perform a certain task. No "get out of jail free" cards accepted. For those who always wanted to be a country or rock singer there was karaoke. Prizes were given away all night ranging from five dollar gift certificates to a word processor. The horse roping stand seemed to be one of the more popular ones. Although the horse you rode didn't move, Tia Ferraro still seemed to be bucked off. All in all it was a fun filled night — alcohol free!

Exchanging a year of her life for a year of foreign experiences

Kristin Persson, 18, of Eslav, Sweden, was an exchange student at TCHS this year. Even though she graduated from TCHS she will still have two years of schooling left when she returns home. The year spent in the United States will not count towards her diploma in Sweden. Kristin thinks that school is easier in the U.S. because many of her classroom tests were multiple choice as opposed to essay tests in Sweden.

Kristin became an exchange student because her cousin had been one in Pennsylvania. Kristin had heard her cousin's aunt talk about it a lot and it sparked her interest. She feels fortunate to have come to the US because it costs a lot of money and she did not receive a scholarship.

Kristin spends her weekends the same way many teenagers do. She has many friends with which to "drag Main" and go to Evansville and Owensboro. In Sweden she likes to go to discos and play a game called Orienteering. She said that she will miss the people she met here but she is excited to get back to her friends and family. She is scared that things will not be the same when she gets back to Sweden. Kristin left Tell City on June 26, 1993.

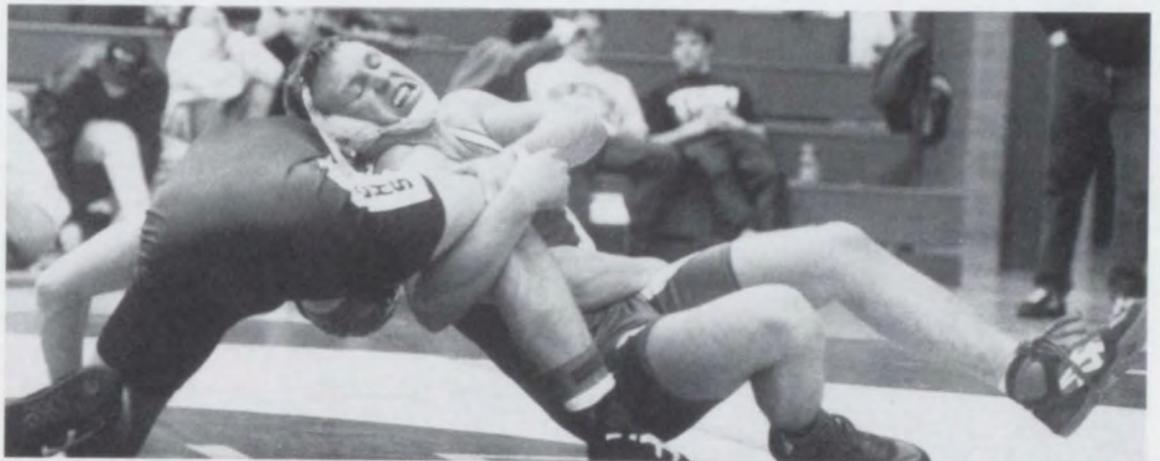

After graduating from TCHS Kristin Persson will have two more years of schooling in Sweden. However, Graduation night she was all smiles after the ceremony.

After the Commencement ceremony, Kristin Persson and Bobbie Parker speak with a friend.

Art challenges the mind and spirit through creativity

Art is considered the exhibition of skill, aesthetic principles and creative imagination in the production of the beautiful or the meaningful. Art allows people to be creative and to be themselves. There is not one set way to show your creativity.

At TCHS there are a variety of art classes in which students can enroll. In Art I students learn about the history and fundamentals of art. The second year classes include Painting, Drawing, Ceramics and Weaving.

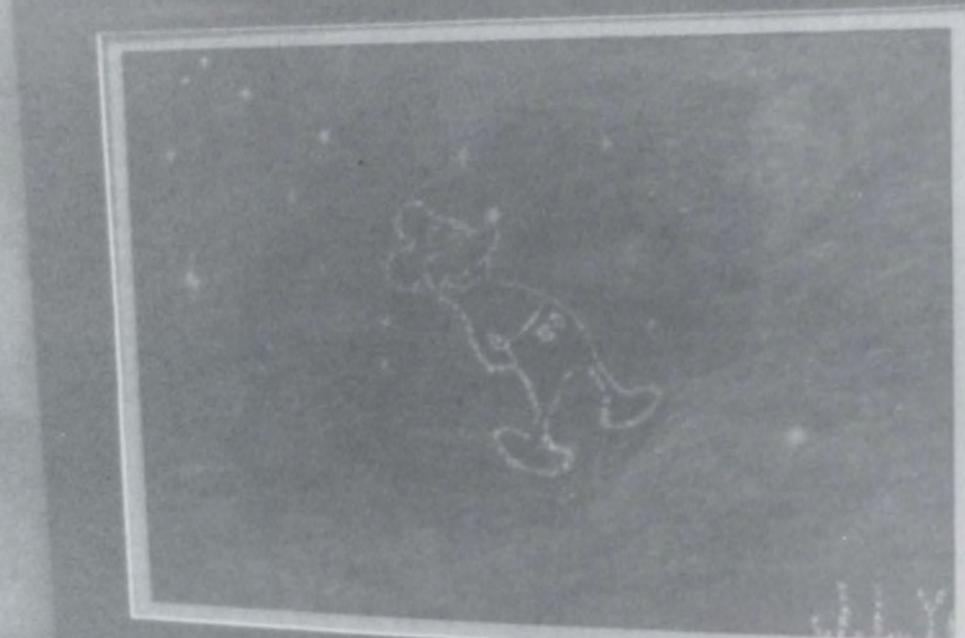

Amy Poole displays her painting of Puddy, Robert Jordan's cat.

Mary Bittner displays her interpretation of a footstool.

Did you know? Auto Tech has changed over the years

Steve Nix's 427 big block Chevrolet engine.

In the last few years the modern car has become a complex machine. It is no longer like the old model "T." The average car has over 12,000 different parts. With all of these parts and cars on the road today, properly educated mechanics are in high demand. Auto Technology at Tell City High School introduces you to the major parts of a car. By learning about the main components, you are better prepared to work on cars. Many seemingly unrelated parts can affect each other. This makes it very hard to locate some problems. This is also the reason good mechanics are in high demand.

An automotive system is a group of related parts that perform a specific function. A car's steering wheel is part of the steering system. This system allows the driver to turn the front wheels. The brake pedal is one part in the braking system. This system allows the driver to slow or stop the car.

The frame of a car refers to a very strong, steel structure that supports the other components of the car. Some cars have frames separate from the body. Many new cars use the internal body structure as a frame. This is called unitized construction, space frame, or unibody. Some inner body sections are strengthened so that they can support the engine, suspension, and other major parts.

The suspension system lets the car's wheels move up and down with little or no body movement. This helps the car ride smoothly and safely. The suspension system must also prevent the car from leaning excessively in turns. Various springs, bars, swivel joints, and arms make up the suspension system.

The steering system allows the driver to control vehicle direction by turning the front wheels right or left. It uses a series of gears, swivel joints, and rods.

The brake system produces friction to reduce speed or stop the car. When a driver presses the brake pedal, fluid pressure expands the brake mechanism on each wheel. The front apply the most pressure first. Then the farther the brake pedal is pushed down the pressure on the front and rear is evened out.

The engine provides the energy to move the car and to operate other systems. Most car engines run on gas or diesel fuel. The fuel burns in the engine to produce heat. The heat causes expansion and pressure. The pressure can then be used to move the parts of the engine and produce power. An engine is usually located in the front of the chassis. With the heavy engine in the front, the car is safer in a head-on collision. A few cars have the engine mounted in the rear.

The Auto Technology class is a class that teaches you about the basic principles in a car. The car of today is a very complex machine. The fuel system and electrical system take many hours of study to completely understand. Proper service and repair methods are critical to the safe, reliable operation of an automobile. The Auto Technology class will teach you these proper methods and enable you to repair a car properly.

You Gotta Try if you want to succeed

The Marching Marksmen experienced a change over the summer — Mr. Tracy Runyon became the new director. Rehearsals had already begun when Mr. Runyon arrived but the band accepted and welcomed Mr. Runyon. Tell City has had quite a band tradition with this year's seniors being the last group to march in the Hoosier Dome as freshmen. However, the size was down this year but the sound and skill was still good. The Marching Marksmen did not make it to State but they did accumulate numerable awards throughout the season.

The Marching Marksmen did a show modeled after The Blue Devils drum corp. The jazz numbers included You Gotta Try, Masquerade and Pinball Wizard.

During concert season the band received a first division rating at concert contest.

Building a state of change at T.C.H.S.

Building Trades is a class that is not for everyone. The people that take this class get to suffer through the extremely hot and cold months of the year.

This year they built a ranch style house with a full basement, deck and a patio. The house has a total of thirty-four hundred square feet, which is a relatively large house. The cost of all the materials exceeded eighty-five thousand dollars. A partial list of materials would include lumber, nails, concrete blocks, shingles, bricks and mortar. The house was built by the Building Trades class in order to keep the cost down. If the house were done by a commercial contractor it would have cost somewhere around one hundred fifty to one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars.

The students ran into every possible problem one could run into when building a house. The worst problem encountered was rocks in the ground when digging for the foundation. The house could not be finished at the end of the school year by the students because of its size. The house will be finished by the owner.

The students do not have any actual set deadlines, but they try to finish each house they build by the end of the school year. The house will be owned by Bill Alvey. It sits on a hill on the way out of Tell City overlooking Highway 37.

Student managed bank opens - The Marksmen Teller

The Marksmen Teller is a new program that was started up this year in order to let the students and faculty save their money at a higher interest than that of the community banks. This program is sponsored by the banks of Tell City and Cannelton. The micro/mini class was given the job of organizing how the bank would be set up, run, and determine the most convenient available location. The class members are John Kellems, Sonia Brinksneider, Ryan Clark, Farrah Richardson, Nick Waninger, Shannon Duke, Charlotte Buchanan, Karmen Young, Brandi Paulin, and Mrs. Farmer. The local banks, through the year, kept an eye on them just in case they needed some help or had some questions. The students' parents helped decorate the inside of the bank and they also provided a sign that has the bank name and the Marksmen logo. The Marksmen Teller held a contest at the beginning of the year in order to get the students and faculty aware of the bank, and to get them involved in it. The contest involved naming the bank, and whoever's name was picked and received the most votes for their name of the bank, won a gift certificate from Sports World. The Marksmen Teller is an easy way for students to pinch their pennies for lunches and other money taking things. If a student is unable to pay for a school related activity or event, then they can go to the Marksmen Teller and take out a loan. There were many new and exciting programs that were started up this year, but the Marksmen Teller was exciting and very student orientated.

Business readies students for future

The Business department consists of nine different classes: Accounting I & II, Keyboarding I & II, Marketing, Economics, Micro-mini, Intensive Office Lab, Business Law, Office Procedures, Introduction to Business and Business Math.

Mr. Whitaker teaches Accounting, Marketing, Economics, Introduction to Business and Business Math. In Economics students play a stock market game once a week. First semester's team finished first in the Louisville district out of 72 different teams. The school won $75 for winning the game.

Mrs. Marshall teaches Accounting I & II. The Accounting II class took a field trip to the University of Southern Indiana for an Accounting seminar.

Mrs. Krieg teaches Keyboarding I & II and Office Procedures. In Office Procedures, typing skills are enhanced and knowledge in operating a word processor is gained.

Mr. Busse teaches Keyboarding I & II and Business Law. The Business Law class incorporates the understanding of the law and legal terms.

The business classes at TCHS were designed to prepare students for entry level positions in the business world. With the help of these business courses, TCHS students are better prepared to face the future.

Canoe canoe?

In the middle of May the Science Club decided to try baptism by water—river water that is. The Science Club, sponsored by Miss Deich, took a 14 mile canoe trip down Blue River. At 9:00 in the morning nine canoes started in the cold, rapidly moving water—thirty minutes later some of the chaperones were soaked.

However, the chaperones did not go under without a fight. As students and teachers alike were armed with Super Soaker squirt guns the day began with a cold start. As most people learned, canoeing well is a necessity over the rapids. However, necessity being the mother of invention, everyone after about two hours was a much better canoeist than when he/she began. Almost everyone had to learn how to flip their canoe back over after it was full of water. Some people spent more time going in circles than they did in a straight line but everyone had a good time. Two students looked like they were sailing there for a while because they kept tacking back and forth across the river. There was one particular place about at the seven mile marker called “The Shute” which turned almost everyone’s canoe over. People who survived the treacherous “Shute” sat below it on the river and watched everyone else crash as they came off the rapids. Barring a few scrapes and bruises everyone survived and enjoyed the day.

Future singing stars start off stunningly, stupendously and simply in high school

The future singing stars of America start in high school. Where do they learn how to develop their talent? In chorus, of course! Taught by Mr. Barry Reasoner, these singers further themselves in his class by performing in concerts, contests, and even T.C.H.S. drama productions. He does not just want these students to learn HOW to sing music, he wants them also to learn WHY. That is one thing he has been really impressed with this year. "It's really great. I can hand the kids something to sing that is old and has Latin in it and they won't go on strike."

These sixteen students have a yearning to sing, sing well, and sing new things. They have been given the chance to show what they have learned about harmony several times. The first opportunity was during the National Honor Society Induction ceremony, then they sang in the Christmas concert. There were also some students who decided to venture out on their own in a solo competition in February. Those students were: Michelle Jones, Farrah Richardson, Andy Zellers and Jaimie Howell. Mr. Reasoner led his singers to the I.S.S.M.A. Organization contest in April where they won a 1st Division rating for the fifth year in a row.

In the classroom students are graded on their performance in concerts, but they are also given singing tests.

"I am really confident about the future of vocal art because of the enthusiasm the students show in class. I can't single out one person to be the most improved because all of them are very impressive," said Mr. Reasoner. He also said Mr. Freed, principal, had told him, "The only problem I can find in the chorus class is why more people don't do it."

Danica Huffman looks through the numbers scheduled to be rehearsed for the day.

C & I - A class that prepares students for the working world

Commercial and Industrial Maintenance is one of the vocational courses offered at Tell City High School. Students may take the course for a number of reasons. This course helps develop skills in welding, brazing, and machine work. Commercial and Industrial Maintenance also prepares students seeking higher education in those areas after high school. The course is only available the first three periods and may be taken for two years. Mr. Hauser instructs the course and he says that he feels it is essential in developing industrial skills. Students say they enjoy the course and the opportunity they get to work on projects of their own. However, the course is only open to juniors and seniors. The reason for this is that the course was designed to be taken for two consecutive years after completing metals one and metals two. Students from Perry Central and Cannelton may also take the course.

Any Dream Will Do -- Joseph and One-Act Festival comprised theatre season

"It was red and yellow and green and brown and scarlet" These words to "Joseph's Coat" were drilled into cast members' minds and voices but it all paid off when Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat was presented in late March by the TCHS Theatre Department. Joseph is by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice. Over sixty students participated in the production including set construction, painting and ticket sales. Cast members included Carrie Brewer, Robert Jordan, Greg Jarboe, Amy Poole, Nancy Scales, Andy Zellers, Kelly Wolfe, Brandi Mattingly, Kris Walsh, Chuck Coffey, Aaron Brown, Neelson Foster, Michelle Jones, Stephanie Syler, Kevin Smith, Amy Syler, Sara Reasoner, Jennifer McManaway, Stephanie Keilman, Carmella Senior, Katie Kress and Zayna Dowlut. Kevin Fortwendel was stage manager, Jimmy Carter was assistant stage manager, Jeff Davis, Ryan Hoesli and Debra Held worked on lighting, Vanessa Payne worked on props and Greg Jarboe was the head technician.

The set for Joseph took over 100 hours to build. The rotating, lighted pyramid took over 40 hours by itself. Rehearsals for Joseph ran from January when school started back until March 26, 27 & 28 when the show was performed.

In November the Theatre Department presented The 1992 Festival of One-Act Plays. When God Comes For Breakfast You Don't Burn the Toast, Who? and the monologue Clear Glass Marbles were performed. Miss Magner said that she "wanted to have students begin to see productions from more angles than just performing" so she looked for a student director. Carrie Brewer directed When God... "I want students to begin to see the whole process of theatrical productions — everything from casting to the frustrations to the excitement on opening night." When God... poses the question, what would you do if the Almighty stopped by for breakfast? Kelly Wolfe starred as God, while Tracy Paris played Harry and Alicia Schafer played his wife Beatrice in When God...

Who? was written by a group of high school students from Lexington, Kentucky. It concerns the death of a young man at a Who concert in Cincinnati and his feelings about his life as he looks at it in retrospect. Greg Jarboe played Zach, Aaron Brown played his best friend Bob, Amy Poole played his girl friend Lisa, Stephanie Keilman played his distraught mother and Stephanie Syler played his English teacher Miss Ploch.

Clear Glass Marbles was performed by Zayna Dowlut. The daughter in Clear Glass Marbles retells the last few months of her mother's life before she died of cancer. Dowlut emphasized the loss by dumping the marbles at the end of the monologue.

Camels in the halls of TCHS? The camels were part of the set for Joseph. Getting them into the auditorium presented a bit of a problem but Aaron Brown, Kevin Fortwendel, Greg Jarboe and Debra Held managed to carry them up the stairs.

Ishmaelites Kelly Wolfe and Brandi Mattingly look over Joseph (Robert Jordan) before he is sold into slavery by his brother Dan (Michelle Jones.)

The brothers rejoice in One More Angel In Heaven after they have sold their brother Joseph into slavery. Their father (Greg Jarboe) is comforted by Aaron Brown as the jealous brothers tell him that Joseph is dead. The brothers were Stephanie Syler, Kris Walsh, Neelson Foster, Michelle Jones, Nancy Scales, Andy Zellers, Greg Jarboe (Jacob), Aaron Brown, Chuck Coffey, Jennifer McManaway and Amy Syler.

Joseph who was sold into slavery reflects on his desperate condition in Close Every Door. Robert Jordan portrayed Joseph.

Potiphar, who Joseph was sold to, was quite a tap dancer. The chorus and narrator join in on the tap number here while Joseph and Potiphar discuss business matters. Carmela Senior, Sara Reasoner, Amy Syler, Carrie Brewer, Stephanie Keilman, Zayna Dowlut and Stephanie Syler were the tap line.

Performing the tambourine routine from Joseph's Coat are Carrie Brewer, Andy Zellers, Michelle Jones, Sara Reasoner, Kevin Smith, Kelly Wolfe and Robert Jordan.

Amy Poole as the seductive, Mrs. Potiphar is carried in by Kris Walsh, Chuck Coffey, Andy Zellers and Neelson Foster.

English classes look, listen and learn

Herman Melville, Ernest Hemingway and Webster have all visited Tell City High School this year. Was there a convocation you slept through? Was there a special homeroom for which you forgot to read the announcements? Did these legends come during a pep session? No, of course not! If you were paying attention during English class then you would know that all of these people have contributed something to the field of literature.

Miss Magner, Mr. Spencer, Mrs. Buckman, Mr. Waters, Mrs. Kramer and Mrs. Hall were given the chance to teach from a new source. The new IBM computer system installed in TCHS was an excellent tool in the English department's hands.

The classes took several trips throughout the school year. Mrs. Kramer and her Themes in Literature class went to the grade schools for "story" day. Her class wrote stories and then presented them to students from kindergarten to third grade.

Mrs. Buckman's class went to a slightly different place. Her sophomore gifted and talented class journeyed to Huber Funeral home. They were discussing the subject of physician assisted suicide and wanted to know more about embalming and funeral services. Mrs. Buckman called Huber's and set a date to visit. They were given a tour of the building. They also learned the embalming process and preparation of the body for burial.

Mr. Spencer's speech classes were given the chance to read the announcements for the first time over the P.A. system every morning.

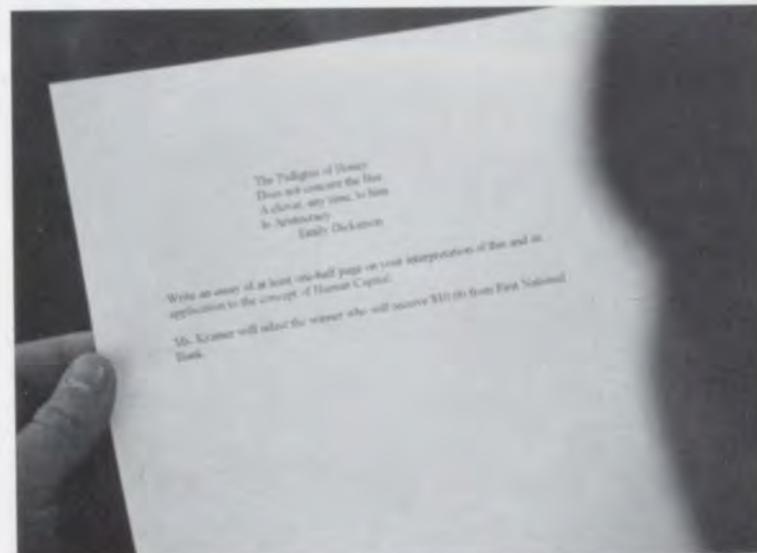

Mr. Waters and Mrs. Hall initiated a Writing Club for students interested in freestyle writing. Students were given the chance to express themselves through their own styles of writing without being given a certain topic on which to write. What they wrote was strictly up to the students.

Miss Magner's Mass Media class revived the school newspaper for the first time in ten years. The new name was decided to be The Arrow's Point.

Jenny Roberts utilizes the new IBM computers that were installed for the English department's use.

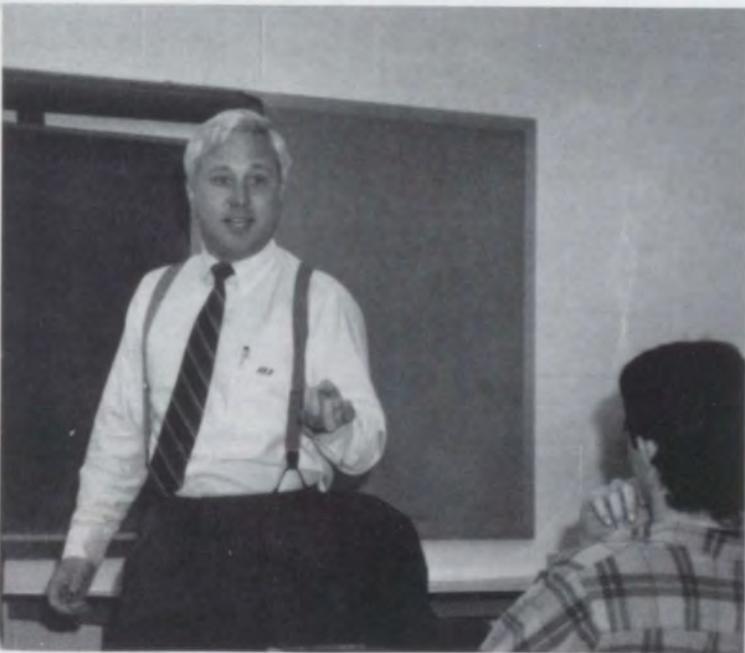

Mr. Dan Coffey of First National Bank sponsored a writing contest on a poem by Emily Dickinson and its application to Human Capital. Mr. Coffey was a guest speaker in British Literature.

Billie Joe Keller reads a piece of her own work to the students at St. Paul's during Mrs. Kramer's "Storytime."

On the last day of school Mrs. Buckman's English classes learned a new skill -- line dancing.

Jay Brewer, owner of WTCJ in Tell City, takes time out of his schedule to talk to the Mass Media class about advertising.

Foreign language anyone?

Davin Harpe dives to start the relay for the Spanish Club.

Tim Hess, Kelly Toothman, Adam Smith and Greg Jarboe test their luck in the Spanish Club's egg toss.

¿Como estan Uds? Are you wondering what was just said? — ask Mrs. Sanders. If you have problems with French or German then Mrs. Dowlut is the one you should seek. These two teachers headed the Foreign Language department with Spanish, French and German. Not only did students learn how to speak another language, they also got to experience the language through different activities during the year.

The French Club had several activities planned by Mrs. Dowlut. They performed community service by holding "story hour" at the public library on Monday and Tuesday evenings. On May 8th they hosted a French meal with entertainment at the Evangelical United Church of Christ fellowship hall. The French Club also took time out to entertain residents at Lincoln Hills Nursing Home by playing Bingo with them and giving fruit as prizes. At Christmas they went back and sang carols for the same people.

Meanwhile, the Spanish Club was not just sitting around counting beans. They were taking trips to Owensboro to go ice skating. They also had a Halloween costume party as well as a Christmas party with lots of Spanish/Mexican food. They also had a bowling tourney for the members of the Spanish Club. Several students held fund raisers for a trip to Mexico in the summer of 1993. The Spanish club also went to King's Island with the French Club.

Although these classes have fun within their own clubs there is also a rivalry between the two forces. They both agreed to a contest between their clubs. First there was a la Double Dare which included Trivia Pursuit with Physical Challenges. The French Club was dominant in that event. Then there was the swimming competition between the French and Spanish Clubs in the spring. The Spanish Club came out as el Sid (The Champion) in that contest. Last but not least, these two academic rivals collided in a basketball and volleyball competition. Once again, the French Club won. Although the French Club came out on top in the contests, they were both equally matched in hard work, enthusiasm, and drive in the classroom as well as the gym.

HOSA - A good place to begin in the health services feild

"What is HOSA?" That is a question that many people ask students who are enrolled in the class. Students tell others that is something worth while and that anyone interested in the health field should get into. "How do I get into HOSA?" a lot of people ask. Students tell them that it is really easy, just join the vocational class Health Occupations.

Health Occupations is a three hour vocational class in which people learn about all the opportunities in the health field. Students go from knowing very little about the health field to learning and being certified in first aid and CPR (coronary pulmonary resuscitation). Students also learn how to take TPRs (temperature, pulse, and respirations) and blood pressure readings. Students also work in the hospital.

"What does HOSA stand for?" Health Occupations Students of America. Tell City High School has two chapters. Each has their own officers but all events are done together. Some of the many events that were done include a Christmas float in the parade and a disaster drill.

The disaster drill is different each year. This year there was a chemical spill at the public pool. Students made bruises and blisters out of make up. The EMTs had to dress as if it were a real disaster. It is not a drill for HOSA but a drill for the EMTs and they do not know that it is a drill until they get there.

Students also went on a field trip to Davis County Hospital. They visited the respiratory therapy and maternity wards. They also went on a tour of Perry County Memorial Hospital.

HOSA also has State chapters. In the state election Lisa Goffinet was elected Vice President. She has monthly meetings which she attends in Indianapolis. She also gets to do a lot of public speaking. Lisa says that this is a good experience and will help her in college.

Health Occupations is a great class in which to get involved. Helping people and caring for them is something important and if you enjoy it, you should get into it to.

Home Economics

Home Economics classes such as Foods, Textiles, Family Management and Family Relations were taught to students by Mrs. Black. Foods 1 & 2 teaches students some of basic skills of cooking. Students also learn about the nutritional value of foods. One of the projects generated by the classes was making ginger bread houses around Christmas time.

Textiles teaches students some basic sewing skills and seam work. During the class students can make a shirt or skirt. Students also make a book which illustrates different types of seams.

Family Management and Family Relations deal with some of the problems a family must tackle over the years of being together. The classes also deals with different types of abuse ranging from mental to sexual abuse. Family Management teaches students how to make budget for the family.

Child Development teaches students about the actual birth of a child and every developmental stage up until about eight years old. Students visited day school and studied behaviors of young children.

Intensive Office Lab prepares for placement

Preparing for that State of Change when they get into the real world are the 19 girls who are enrolled in the Intensive Office Lab course offered by Tell City High School.

Intensive Office Lab, or IOL, is a senior level course designed to prepare students for entry level positions in the business world and provide the basic foundation necessary for further education. This class is lead by Mrs. Cheryl Farmer who teaches each of her students the importance in knowing what to expect when they go into the real world. In each class the students use the basic office equipment and learn to use a time clock. They receive a check for each day they are present and in some cases they receive pay deductions. There are two classes, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, which each meet for two hours a day.

In each class students work in two types of stations: functional stations and work stations. Students working in functional stations are in a supervisory capacity, and are responsible for seeing that the lab operates efficiently. These jobs included being an Office Manager, Assistant Office Manager, Supplies Clerk and Receptionist. The work stations may be based on actual businesses within the surrounding area or may be a purchased package. Hagedorn Law Office, Hollinden Real Estate and Citizen's National Bank are some of the area businesses. Students use word processing equipment to complete stations in the areas of insurance, real estate, accounting, banking, legal affairs and medical office. Each station is on a ten day rotation period, but each varies in the time it takes to complete depending on its length and the expertise of the student.

Each student enrolled in IOL is automatically in an organization called Business Professionals of America, or BPA. The classes elect five girls to serve as officers. They are: Jamie Quick, President; Shannon Clark, Vice President; Stephanie Hughes, Secretary; Carrie Taylor, Historian and Terri Alvey, Reporter. The officers receive mail correspondence from other officers around the state of Indiana. They have meetings to decide what, if any, fund raisers they would like to have, they decide where they will hold the annual IOL party and how the money in their account is spent.

The top BPA students compete in District Competition each January. Students from 27 Southwestern Indiana high schools attend this competition. Those who qualify then go on to State Competition in Indianapolis in March. The Western Hotel serves as headquarters for the state competition with most events being held at the convention center, the hotel, or local high schools.

The class also helps the Kiwanis Club in their efforts to help the needy families of Perry County. They put letters to the public in envelopes and seal them so they are ready to mail before the holiday season. The letters are asking the people of Perry County to donate money or food to give to the needy.

This class gives its students a sense of responsibility. It also gives them a chance to be themselves and they develop skills which will help them in their future careers. Before long all these girls will understand the meaning of a State of Change!

Life skills class builds bond between students and community

Life skills class is a fun class. The peer tutors help the students play on the computer, but playing games is not all the students do. The life skills students go out in the community and work. They get jobs and have to work like any nondisabled person does in the real world.

They also perform duties in the classroom. Some of the many chores they do are washing dishes, cooking, laundry, and studying their academics.

In studying their academics each person is different. Most of the students need work writing their names. However, others write their numbers or others work on telling time. They also work on counting their money that they get in their jobs. They use budgets to keep their money straight and they work on writing in the figures themselves.

Spelunking, dissecting and gathering are all part of science at TCHS

The Science Department at Tell City High School has much more to offer than just any old science class. TCHS offers Meteorology, Astronomy, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Physical Science and General Science. Some students may think that science is boring but the teachers try to find new ways to make it interesting.

Miss Deich tried to make science more interesting by starting the Science Club. This group took trips to Big Wyandotte Cave, The Museum of Science and Technology and to Blue River to go canoeing. The club held numerous fund raisers to take their trips.

Mrs. Thomas will be teaching an Advanced Placement Biology class in the 1993-94 school year. Students will receive college credit for this class if they receive a certain score on a test at the end of the course. Mrs. Thomas will take course this summer in order to prepare for this class.

Swimming, stretching and sportsmanship

Physical Education is a class where students learn the basics of playing different types of sports. Students learn how to play basketball, softball, volleyball, badminton, ping pong, archery and various others. Swimming is also an integral part of PE. Students swim two weeks out of every six weeks grading period. Every student is required to take and pass PE before graduation.

Miss Patterson and Mr. Page are the instructors. In PE students have to exercise, run laps and do sprints before he/she is allowed to play a game. In PE students are not concentrating on writing papers or studying for exams but are concentrating on their physical dexterity.

During the year there is a physical fitness test for which students can qualify and win a Presidential Award or Fitness Award.

Marksmen catch hearts and souls in pursuit of victorious season

The 1992 Marksmen Football team seemed unstoppable as they rolled over opponent after opponent. Perhaps they were unstoppable, in the community's heart. However, the Westfield Bulldogs ended that winning streak with a victory over the Marksmen 7-0 in the semi-state game.

The varsity team were the Big Eight, Sectional, and Regional champs. The Marksmen scored 342 points but were only scored on by 42 points. The Marksmen averaged 26.3 points a game and their opponents averaged only 3.2 points a game.

The Marksmen also set a new school record for winning 12 consecutive games in a season. Senior, Chris Spencer set six new individual school records; 1,938 net yards rushing in a season, 4,381 net yards rushing in a career, 4,667 total yards in a career, 7 touchdowns in a single game, 26 touchdowns in a season, and 58 touchdowns in a career.

The season may be over but the memories and the sounds of the victories will live on forever in the team's and the community's hearts.

A splashing success

The girls' swim team ended the season with a 7-4 record. Experience and hard work led the Marksmen to a 2nd place finish in the Big 8 and a 4th place in sectional. Coach, Mike Page stated that the season was fairly good and that it improved toward the end with many people showing more potential. The all-conference swimmers were Natalie Maddox, Mycal Mansfield, Missi Taylor and Tia Ferraro. They were named to the all-conference team because they won the 200 meter freestyle race at the Big 8 Conference meet.

Boys' Swimming makes a splash

Gliding through the water, breathing only when necessary -- that was the life for the boys of the Tell City High School swim team during the season. Whether swimming for joy or just the excitement of pure competition, a victory is still desired by the team and is good in the eyes of Coach Paige. The team had a long enduring season in order to stay in top physical condition. They had practice several times a week working on speed, flexibility and breathing exercises.

"The season didn't go as well as expected. After early disappointing matches I moved number one singles, Jeremy Papano, and number two singles, Chris Hendershot down to number one doubles. They finished the season strong with a 10-3 record before losing to Memorial in sectionals," was Coach Alvey's comment on the Boy's Tennis season. The team finished with a 1-14 record for the season. Senior Jeremy Papano said, "This was my best and most rewarding season of my four years. In order for the team to do better next year the players will have to start practicing all year round." With Chris Hendershot returning next year as a senior and some of the others taking lessons in the summer, many are optimistic about the 1993-94 season.

Successful season sparks hope

1992 was a year of success and improvement for the Tell City girls' golf team. For the first time in three years the squad finished above .500 for the season. Junior, Michelle King and sophomore, Missy Pund took on the role of team leaders according to coach, Jeff Wrye. Although the team placed fourth in the sectional, they only missed advancing to the regional by four strokes. Individually, Michelle King, however, did advance to the regional.

Coach, Jeff Wrye felt that the team played well against all of their opponents. Wrye is looking forward to an even better season in 1993. Most of this year's team will be returning in 1993, including MVP Michelle King.

After finishing the season with a 14-11 record and winning the Crawford County sectional, Marksmen basketball captivated the hearts of Tell City once again.

"Our goals at the beginning of the year was to have a winning season, win the Holiday tourney, and win the sectional. I was very pleased we achieved every goal," commented Coach Harpenau. The season started off very well compiling an 8-3 record including a 67-66 win against South Ridge on a last second free throw by Jeremy Temple to win the Holiday tourney. Then came a disappointing seven game losing streak that would be snapped by a 57-59 win over a highly ranked New Albany team. "I feel the win over New Albany gave us the momentum to win the sectional," Coach Harpenau said. After a 69-60 win over Cannelton and a 42-39 win over Crawford Co. Tell City was in the championship game of the sectional playing defending champ Corydon. It was an exciting game that had a dramatic finish. Trailing 52-50 with only 4 seconds remaining Tell City brought the ball up the court and Matt Mowery hit a three pointer at the buzzer to win the game. Tell City then advanced to the Washington regional. There, they defeated Washington Catholic before loosing in the championship game to Paoli. Senior captains were Matt Mowery, Matt Moore, Mark Lehmkuhler and Jeremy Temple.

Cheerleading squad second in the nation

In recent years cheerleading has become more than just leading cheers, it has become a sport that requires hard work and dedication. The hours these cheerleaders spend practicing at home and at school pay off for T.C.H.S.

This year Tell City placed second at the Nationals in Jacksonville, Florida. The cheerleaders lost first place only by one and a half points. However, they did receive first in 1991 and 1992. Ms. Michelle Ingram and Ms. Terry Greulich coach the cheerleaders.

The Individual National competitors for this year were Amy Walls, placed first and Molly Burnette for the varsity squad. For the JV squad Dawn Tempel, Danielle Hammock, Missy Pund, Amy Wagner and Amanda Held. The two freshmen were Elizabeth Carney and Aimee Byrd.

During the regular season, the squads practice twice a week for two hours. During competition time they practice three to four times a week and do aerobics twice a week.

In July of 1992 the cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleaders of America Camp. T.C.H.S. also hosted the Cheerleaders of America Regional Competition in November.

Arrowstars dance into action

The Tell City High School dance squad, better known as the Arrowstars, performed at seven of the ten home boys' basketball games. There is a lot of work involved in being an Arrowstar. The first to be done is to find a song to perform to and then the squad choreographs the dance steps to it. After writing the choreography the squad must rehearse the routine several times to perfect it. The squad's coach, Mrs. Donna Jennings said that they are planning to attend the regional competition providing that they can raise enough money for new uniforms.

Winter Guard brings new function to band department

Winter Guard. What is Winter Guard you ask—it is the latest addition to the band department. It is an opportunity for guard members to improve upon their skills and compete during the off season for band. Tell City has never had a Winter Guard before but the organized competitions have been around for several years.

The guard attended two contests—Jennings County and Northview. At Northview the guard doubled their previous score and finished 13th out of 16 guards.

Their musical selections included pieces from Darkman, Beetlejuice, and Nightbreed. All music was composed by Danny Elfman.

The guard's uniforms were non-traditional for winter guards. Choreographer, Dave Hebeisen wanted to have something different and have the audience and judges be mystified. All of the musical selections were very "dark" and the uniforms needed to fit the concept.

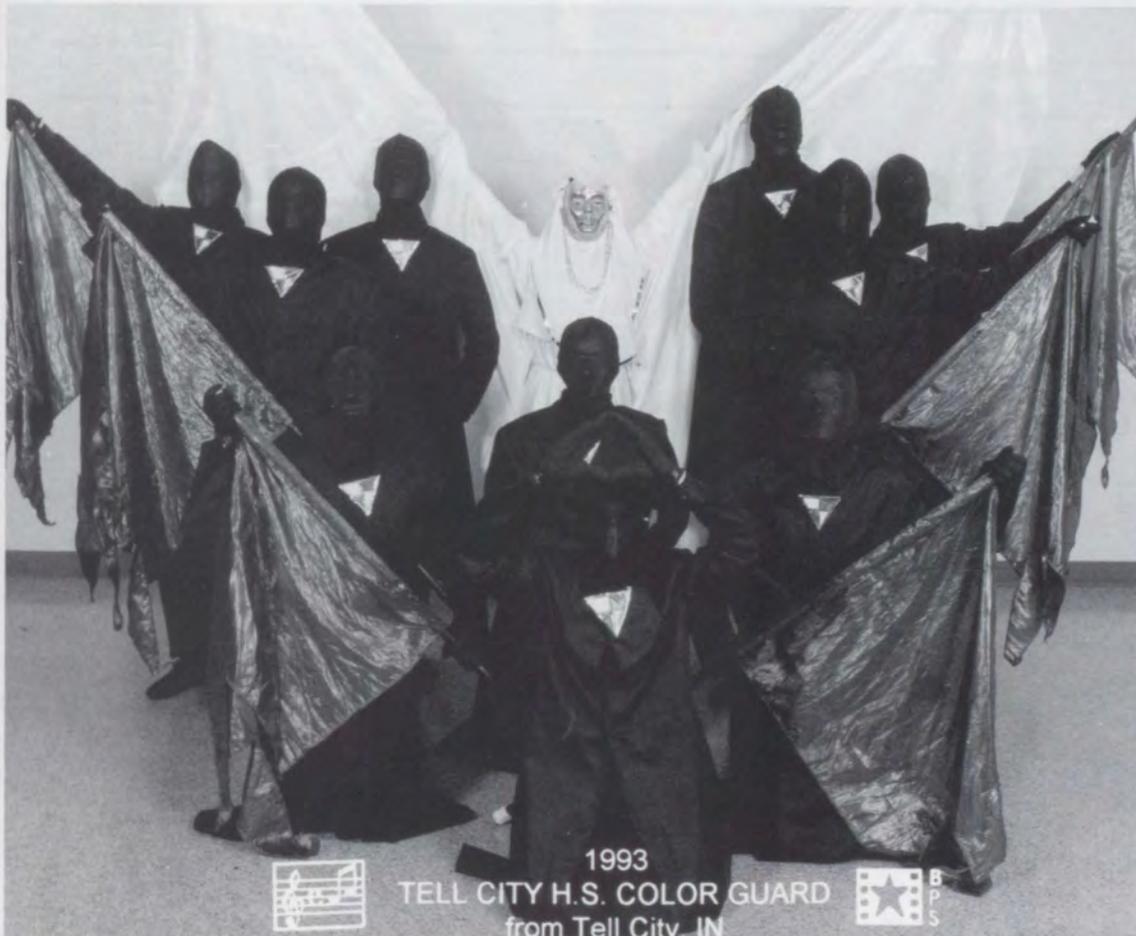

The guard enters the field for their final dress rehearsal before the Jennings County contest.

What Could Possibly Lie Beneath A 3500 Ton Rainbow Of Steel?

The St. Louis Gateway Arch reaches 630 feet into the Missouri air and 60 feet below ground into solid bedrock. Beneath this bold engineering achievement lies the world's most reliable sewer pipe, clay pipe.

Can-Clay Vitrified Clay Pipe is so reliable we guarantee it for one hundred years. It won't rust, rot, soften or disintegrate. And it resists sewer gases, acids, industrial wastes, solvents and corrosion better than PVC, concrete and ductile iron.

Can-Clay pipe can meet the infiltration or exfiltration requirements of any sewer system.

Because of its exceptional strength and rigidity, elongation or deflection due to creep or cold flow is never a problem. And it needs no protective lining. Add it all up and you have an exceptional pipe, inside and out.

Whether for replacement or new installation, specify clay pipe from Can-Clay. The world's most reliable sewer pipe. Meets ASTM specifications C-700 for extra strength pipe, and ASTM C-425 for factory-applied compression joint.

A State of Change - Closing

"A State of Change" ended on a positive note for Tell City High School. In fact, it ended one hour earlier than expected. Due to low attendance on the last day the administration decided to let everyone go home for summer vacation at the end of sixth hour.

Changes have continued to occur throughout the year. Mr. Larry Carlson accepted the position of superintendent at North Vermillion and the teachers are still without contracts.

Another change that occurred was the Marksmen boys' basketball team won the Crawford County Sectional by beating Corydon Central 53-52 in a last second three point shot by Matt Mowery. This victory ended the dry spell that had been endured since 1975. The Arrow's Point, T.C.H.S.'s newspaper was published on May 26. There had not been a newspaper for ten years at the high school.

In the words of William Shakespeare, "The rest is silence."
